NOCQUET'S AGONIES.

Aeronaut Is Lost in the Marshes.

When His Balloon Descends on Jones Island He Tries to Reach Mainland.

After Swimming Fifteen Creeks His Strength Fails and He Succumbs.

Noted in France as a Sculptor—Made Figure of the President.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch] By the finding of the body of Paul Nocquet on Cott Island, in Great South Bay, at 8 o'clock tonight, the mystery of the disappearance of the sculptor-aeronaut was solved.

His balloon had been found early in the morning on Jones Beach, a sand strip dividing the bay from the ocean, but until a bayman returning to Amityville and discovered the body lying face downward on a strip of salt grass stubble, half-way between the island and the mainland, no trace could be found of the aeronaut.

Nocquet had vainly tried for hours to make a landing after his anchor had been torn from his car. At last, driven toward the open sea by a cross current, he had managed to land just within the beach line of Jones Island.

DECEPTIVE LIGHTS.

Led on by the deceptive lights of Amityville to the north, which may have seemed less than a mile away, though the distance is four miles, he tried to reach the mainland by swimming from one to another of the hundreds of low islands which dot the bay at this point, and from an almost continuous route to the shore except for the intervening creeks.

After swimming fifteen creeks and crossing as many islands his strength became exhausted, and falling on his face when he had gained Cott Island, one of the largest of the group, he died where he fell.

An autopsy is expected to show that death was directly due to heart failure, brought on by the tremendous exertion of pulling himself through stretches of heavy mud and by the chill induced by the repeated immersions in the icy water.

AERO CLUB'S SEARCH.

The discovery of the body put an end to a search which had included ocean, land and marshes and which had been begun under the direction of Nocquet's associates of the Aero Club of New York as soon as word was received, early today, that the balloon had been found with no trace of its missing occupant.

That Nocquet traveled as far as he did is considered wonderful. He must have struggled the last mile of the two he traveled under fearful difficulties. He essayed a trip that few men could possibly complete in daylight. The valve controlling the ropes of the balloon, when found, indicated that the descent had been started by Nocquet's action, and that it must have been gradual.

HIS START INAUSPICIOUS.

When Nocquet started on his flight, yesterday afternoon, the wind was blowing out to sea. This meant that unless he should come down after being up but a short time, having started from the Bronx, he would surely be blown across Long Island and out over the ocean. A life preserver was strapped inside the basket.

The balloon in its flight passed over Jamaica, Garden City, Westbury, Jericho and Cold Springs Harbor; then darkness came and shut it from view.

What its course was after passing over Huntington at about 8:15 p.m., there is no means of knowing. Nothing further was heard of it until its discovery on Jones Beach was announced today. Capt. Austin of the Jones Beach life-saving station, who found the balloon, reported that it apparently had been dragged along some distance in the sand.

AERONAUT'S TRACKS.

Tracks about the balloon seemed to indicate that the aeronaut had survived his flight. This fact gave the searchers courage throughout the day, but Capt. George Smith of Amityville, who had joined in the search early in the day, located the body tonight on the muddy bank of Bass Creek, and made it fast to a stake. It will be taken to Amityville tomorrow, after having been viewed by the Coroner.

HIS CAREER.

Paul Nocquet has made many daringly successful attempts at aerial navigation. It is not as an aeronaut alone that he has attained distinction, however. He is almost equally well-known as an author, sculptor and artist. Wide attention recently was attracted to his work as a sculptor by a bronze figure of President Roosevelt, entitled "A Presidential Vacation." This figure represents the President dragging a bear by the ear, while in his right hand he holds aloft a cub. Comment upon the figure was diversified, but the efforts of the artist pleased the President, who sent him a complimentary letter.

Nocquet was born in Brussels in 1877, and at the age of 14 studied painting under Jean Portaels. Soon afterward he turned to sculpture, and at the age of 20 won the grand prize of Belgium, which gave him a three-years' fellowship in Paris. In Paris, he also became interested in aeronautics, and before he came to this country, had come to be considered one of the most daring members of the Aero Club of France. Two years ago, he planned to attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon, but was deterred by friends.

Among Nocquet's well known works in sculpture are "Effort" and "Football Players," which have been presented to Columbia University. He was awarded third prize for a bronze door for the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

DEPEW GETS OUT OF YALE WORLD.

DECLINES TO STAND FOR RE-ELECTION TO CORPORATION.

Senator's Physical Condition Such as to Preclude His Return to Washington During Present Session of Congress—Absolute Rest Only Cure for Nervous Break-down.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW HAVEN, April 4.—The declination of Senator Chauncey M. Depew to stand for re-election to the Yale Corporation was announced today from the office of the secretary of the university.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Tribune today says that Senator Depew, who left Washington a month ago on the advice of his physician, will not, in all probability, resume his seat in the Senate during the present session.

Since he returned from the capital the Senator has been in retirement in Westchester county. Both the Senator's physician and a member of his family say they are taking the utmost precaution in withholding information as to his exact whereabouts is to afford him the privacy without which absolute rest would be impossible.

With the Senator are his son, C. M. Depew, Jr., and his niece, Miss Anna Depew Paulding. Besides taking automobile trips over the Westchester roads when the weather permits, Senator Depew gives some time to such matters of business as are taken to him by his nephew, Charles C. Paulding.

"It was confidently expected when the Senator returned from Washington a month ago," said a member of his family yesterday, "that, after a rest of a couple of weeks, he would be able to return to his duties at the capital, but he has not mended, as we had hoped. He certainly seems to have benefited from the rest he has taken.

INTERESTED IN RATE BILL.

"If governed by his own inclinations he would undoubtedly go back to the capital, as he is deeply interested in the subject of railroad rate legislation now under discussion."

The following statement of Senator Depew's condition is taken from a communication addressed to a member of the Senator's family by Dr. Pierce Bailey of this city:

"Senator Depew has been under my care since last autumn. He is suffering from a nervous breakdown, the result of prolonged strain. I now expect him to make good recovery and resume his Senatorial duties. To obtain such a result, a complete rest of several months is imperative."

Dr. Bailey yesterday confirmed the foregoing and added that the period of rest prescribed would preclude the return of the Senator to Washington before the end of the present session.

Concerning the report that the Senator would shortly leave for Europe, Mr. Paulding said yesterday that no plans in that direction had as yet been made by the Senator.

CALLS IT BLACKMAIL.

Adrian C. Honore Sued for Breach-of-Promise by Virginia Rowdon of Chicago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Society was deeply stirred, late this evening, by the filing of a breach-of-promise suit by Virginia Rowdon against Adrian C. Honore for $50,000 damages. The attorneys dropped out of sight immediately after the suit had been filed, and no information was forthcoming.

Adrian C. Honore is the rich, influential brother of Mrs. Potter Palmer, who, before her marriage, was Miss Bertha Honore. When told of the suit, Honore said: "I do not care to discuss the matter. There is absolutely no basis for the suit. A number of lawyers have approached me with this alleged claim, and have sought money from me and have abandoned the matter. Now a lawyer has been found to begin suit. It is an outrageous attempt at blackmail."

VICTORY IS UNDOING.

Paradox in Russian Elections Seen.

Believed That Radicals' Triumph Will Provoke to Further Repression.

The Constitutional Democrats Carry Country as They Did Capital Monday.

Parliament May Be Prorogued if Majority Is of Their Party.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4.—The victory of the Constitutional Democrats in the St. Petersburg municipal elections has caused intense jubilation in the radical press. The total number of votes was 68,558. Forty-six per cent. of the voters, principally Social Democrats, abstained from casting their ballots.

As a joke, some of the Social Democrats voted for well-known leaders who are in prison or for Bebel, the German Socialist leader; Jaures, the leader of the French Socialists, or for other foreign Socialist leaders.

MAY ADD FUEL TO FLAME.

The victory of the Constitutional Democrats here was reflected by depression on the Bourse today, where it was feared that there will be a radical majority in the lower house of Parliament, which would drive the government to extreme measures and probably to the immediate prorogation of Parliament. This, instead of restoring confidence, would arouse the ire of the country and make the general situation worse.

Many radicals believe that the triumph of the Constitutional Democrats will be followed by increased repressions, especially against the press. Practically all the satirical weeklies have been suppressed already and three radical daily papers have suspended during the past three days.

COUNTRY FOLLOWS CAPITAL.

The success of the Constitutional Democrats in St. Petersburg Monday was reflected today in the results of elections in all parts of the empire, where the voting is now in full swing. Almost without exception, the balloting has been favorable to the constitutional demands, not only in their city strongholds but also in the country, where the peasants in a number of instances turned down their leaders and elected avowed Constitutional Democrats.

At Kieff, the Progressives swept the board, and Prince Eugene Troubetskoy was successful, insuring his presence in the national parliament. At Moghileff, which is a Jewish locality, even the land owners returned a solid Constitutional Democratic delegation.

Gen. Mistchenko, after a long period of service with the army in the Far East, has departed for St. Petersburg. His latest service was in crushing the revolutionary movement along the Trans-Siberian Railway east of Harbin.

FRANCE AGAIN TO GRANT LOAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, April 4.—Negotiations for the new Russian loan are proceeding rapidly here. Although the issue is a month off, speculators on the Bourse are already interesting themselves in it, dealers are offering it at a premium of 3¾, the indications being that the government will make exceptionally advantageous terms for the purpose of securing a notable financial success and restoring Russian finances to their former high level.

DEATH OF E. C. SWIFT.

Member of the Big Chicago Firm of Packers Succumbs at Boston to Pneumonia.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, April 5.—E. C. Swift of Chicago, a member of the packing firm of Swift & Co., died early today, at the Quincy House, where he engaged rooms about two weeks ago. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Swift was taken ill with pneumonia March 27. He grew rapidly worse and his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Moore of Chicago, was summoned. His three children also were called from Chicago and watched by the sick man's bedside, until he died shortly after midnight.

The crisis from the disease was reached yesterday and alarming symptoms made their appearance. He became unconscious, and remained in that condition until the end.

Swift's widow was traveling in Europe when her husband was stricken, and it is thought that she is now on her way to America. Swift was a native of Sandwich, this State. He left home when but a boy and with his brother, Gustavus, did much to develop the packing industry, one of the prominent features of his work being the perfecting of the system of refrigerator cars.

DUNNE NOT FINISHED.

Chicago's Mayor Says City Will Operate Its Street Car Lines in Two Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before leaving today for Washington, Mayor Dunne fixed the time limit in which Chicago may expect municipal ownership and operation of the street railways at two years.

The Mayor is not discouraged today because the voters failed to authorize immediate traction operation. He will proceed at once to test the worth of the $75,000,000 Mueller certificates in the courts. Their validity settled, the acquirement of the traction lines and equipment will follow. Mayor Dunne says the people will have another opportunity to vote on the question of operation.

An important conference will be held Saturday, when the Mayor will return from the East. It is believed the plan of the city will be to acquire and rehabilitate the traction lines and secure their operation under contract or lease until such time as municipal operation is authorized.

BULLET KILLS J. BURDETTE.

MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY YESTERDAY IN EUFALA, I. T.

President of the First National and Owner of the Largest Department Store Found Dead on Back Porch of His Home—Had Been Re-elected to City Council.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTH M'ALESTER (I. T.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. Burdette, president of the First National Bank of Eufala, I. T., and owner of the largest department store there, was found dead on the back porch of his home, at an early hour this morning, with a bullet through his brain.

Yesterday, he made the race for reelection to the City Council, and was successful. After the vote was announced, he went home, and about 10 o'clock stepped out on the porch, when he was killed.

Bloodhounds have been sent for to trail the assassin. Burdette's store has twice been destroyed by fire. A few days ago, he confided to a business associate his fear of assassination, as his life had been threatened. None of his household was in the city when the killing occurred.

It is not believed that any ill-feeling was engendered during the election, but that the assassination was the result of enmity gained years ago through business transactions.

Burdette was one of the best-known men in Indian Territory, and was considered wealthy. When last seen alive, he was in the best of spirits. His friends insist that it could not be a case of suicide. No weapon was found about the premises.

It was stated here today that Burdette carried life insurance policies aggregating a quarter of a million dollars.

STEER-ROPER CLARK KILLED.

DENVER, April 4.—A Republican special from Cheyenne, Wyo., says that Duncan Clarke, for years holder of the title of champion steer roper of the world, was accidentally killed today while hunting with two friends. The three were crawling along the ground toward a herd of antelope when a gun carried by the man immediately behind Clarke was discharged. The charge entered Clarke's body, causing instant death. Clarke was also famous as a bronco buster, and participated in all the frontier-day contests in Cheyenne.

DIAZ A SPECTATOR AT A GREAT FIRE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Almacenes de la Valenciana, a great retail dry goods establishment, was destroyed by fire late this afternoon. The building and contents are a total loss.

It was the greatest fire that Mexico has known since the same store was burned September 27, 1900. The building was situated on the Portal de las Flores, on the south side of the Zocalo, and was separated from the historic Municipal Palace by one building.

President Diaz watched the progress of the fire from the balcony of the National Palace.

The store was owned by Sebastian Robedes & Co. and the building by Señor Juan A. Beistegui, a well-known Mexican gentleman residing in Paris. The aggregate loss is between $600,000 and $700,000, and the insurance nearly half a million. These figures are about the same as for the previous fire.

DARRACQ CARS PROTESTED.

French Racers Carry no Differential in the Ormond-Daytona Meet and the A.C.G.B.I. Objects.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the new racing board of the American Automobile Association holds its initial meeting in this city tomorrow it will consider a protest filed by the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland against allowing the records and wins of a French car during the last speed tournament on the beach at Ormonde, Fla. The request is made that all the victories and records established by the Darracq cars in the Florida races be annulled, and that in such events as the English Napier car finished second to the Darracq the prizes be awarded the Napier.

Attention is called to a condition of the American Automobile Association, which stipulates that every machine competing under its rules must be equipped with a differential gear or its equivalent. Two of the Darracq cars at Florida admitted they were not equipped with differential.

"COUNT" WARD COMES OVER.

PROMINENT FIGURE IN "TOWN TOPICS" LIBEL CASE.

On Arriving from England He Declares a Readiness to Go into Court and Tell What He Knows of Col. Mann—Does Not Intend to Sue Anybody or Any Publication.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Count" Reginald Henshaw Ward, whose name figured prominently in the Town Topics libel case, in connection with "Rico" stock, arrived today on the steamship Carmania of the Cunard Line from England, and announced that he was ready to go into court, if called upon, and tell all he knew about Col. Mann and the various communications that passed between the Colonel and himself.

The "Count," however, was careful to disclaim animus against Mann, and asserted that his coming over was inspired by no desire to "wreak vengeance" upon any one. According to the passenger list, "Count" Ward is Consul-General for Roumania in London.

"I have come over to look after some mining interests in Utah," he said. "I expect to be here a few days; then go to Boston for a day or two, and may get down to Mexico before I go back in May.

"Yes, it is true that I stand ready to go on the witness stand and tell about my relations with Col. Mann," said the "Count." "I may say, however, that I shall not be a complaining witness, and I have no intention of bringing any suit against anybody or any publication."

"Mr. Ward is here, in other words, to show himself and to prove that there is no reason why he should not testify in court if he so desires," explained Walter C. Shoup, his lawyer.

CHINA HOLDING RUSSIA OFF.

NEGOTIATIONS REGARDING MANCHURIA DRAG.

Bone of Contention Believed Mining and Other Concessions Which Tartar General Gave, It Is Claimed, Without Sanction of Peking—Permission to Construct Railroad Reported Granted.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, April 4.—The Russo-Chino negotiations appear to have reached a deadlock. At any rate, they are dragging along slowly. Pokotiloff, Russian Minister to China, and Tong, the Chinese commissioner appointed to negotiate an agreement with Russia regarding Northern Manchuria, have conferred only two or three times during the past month.

Russia has the upper hand because she holds nearly all the provisions she contends for, while demanding that China officially grant them. The Chinese, on the contrary, are also determined to withstand all foreign encroachments. Both parties to the conference are trying to keep the details as secret as was the case with the Chinese-Japanese treaty.

One bone of contention is believed to be the mining and other concessions, which the Tartar generals in Manchuria gave to Russian corporations and which Russia wants the Chinese government to ratify. The Chinese, however, insist that their government never sanctioned these concessions and that, therefore, they are invalid.

PERMITTED TO BUILD ROAD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VLADIVOSTOK, April 4.—It is reported that the Governor of Tsitsikhar has received from the Chinese government permission to construct a railroad from Tsitsikhar southward to Onghin, whence it is but a short distance to Sinmintin. The government is seeking to interest Chinese capital in the enterprise.

GUGGENHEIMER'S ATTORNEY.

BOSTON, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John N. Steele, recently senior member of the law firm of Steele & Semms of Baltimore, has been appointed general counsel of the various smelting and mining companies and interests in which Daniel Guggenheimer of the firm of M. Guggenheimer Sons are dominant factors.

SCANDAL IN OHIO.

John O'Dea in the Police Court.

Nephew of Ex-President of Buckeye Pipe Line Company Wrecks Family.

Wife Secures Divorce and He Is Arrested in Company With a Stenographer.

His Creditors Are Reported in Search of Him on Charge of Fraud.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO (O.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John O'Dea, nephew of Daniel J. O'Dea, former president of the Buckeye Pipe Line Company and member of the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company, is the central figure in one of the biggest scandals that Findlay has known in years. Young O'Dea was arrested this morning in company with Cleo Sheldon, a stenographer employed in the C. F. Jackson Company department store, in one of the worst resorts in Findlay. After being taken to the police station he was arraigned and convicted of adultery, being fined $15. Miss Sheldon was fined $10.

It is asserted tonight that another warrant has been issued for O'Dea by his creditors, who claim he is trying to defraud them by leaving the city. As yet he has not been arrested the second time. Neither can he or the woman be found.

Young O'Dea is married, and has a baby but three months old. He lived with his wife and family on Elm street in a palatial residence but recently built. In the past he was considerable of a high liver and his uncle has helped him out of several tight scrapes. He has in his own right $50,000 worth of Standard Oil stock, but it is alleged that owing to his proclivities for women and drink he has never been able to hold much of a position in the company. Of late, he apparently straightened up and became one of the factors of Findlay society, but about a week ago he got on another tear and his wife declared he behaved in such a manner that she petitioned for legal separation, which was granted. The reason of his arrest, it is said, was to secure part of his wealth for his wife and child.

After he was locked up this morning, O'Dea assigned over to his wife, through her attorney, John Sheridan, $13,000 worth of Standard stock. The police have been hunting for him for several days.

The girl who was convicted is a beautiful young woman, who has always been free from reproach previous to this escapade. Her parents are country people, and she came to Findlay but a short time ago to study stenography in Findlay College. Mrs. O'Dea was formerly a prominent society girl in Oil City, Pa.

WOMEN RUTHLESSLY OUTRAGED.

Russian Government Asked to Investigate Conduct of Its Soldiers Sent to "Pacify" Georgia.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST PETERSBURG, April 4.—Gen. Staroselsky, former Governor of Kutais, Trans-Caucasia, who was dismissed from the service for sympathy with the revolutionists, has followed up the appeal of Bolkovadze, a prominent Georgian writer, to Russian women in behalf of the women of his own race, who, he says, are being ruthlessly outraged by brutal soldiers, with an open demand that the authorities investigate and prosecute Gen. Alikhanoff, commander of the Russian forces in Trans-Caucasia, whose barbarous "pacification" of Kutais, Gen. Staroselsky says, met in fire, murder and violation.

In view of the agreement on Moroccan reforms reached at Algeciras March 31, Russia has opened negotiations for a foreign loan of at least $200,000,000, and desires more if possible.

PETITION FOR OLE FINSTAD.

EL PASO (Tex.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ole Finstad of Los Angeles, in jail at Chihuahua convicted of complicity in the Diaz ranch tragedy, has received word that a memorial has been sent to Washington, signed by practically all residents in and near Dawson, Yukon Territory. Finstad was one of the first to go to Dawson and his cabin was the first in that Klondike camp. His old acquaintances are united in petitioning the Secretary of State to use his good offices in Finstad's behalf.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES SCHARRER.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Lieut. Edward Scharrer of the German army, with his bride, formerly Miss Wilhelmina Busch of St. Louis, were presented to the President, today, by Representative Bartholdt. The Scharrers are on their way to Stuttgart. Later in the day they were guests in the Speaker's gallery of the House. Lieut. Scharrer, it is understood, will not resume his commission in the army of Emperor William.

FORCING MEN OUT OF WORK.

Italians and Slavs Picketing Near Wilkesbarre.

Miners Show Disposition to Modify Demands.

The President Declines to Intervene at Present.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Determined to make every one obey the suspension order at the anthracite mines, crowds of Italians and Slavs guarded the roads leading to a number of collieries near here, this morning, and a number of Italians from the little Boston settlement drove away a force of workers at a pumping station near the Fernwood colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company.

The arrival of a squad of State mounted police caused these men to retire, and work was resumed under guard. The coal company is preparing to station armed guards at pumping stations, and other exposed portions of the collieries subject to attack.

Drivers at Scott Haven and Ayres Hollow mines on the Yough River yesterday made demand for an eight-hour day, throwing out 500 men. The demand was refused, and this morning all returned to work.

ALL-NIGHT FIRING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

IRWIN (Pa.) April 4.—Last night was one of disorder and terror at Edna mine No. 2 of the Penn Gas Coal Company, where several hundred men are on strike for recognition of the union. The strikers all seemed to be armed, and from dark until daylight a continuous fusillade of firing was kept up. Fortunately, no one was injured. The company, it is said, will put twenty-five more guards on duty at once.

It is considered unsafe to introduce strike breakers, and serious trouble is feared if an attempt is made to do so.

COLUMBUS (O.) April 4.—John H. Winder, president of the Ohio miners' organization, gave out part of a letter he has received from the President at Charleston, W. Va., in which the President answers the request for a commission to be appointed by him to settle the miners' strike. The President said:

"To appoint a commission to meet with the miners and operators as you request would necessitate action on the part of Congress. As yet, I am not prepared to say what action I personally will or can take in the matter."

NO INTERVENTION NOW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—It is stated at the White House that the President has made a reply to the telegram received from the coal operators, and that, while the text will not be made public, there is authority for the statement that the President has decided not to interfere as long as conditions remain as they now are.

SHAMOKIN SCALE COMMITTEE.

STILL AT ITS LABORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Shamokin Scale Committee of the anthracite miners, to which has been intrusted the task of endeavoring to reach a wage agreement with the mine owners, went into session at 9:30 o'clock this morning at their headquarters in the Ashland House to discuss what their next move shall be. The instructions of this body call for an agreement with the anthracite operators, subject to the ratification of a convention to be called by the officers of the union, and in case they fail to arrive at an understanding, the committee must report such failure to the convention.

All the demands have been refused by the operators, and the question to be decided now by the committee is whether their propositions should be modified, or whether delegates representing all the hard-coal mine workers should be summoned into convention at once to decide what further action should be taken.

STATEMENT FROM MITCHELL.

Mitchell held a conference with J. L. Marston of the Texas and Pacific Coal Company, but neither would state whether an agreement was reached. After the adjournment of the Shamokin Scale Committee, Mitchell gave out the following statement:

"The committee appointed by the Shamokin convention met at the Ashland House, today, and had under consideration the communication from the Governor of Pennsylvania and the offer of the anthracite coal operators to renew and continue for three years the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission.

"It was decided that the matter of further negotiations and the propositions of the anthracite miners be submitted to the sub-committee appointed by the general committee, and that a further meeting of the general committee be held tomorrow at 9 a.m. The sub-committee is now in session."

The sub-committee remained in session only a few minutes.

A drop of 50 cents a ton in the f.o.b. price of soft coal occurred in New York City today, due, it is said, to the improvement in the bituminous strike situation and the releasing of coal now in storage.

PITTSBURGH MINES OPEN.

INDEPENDENTS' STILL CLOSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) April 4.—More mines were in operation in the Pittsburgh district today than yesterday, but at noon there was a full complement of miners. The Pittsburgh Coal Company reported forty-three railroad mines running and eleven idle. No work is being done at any of the independent mines, and the operators say they have been closed down indefinitely.

When the question of continuing work under the new agreement was brought before the miners' convention, today, the delegates went on record as favoring the 1903 scale as signed by the Pittsburgh Coal Company and a number of other coal companies in this district. The Pittsburgh and Southwestern Coal Company added its signature to the scale this afternoon.

MINE OWNERS OF IOWA.

DO NOT GRANT DEMANDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) April 4.—After a two hours' session today the mine owners were again unable to agree upon the acceptance of the 1903 scale proffered by the mine owners. Pending a further conference of operators, the joint meeting was postponed until Thursday.

The Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad and the Iowa Central today announced the annulment of six passenger trains for Sunday because of coal shortage, due to the coal strike.

ILLINOIS ARBITRATION.

MINERS WILLING TO ACCEPT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) April 4.—The State Board of Arbitratoin today offered its services to the coal operators and miners of Illinois. The board submitted two propositions: One, that the operators and miners hold a conference in the presence of the State Board of Arbitration and endeavor to settle differences; the other, that both sides submit the matter to the State Board of Arbitration to adjudicate the differences.

President Perry of the miners stated to the Associated Press that the miners were willing to accept.

OPERATORS MUST DISCUSS IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, April 4.—Secretary Bent of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, when informed of the offer of the State Board of Arbitration and of the reply of President Perry, said: "This is a matter that must be settled by a general meeting and I presume that it will be discussed when the organization meets in St. Louis on Wednesday of next week."

ANTHRACITE MINERS WEAKEN.

WILL MODIFY DEMANDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SCRANTON (Pa.) April 4.—Word from a reliable source was received here from New York that the anthracite miners, convinced of the unbending attitude of the operators, will tomorrow present a modified set of demands, calculated to impress the operators with the conciliatory attitude of the miners. Should these demands be rejected, the miners, it is said, will seek to have the trouble adjusted by the Board of Arbitrators.

STEEL TRUST BRANCH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WHEELING (W. Va.) April 4.—The management of the American Sheet Steel and Tin Plate Company, operating a number of mines in this State for its own use, has requested a conference with the miners' scale committee, indicating a desire to adjust all differences and resume work at the mines. The American Company is a subsidiary organization of the United States Steel Corporation, and it is understood this plan will be followed wherever the corporation mines are effected.

SIX INDIANA MINES RESUME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

INDIANAPOLIS, April 4.—Six coal mines in the Evansville district resumed operations today.

NEW TARIFF ON COAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOSTON, April 4.—A new freight tariff on coal which provides a reduction of 10 cents a ton, and which took effect April 1, is made public by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad today. It was stated at the office of the railroad in this city that the reduction was made possible by a decrease in the cost of handling coal in transit and improved facilities at tidewater points.

READY TO COMPROMISE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—It was the general belief, tonight, of those who are closely watching the situation about the anthracite miners' headquarters in this city that if the operators will meet the men halfway on some of the demands they have made, such as the reconstruction of the Conciliation Board, an eight-hour day and an increase in pay for some classes of labor, the miners would seriously consider the proposition of renewing the Conciliation Board's award for more than one year. The miners have asserted that they would not bind themselves for an agreement for three years.

Mitchell is devoting almost as much time to the situation in the bituminous fields as he is to the hard-coal regions. He is hourly in receipt of telegrams from his lieutenants and from coal operators in the West.

GUARDS SHOOT TWO STRIKERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

JOHNSTOWN, April 4.—Two striking members at the Berwind-White works, near Winter, were shot by guards. They were not seriously hurt. The situation has grown so serious here that national officers of the mine workers have been appealed to come and assist in attempts at a settlement. It was stated tonight that coal was being shipped, although in reduced quantities.

SOFT COAL SITUATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, April 4.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Pittsburgh Coal Company has signed the scale demanded by the miners and the announcement that the men would return to work at once, not more than half of that company's operations are under way. This, it was said tonight, is due to conflicting orders that had been sent out by the contesting officers of the local district, in which there has been a factional fight. Patrick Dolan, who is one of the contesting officers of the local district, and who was charged with holding back the miners from returning to work, made a statement tonight, in which he denies that he sent any orders restraining the miners, and advising them to return to work at once.

PREDICTS AN END.

A further development appeared tonight in the statement of an independent operator who has been present at the meetings and was one of the charter members of the organization formed last night. He said: "It will be all over in a week. If the Pittsburgh Coal Company gets all their men back to work by next week, there will be nothing left for the independents to do but sign the scale."

ANTHRACITE SITUATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—In anticipation that a satisfactory arrangement will be made by the operators and miners' representatives when they again meet in conference in New York, hope prevails throughout the anthracite region. Unlike the conditions of 1900 and 1902, when both strikes were preceded by pronounced agitation, the mine workers appear to believe that when the conferees finish their deliberations, they will have adopted a plan which, if it does not comply with all the demands of the mine workers, will at least grant concessions resulting in a resumption of mining operations. The feeling is due in part to the reported conciliatory attitude of both parties to the conference and also to the reassuring statements made by the returned delegates to the Indianapolis convention.

STILL THEY PICKET.

While hopeful of peace, however, the miners are preparing for war, as is evidenced by the fact that the picketing has become general throughout the region. In many cases men on their way to the mines were stopped by these pickets, today, and compelled to prove that they were exempted in President Mitchell's order suspending work.

SHOOTING AT MOOSIC.

STRIKER WOUNDS ENGINEER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SCRANTON (Pa.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first bloodshed of the anthracite strike of 1906 occurred at Moosic, where John Shepherd, the civil engineer at the consolidated colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, an Erie working, was shot in the hip by Anthony Coplosk, a striking miner.

There is a stockade about the breaker, and guards are patroling inside. Coplosk had some words with one of the guards, and Silas Randall, son of the outside foreman, came toward the striker. Coplosk drew a revolver and fired at Randall. The bullet struck Shepherd, who was standing by. Coplosk escaped.

OPERATOR'S SON ASSAULTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POTTSVILLE (Pa.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert Penman, aged 18 years, son of Charles Penman, operator of a small non-union mine at Mechanicsville, near here, who was acting in the capacity of watchman, was found unconscious in the engine-room with a fractured skull, yesterday. A piece of pipe and a hatchet found upon the floor showed the weapons used in the assault.

Before Storm Broge Over Papeete Water Rose Steadily to Twenty Feet Above Normal and Soon Was Wrecking Buildings — Body of Woman Found in Top of Palm.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONOLULU, April 4.—The steamer Moana, which arrived here today, reports that 121 persons were drowned during the hurricane which recently swept over Tahiti and the neighboring islands. Of these victims, one perished on Tahiti, ninety-one natives and four whites on the Paumotus and twenty-four natives and one white on the other island.

Before the windstorm broke over Papeete, the water rose steadily, after a high tide, to twenty feet above the normal mark, and by 11 o'clock on the night of February 7 it was wrecking wooden buildings and splashing between the American and the British consulates. At first, no alarm was felt, but the continuation of the rise occasioned a panic. The wind blew in brief hurricane blasts every few minutes, tearing up trees and sending roofs flying through the air.

White signals for assistance were seen in Papeete from Lebiloc, a white resident of Motuta Island, but it was impossible to render any help until morning, when the floating body of his wife was rescued from the top of a cocoanut palm.

Fears are entertained for the safety of the schooner Eimeo, with seven persons on board. The Emily Reed, which arrived from Auckland February 12, during the storm, jettisoned 150,000 feet of lumber.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—United States Senator James B. Fraser of Tennessee, in the course of a speech at the annual dinner of the Tennessee Society of New York, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, last night, said: "If the South wants to nominate a Southern man for the Presidency we have a perfect right to do so and if we do we should not lose a single vote because he comes from the South.

"There is no new South," continued the speaker. "It is the same old South. We are all true Americans and have the love of constitutional liber—"

SHAPING THE POLICY OF THE REPUBLICS.

Programme for Pan-American Conference Approved at a Meeting of Ambassadors and Ministers With Secretary Root at Washington.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The programme of subjects to be considered by the Pan-American conference which meets at Rio de Janeiro in July was unanimously approved by the Bureau of American Republics today. This programme was prepared by a committee, of which Secretary Root is chairman, and includes the ambassadors from Brazil and Mexico and the ministers from Costa Rica, Chile, Cuba and the Argentine Republic.

ADHERE TO ARBITRATION.

Probably the most interesting of the subjects are embraced in resolutions affirming the adherence of the American republics to the principle of arbitration for the settlement of disputes arising between them, with an expression of the hope that the coming Hague conference will agree upon a general arbitration convention; also a recommendation that The Hague conference be asked to consider the extent to which the use of force for the collection of public debts is admissible.

THE DRAGO DOCTRINE.

Incidental to this will be the discussion of the so-called Drago doctrine, which is opposed to the forcible collection of debts of one nation by another, a doctrine long adhered to by the United States.

Other matters on the programme are those of a reorganization of the International Bureau of American Republics; the codification of public and private international laws; naturalization; development of commercial intercourse; custom and consular laws; patents and trade marks; sanitary, police and quarantine regulations, the Pan-American Railway, practice of the learned professions and future conferences.

The topics to be considered at the conference are set out under fourteen general heads, some of which, in part, at least, have been discussed at the two previous Pan-American conferences.

ROOT ACCEPTS INVITATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Secretary Root has decided to accept the invitations given him by the resident diplomatic representatives of South American countries to extend his projected trip to Rio de Janeiro so as to circumnavigate South America and visit Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Santiago de Chile and Lima.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

CHICAGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Advancing spring temperatures received a slight check, early today, when the wind changed from south to northwest. The maximum of 60 degs. was recorded soon after midnight, and thereafter there was a gradual falling away to the minimum of 40 degs., late in the afternoon. The sun tried vainly to penetrate clouds and haze, and the atmospheric dampness equaled 94 degs. Middle West temperatures:

ELKERENKOTTER ON STAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

REDWOOD CITY, April 4.—The investigation of Albert Elkerenkotter, superintendent of the County Poor Farm, upon charges embodied in the report of the grand jury, by the board of Supervisors, was held yesterday. No one appeared before the supervisors to father the charges. Coroman Knight was subpoenaed.

District-Atty. Bullock refused to proceed with the investigation, claiming that his duty lay simply in acting as legal adviser to the board upon any questions of law which might arise. Coroman Knight and Secretary Brown of the grand jury were put upon the stand but refused to testify, declaring that the law would not permit their testifying what occurred in the jury room and that the report was there to speak for itself.

District-Atty. Bullock then stated that a number of persons had been subpoenaed, and were present to testify to the alleged offenses not covered by the report of the grand jury, but that Ross objected. He said his witnesses had come there prepared to refute the charges made against him and that he was prepared to go on with the investigation.

Elkerenkotter was placed on the stand and explained the alleged discrepancies with the exception of a few errors in his books, which he admitted while on the stand. Ross claims errors in the report of the jury greatly in excess of those admitted by the accused.

Clerks from the County Treasurer's office and Auditor's books and compared the report of the grand jury and showed that in 1905 Elkerenkotter conducted the County Farm in a more economical manner than in 1904, for which he was praised by the board for that year's conduct of affairs. Produce from the farm alleged to have been sold and not accounted for was shown by the treasurer's report to have been accounted for and taken back.

The supervisors took the matter under advisement.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, April 4.—Two days' conference between representing the Consolidated and Amalgamated Street and Electric Employes of America has been reached which makes concessions to the threatened strike.

At 3 o'clock members of the conference signed the agreement proposed by the union.

The agreement, which is to be in force from January 1 of each year, is a scale of wages for motormen and gatemen, which is to be in force until January 1 of all, there are fifteen clauses to the agreement, but the recognition of the union is the most important one.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Ordinary Revenues Exceed Budget Twenty-three [illegible]

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Senator Frye, the Russian Ambassador, has received a dispatch today from the Czar announcing that the latter has signed the ukase of the empire for the relief of the famine sufferers, including the remission of taxes amounting to $50,000,000, over $5,000,000 of which is income from the sale of vodka.

The ordinary receipts for the month of the present year, from January of 1905 by $23,000,000. February of this year the only fourteen principal days made returns showing receipts of $90,000,000 over the income for the provinces in February.

The dispatch, which was received by the Telegram Agency, states that altogether, increase of receipts for the first two months of the year is remarkable, as certain provinces adversely influenced by strikes. The receipts for the entire month railways during the month of decrease of $9,500,000, but the receipts of February railroads have reached the same figure, showing that a normal condition of railroad transportation has been established."

Canadian Express Agents Strike.

MONCTON (N. B.), April 4.—The 200 agents of the Canadian Express Company along the line of the Intercolonial Railway in this province struck this morning yesterday that the company refused to declare a strike against the company April 14. The employees of the railroad have asked a commission for hearing. They state that the company refused for an increase in wages. The company was refused by the Canadian Express Company.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Consistent with their policy to centralize their smelting interests at Douglas, the Phelps-Dodge people are preparing to at once dismantle their great Morenci converters and ship their copper mats to Douglas for reduction to ingots at the smelter in this city.

The operation of the Morenci smelter at Douglas will not decrease the number of laborers employed at Morenci, as a great deal of other improvements in the mines.

The work of excavating the old slag dump at Douglas will be continued to recover remaining values and the excavation will be filled with new slag.

POOR FARM NO GRAFT.

ELKERENKOTTER ON STAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

REDWOOD CITY, April 4.—The investigation of Albert Elkerenkotter, superintendent of the County Poor Farm upon charges embodied in the report of the grand jury, by the Board of Supervisors, was held yesterday. No one appeared before the committee to father the charges. Deputy Sheriff Knight was subpoenaed.

Attorney Bullock refused to proceed with the investigation, claiming that the duty lay simply in acting as an adviser to the board upon any question of law which might arise. Deputy Sheriff Knight and Secretary Brown of the grand jury were put upon the stand but refused to testify, declaring that the law would not permit their saying what occurred in the jury room, and that the report was there to speak for itself. Attorney Bullock then stated that a number of persons had been subpoenaed and were present to testify upon the alleged offenses not covered by the report of the grand jury, but Supervisor Ross objected. He said his constituents had come there prepared to refute the charges made against him and that he was prepared to go on with the investigation.

A motion was placed on the table explained the alleged discrepancies with the exception of a few erasures in the books, which he admitted appeared visible on the stand. Ross declared that errors in the report of the grand jury were greatly in excess of those charged by the accused.

Auditor from the County Treasurer's books and comparing the report of the grand jury showed that in 1905 Elkerenkotter conducted the County Farm in a more economical manner than in 1904, as was praised by the grand jury for that year's conduct of affairs. Produce from the farm at Menlo has been sold and not accounted for, as was shown by the treasurer's report to have been accounted for and turned back.

The supervisors took the matter under advisement.

Among the persons were aboard the Centennial when she left Japan for home and steamers arriving from there have brought no word of her.

STRIKE PREVENTED BY CONCESSIONS.

UNION RECOGNIZED, FLAT WAGE SCALE NOT GRANTED.

Two Days' Conference Betwen Officials of Oakland Traction Consolidated and Representatives of Its Employees Results in Agreement of Fifteen Clauses.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, April 4.—After a two days' conference between officials representing the Oakland Traction Consolidated and Carmens' Union, No. 192 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employés of America, an agreement has been reached whereby the corporation makes concessions which will prevent the threatened strike of carmen in this city. At 3 o'clock this morning the members of the carmen's union ratified the agreement which had been proposed by the conference.

The most substantial concession gained by the carmen is recognition of the union. The flat wage scale desired by the carmen was not granted, it being agreed that the present scale of wages for conductors, motormen and gatemen remain effective until January 1 or July 1 of 1907. In all, there are fifteen clauses in the agreement, but that of the recognition of the union is the most important one.

The company concedes the following terms:

(1.) Complete recognition of the union.

(2.) Discharged employés have the right to appeal for a hearing before the board of directors of the corporation, through the union.

(3.) If a discharged employé is reinstated as a result of an appeal he is to be paid for time lost through dismissal.

(4.) Officers of the union may obtain a leave of absence not exceeding thirty days when such leave is necessary to perform their duties as union officials.

(5.) All employés may ride free on the company's cars.

(6.) All employés of the company have a right to join any reputable organization.

(7.) Demerit register lists must not be made public.

(8.) A day's run of ten or eleven hours must be made in a fifteen-hour stretch.

(9.) Straight runs must be made within twelve hours.

(10.) Trippers working less than one hour will be paid for one hour.

(11.) Regular men will have one day off in ten if desired.

(11.) Bulletin boards for use of the union will be placed in all car houses.

(13.) Motormen instructing students will be paid 25 cents a day extra.

(14.) Men may purchase uniforms in open market.

The men concede:

(1.) The present wage scale will remain in effect until January 1, or July 1, 1907.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK BRIGHTER.

Ordinary Revenues of Russian Empire Exceed Budget Estimates by Twenty-three Millions.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Baron Rosen, the Russian Ambassador, received a dispatch today from St. Petersburg, announcing that the ordinary revenues of the empire for 1905 exceeded estimates, including the budgets, by $23,500,000, over $5,000,000 in excess of the income from the same source in 1904.

The ordinary receipts for January of the present year exceeded those for January of 1905 by $4,000,000, and for February of this year the receipts in the only fourteen provinces which have made returns show an increase of $1,000,000 over the income from the same provinces in February of 1905.

The dispatch, which is from the Telegram Agency, concludes: "Taken altogether, increase of receipts for the first two months of 1906 is all the more remarkable, as certain collections were adversely influenced by disorders and strikes. The receipts from the government railways during January show a decrease of $3,500,000, but since the end of February railroad receipts have reached the same figure as in 1905, showing that a normal condition of railroad transportation has been re-established."

Canadian Express Agents to Strike.

MONCTON (N. S.) April 4.—Some 200 agents of the Canadian Express Company along the Inter-Colonial Railway in three provinces, gave notice yesterday that they had voted to declare a strike against the express company April 14. The agents are all employés of the railroad, but are paid a commission for handling express business. They state that a demand for an increase in their commission was refused by the head of the Canadian Express Company in Montreal.

DEVELOPMENT AT TUSKEGEE.

Booker T. Washington as a "Fisher of Men"

He Believes His Race Is Entering New Era.

Secretary Taft Says Constitution Protects Negro.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TUSKEGEE (Ala.) April 4.—The Ogden party from New York was delayed in reaching here, today, and the programme intended for this morning in connection with the annual exercises at the Tuskegee Normal Industrial Institute was postponed until afternoon. Secretary Taft in the course of his address said:

"This great seat of useful learning was founded twenty-five years ago to elevate a race. No topic would be appropriate on such occasion as this which did not relate to its welfare and future. Brought to this country against their will, for 250 years the negroes lived in slavery. Then a bloody four-years war was fought, resulting in their emancipation. Thereafter were adopted into the fundamental laws of the country three amendments intended to be a change for the negroes from a condition of menial servitude to that of full enjoyments of rights of life, liberty and property and protection from legislation which should exclude them from political power and influence by reason of their color or previous condition of servitude.

"The Thirteenth Amendment, which abolishes slavery, needs but little discussion. It gave to the negro the boon of freedom, but it left four or five million people, not 5 per cent. of whom could read or write, and all of whom had been dependent upon others for what they ate and wore and did, and helpless as children they were turned loose in the world. The Thirteenth Amendment has accomplished its purpose.

The Fourteenth Amendment has secured to the negro the equal protection of the laws of the State in which he lives, and by due process of law any deprivation of his ... liberty or property is punished under State law. This amendment, second to his emancipation, has become the most important in his development."

Secretary Taft discussed the many movements to confer on the negro the higher academic and literary education which were "not well adapted to securing the proper foundation for the upbuilding of the race." The homelier virtues, he said, must be instilled in a people before they are ready to receive with advantage merely literary or scientific education or can make the best use of it. He went on to say:

"When the struggle of the negro in the decade following the war was going on, there was growing to manhood a leader of this people who saw more clearly than the rest of his race that the negro could be one of the greatest factors in the development of the whole South, if only he could be led into habits of industry and saving.

"If Hampton School had never done anything but graduate Booker T. Washington it would have justified its existence. He saw clearly that the only hope of his race was economic independence, and the project in his mind was the establishment of an institution in which there should be combined in proper proportion the mental education and the education of the hand. Booker T. Washington, with the 2000 graduates of this institution who are now spreading the lessons which they have learned here among his people in all parts of the South, gloriously vindicate his marvelous foresight. He has put himself in a position where he may well preach an evangel and force the truth he utters by the work he has done."

WASHINGTON'S ADDRESS.

Booker T. Washington, principal of Tuskegee Institute, began his address as follows:

"And Jesus said, 'I will make you fishers of men.' In the spirit of these words, the foundation of this institution was laid in 1881, through a gift from the State of Alabama. For twenty-five years, then, the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute has been 'fishing for men.' What of it, and with what results?

"In our quest we have used land, houses, barns, henneries, shops, laundries, class-rooms, the Bible, arithmetic, the saw, the trowel, the plow and money—all these and more we have used in our efforts to 'fish' for men. Primarily, I believe that my race has found itself, so far as its permanent location is concerned.

"When this institution began its mission, there was uncertainty, lack of faith, halting and speculation as to our permanent abiding place. As to what degree the influence of the Tuskegee Institute has contributed to this, I will venture no assertion except to state that, so far as I can interpret the present ambitions and activities of my people, the main body of the race has decided to remain permanently in the heart of the South, in or near what is known as the 'black belt.'"

GROWTH OF THE SCHOOL.

Washington referred to the growth of the school from its humble beginning in one small building, with thirty pupils, to its present enrollment of 1400 students, and said that the school had sent out into the world 6000 men and women who are now largely engaged as workers in agriculture and mechanics, housekeepers and teachers of both industrial and academic branches throughout the South, as well as in Africa, and one or two foreign countries.

After alluding to the various "momentous transitions" through which the American negro has passed, Washington said:

"The negro race in this country has entered upon a wholly new period—a period in which emphasis is being placed upon a side of life not covered in any of the previous experiences of my people. I mean the era of free, independent and intelligent economic and industrial development, accompanied with a growing sense of the worth and value of their own qualities and a desire to make the most of them, under God, for their own good and the welfare of the world. Having to some extent become conscious of the great task imposed upon them, as a people, they are seeking to lay the foundation deep in the essentials of life. But in this task they often meet many, and sometimes needless obstacles."

NATIONAL LINE TO THIS CITY.

Mr. Newlands Wants Railroads Out of Politics.

He Suggests an Experimental Overland Railway.

Mr. Fitzgerald Warns President He's Not a Czar.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—In the Senate, today, Mr. Newlands discussed the Railroad Rate Bill and Mr. Daniel the question of the lack of representation by the Southern States in the public service. Mr. Newlands advocated amendments to the rate bill providing for the national incorporation of railroads, and announced himself as favorable to the governmental ownership of these utilities.

Mr. Daniels's speech was based on a provision in the Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Bill for the representation of the United States at the next Pan-American Congress to be held in Rio de Janeiro next July. The deficiency bill was amended so as to provide for more delegates, and as amended was passed.

Senator Newlands.

At the beginning of the session, the Senate passed a bill increasing the limit of cost for the public building at Yankton, S. D.

Discussing the bill carrying an appropriation of $60,000 for the American delegates to the Pan-American Congress, Senator Daniels commented on the fact that of the five commissioners one was from Porto Rico and none from the South. He described the Porto Rican as a sort of "sub-American, a brevet-American, an American on the half-shell," and wondered if the gentleman from Porto Rico could define the relations between that island and the United States. The bill was amended to provide two more commissioners and to carry an appropriation of $75,000, and in this form was passed.

MR. NEWLANDS ON RATES.

The Railroad RAte Bill being taken up, Mr. Newlands addressed the Senate. He contended that the bill should fix a maximum percentage of profit to be allowed to the roads, and to that end he would have the valuation of all railroad property carefully ascertained. In addition, he would have a natural incorporation act, which would be the most effective safeguard against overcapitalization. All these regulations would work automatically in the direction of a reduction of rates.

He argued that the great majority of investors prefer a steady income of from 4 to 6 per cent. to a speculative enterprise, and he drew the conclusion that the determination of the profit would not have the effect of restricting railroad extension. This plan, also, would have the effect of taking the railroads out of politics, a most desirable desideratum, in Mr. Newlands's opinion.

LINE TO LOS ANGELES.

From national capitalization to national ownership was only a short step, said the Nevada Senator, and he announced he was in no respect averse to that policy. He could see no financial obstacle in the way of the acquisition of existing roads, but if there should be opposition to this course, he would have the government enter upon the construction of a railway system of its own, and he suggested an experimental line from Norfolk or Charleston to Los Angeles or San Diego. Such a line, 2500 miles in length, could be built, he declared, for $100,000,000, a cost not exceeding an average of $35,000 per mile, as against the average capitalization of $65,000 which prevails on existing lines. Without completing his speech, Mr. Newlands suspended at 4 p.m., and the Senate immediately adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The House today listened to a criticism of the President on the part of Mr. Fitzgerald of New York for the failure of the Chief Executive properly to advise the House as to the objection he has to the bill opening 505,000 acres of land for grazing purposes in Oklahoma Territory, instead of advising the members of the Indian Affairs Committee as to the weakness of the measure, so that it might be amended to meet the wishes of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Mr. Fitzgerald, in the course of the strictures on the President, said:

"This is not Russia. The President is not like the Czar, who originates and enacts legislation. The President may recommend, but he can neither originate nor enact legislation.

"Someone may say this is trivial. The history of all governments which have parliamentary institutions shows that the failure to resist trivial encroachments on the part of the Chief Executive has led to vast encroachments, until the legislative branch of the government existed in name only."

POSTOFFICE BILL.

The Postoffice Appropriation Bill was taken up, but beyond the explanation of the bill by the chairman of the Postoffice Committee, Mr. Overstreet, no headway on the bill was made.

GERMAN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

The Denaturalized Alcohol Bill was ordered to the calendar.

Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri called up the bill to incorporate the National American-German Alliance of the United States of America under the laws of the District of Columbia. He said the organization was most patriotic in character, and had no political significance whatever. It was an American organization, made up of Germans who desired to help wherever possible their brethren to a better understanding of American institutions. Mr. Hepburn objected, and the bill went over.

The bill opening to settlement 505,000 acres of land in the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Indian reservation in Oklahoma Territory was passed, also the following bills: Providing for the withdrawal from public entry of lands needed for townsite purposes in connection with irrigation projects under the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902; to permit the State of Utah to select lands in any abandoned military reservation in Utah.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

Mr. Overstreet of Indiana, chairman of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, said that the increase of the postal service necessitated heavy increases in expenditures and more changes in the methods of administration of the service could be made without serious impairment of its efficiency. The department estimates that the receipts for the fiscal year 1907 will be $181,573,624, based upon an estimate of a 9 per cent. increase over the estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1906.

Mr. Overstreet was compelled to answer a rapid-fire of questions when the franking privilege came up in his general outline of the bill. The new legislation which the bill provides makes it unlawful for any person entitled under the law to use a frank to lend his frank, or permit its use by any person for the benefit or use of any committee or organization or association.

At 4 o'clock the Postoffice Appropriation Bill was laid aside, and at 4:15 p.m. the House adjourned.

KLAMATH AND EXCHANGE.

KAHN'S ENABLING ACT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Kahn today introduced a bill permitting the Klamath Land Company to exchange the land it owns in Klamath Indian reservation for land outside. The Klamath company is controlled by California business men. The Supreme Court confirmed its title to the land in question, so that the Interior Department cannot allot it to the Indians. The company is willing to take outside land in exchange, and the proposition is understood to have the indorsement of the Indian Department.

DELUGED BY TELEGRAMS.

NEEDHAM RECEIVING THANKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] During yesterday and today, Representative Needham has received more telegrams from California than at any other time during his seven years of Congressional service. The cause of the deluge is found in the passage of the bill permitting fortification of sweet wines. The messages come from bankers, business men, wine makers and fruit raisers throughout the State.

They express thanks and congratulations for Mr. Needham's successful effort. Other members of the delegation are receiving telegrams also.

At today's joint Republican caucus of the Senate and House, Mr. Needham's selection as a member of the Congressional Committee to succeed himself was ratified. The California delegation had previously agreed unanimously on Mr. Needham, all except himself signing a paper to that effect. Representative Kahn reported this to the caucus, and now Mr. Needham is booked to look after California Republicans' interests in the Congress Committee.

HANGS HIMSELF IN RUSSIA.

Heinrich Block, Who Introduced American Method of Advertising in Czar's Domains, a Suicide.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4.—The body of Heinrich Block, a banker, was discovered at his residence today, where he had hanged himself.

Block had introduced into Russia on a large scale the American method of advertising. He was engaged principally in the sale of lottery bonds on the installment plan, his own fortune having been based on his luck in drawing a capital prize of $150,000. In every city and town in Russia his name was painted in large betters on the dead walls of buildings.

It is intimated that Block was heavily committed on the bourse, and that the investigation into his death will develop insolvency.

NOT A PENNY FOR ORLAND.

Secretary Hitchcock Replies to McKinlay and Freeman.

Uncle Sam Has Big Money in Irrigation Already.

Mr. Needham's Victory Gets Him Many Telegrams.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative McKinlay and F. C. Freeman today conferred with Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock in regard to government control of the Orland irrigation project in Glenn county. Secretary Hitchcock said he had $110,000,000 worth of irrigation projects under consideration, and that there would be no money available for the Orland scheme under the Reclamation Act for two years. At the end of that period, he will give the matter consideration. He asked for the papers in the case, and Mr. McKinlay has sent to California for them.

Mr. Freeman is endeavoring to reach an agreement with the Reclamation Service on the Glenn and Colusa county project embodied in Mr. McKinlay's bill. The Reclamation Service insists that the bill shall contain a provision for the acquisition of this system by the government at a reasonable figure whenever desired, and Freeman will try to reach an agreement on this point.

The House Territories Committee today reported bills for filling in that portion of Honolulu naval station known as "The Reef," and setting aside certain lands at Hilo for government purposes.

ARTIFICIAL ISLAND PROPOSED.

DEFENSE OF CHESAPEAKE BAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The creation of an artificial island in the middle of Chesapeake Bay is proposed by the Joint Board on Coast Defense as an absolute essential to the defense of the national capital and the cities of Baltimore, Norfolk, Newport News and even Richmond. The daring exploits of the Japanese naval captains during the recent war have convinced the army engineers that it is no longer safe to rely upon the defenses at Fort Monroe to control the entrance to the Chesapeake.

The board has concluded that a fortress should be erected to command the north side of the present main channel, as well as the north channel, and the only proper site for this fortress would be on what are known as the "middle grounds." The water is shoal, but there is no land above tide, and therefore the government must dump stone into the bottom of the bay, as it did when it built the ripraps for the fort at the entrance of Hampton Roads, until a foundation is secured for the defenses.

INVENTORY OF RAILWAYS.

COMMISSIONERS DESIRE IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—By unanimous vote today the National Association of Railway Commissioners adopted the resolution of B. H. Myer of Wisconsin, offered yesterday, declaring it to be the sense of the association that the Congress of the United States should authorize and direct the Interstate Commerce Commission or some other department of the Federal government to ascertain the inventory value of all railways in the United States, and to fix a valuation on the railway property of each State separately.

Further consideration of the report of the Committee on Railroad Taxation, presented yesterday by Andrew F. Cates of Connecticut, was postponed until the next convention.

SHIP SUBSIDY HEARINGS.

FOREIGN INTERESTS AND LABOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Ship subsidy hearings were begun today by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. John McCall, past national president of the Boilermakers' Association, stated that workmen engaged in shipbuilding were in favor of subsidy.

George L. Duvall, chairman of the Ship Subsidy Committee of the New York Merchants' Association, drew a rapid fire of questions from Representative Humphrey of Washington, the latter stating that he wanted to show that Mr. Duvall was simply representing foreign shipping interests. This the witness hotly denied. His association was in favor of a subsidy, but had opposed bills so far brought forth, as they would have allowed some of the subsidies to go to foreign-owned ships. With several amendments which J. H. Dockery, legal adviser of the association, would present, the association was prepared to support the bill.

The amendments were later presented by Mr. Dockery. They related to the tonnage tax provision of the bill, and were discussed at length. It was stated that the American Federation of Labor is in favor of the bill.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ENTERTAINS.

THE WEAKER SEX.

"The Weaker Sex" shows four charming girls grouped around a table and examining through a magnifying glass a mere man, as insignificant in their eyes as is an object pathetic in the supplication of his attitude. The four girls are four different types each perfect of its kind, but they are one in the coldly scientific expression with which they examine the specimen that one is about to impale upon her hatpin. People who are accustomed to thinking of the Gibson girl as one, just drawn in different attitudes will have a chance here to observe four of them together and to note the striking difference between them. As an illustration of Gibson's technique this picture is splendid, and the student of art can do no better than to analyze carefully the methods whereby the effect is produced.

This picture is one of the last of Mr. Gibson's Pen and Ink Drawings. He will do no more of this work.

REPORTS SHOW GREAT GAINS.

Yesterday Red Letter Day of Y. W. C. A. Conference.

Delegates Holding Breath at Los Angeles's Work.

Large Sum Is Subscribed to Aid in Movement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAPITOLA, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Other sessions were waived today in favor of the State Committees of California and Nevada. It was the red letter day of the conference. Mrs. O. Shepherd Barnum of Los Angeles presided in the absence of Mrs. Z. D. Mathuss, who is traveling in Europe. Other State officers on the platform were: Mrs. Karl A. Johnson, treasurer, and Mrs. Rose F. Smith, secretary, both of Los Angeles, and the following members of the State committee: Dr. Mary Cronemiller of Sacramento; Mrs. Esther Day of Palo Alto, Mrs. George Stimson of Pasadena; Mrs. A. C. Johnson of Whittier and Madames Salisbury and Best of Los Angeles.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Anna Seville. The annual report of the State committee was read by Mrs. Barnum. The work has so increased during the past year that it has been necessary to add five new secretaries, making twenty-four in all. Two new city associations have been formed, at San Jose and Riverside, making six city associations now in the State, with an enrollment of 5226.

LONG BEACH'S DISTINCTION.

The Long Beach association, a little over two years old, has made rapid strides, and achieves the distinction of being the first possessor of an association building, in conjunction with the Y.M.C.A., and it also has a $1600 club house. The two oldest associations, Sacramento and Los Angeles, are about to start on an active campaign for erecting new buildings. A departure this year is placing a young woman with the Los Angeles association to be trained for secretary. Another event of special importance was the appointment of a metropolitan student secretary—Helen Salisbury of Los Angeles—who this year becomes State secretary in place of Miss Theresa Wilbur, who has served so admirably in this capacity for two years, and who leaves now to engage in national Y.W.C.A. work.

The following Los Angeles women served on committees: Mrs. Dewey, chairman of the Committee on Reports and Recommendations; Mrs. Maxwell, chairman of the Committee on Credentials; and Mrs. Averill Cunningham and Miss Wilson, committee on Resolutions.

MONEY QUICKLY RAISED.

The yearly "budget" was raised to and more than half this sum pledged by subscription at the rate of $1 per minute. Miss Theresa Wilbur, who is one of the most popular of the work, managed the money raising by the blackboard method, most successfully. The first $700 was wiped out in about two seconds by Los Angeles members of the State Committee, who came valiantly to the front. Mrs. S. Salisbury and Carl Johnson led with $250 each and Mmes. Stimson, O. S. Barnum and Parsons subscribed $100 each. Church and city associations contributed liberally, as well as individuals. The Los Angeles association giving $75. A $14,000 was subscribed, which is more than three times as much as was raised at the last Capitola conference.

Reports of individual associations followed. The University of Nevada reported more than half its students members of the student Y.W. The University of California, 350 members, with a budget of over $2000; Pomona, 275 members out of 585 students, with a budget of $1100.

SMALL MEMBERS BUT FOUR.

Incidental reports only four girls in the entire college not members of the association, but a budget of almost a thousand, 158 members, budget of $1000 and almost double the Capitola representation of last year. The Girls' Industrial School of Los Angeles reported sixty active members out of 100 girls old enough to belong to the association, and the practical plan of earning a scholarship in a Mexican school at Albuquerque. Their Capitola delegation last year was two, this year ten. Whittier College reports every student a member of the association, and Whittier High School association in the State, which claims $2 out of the 97 girls in school.

The most thrilling report of the session was that from the Los Angeles association, with its membership and total attendance at its rooms for the year of over 400,000, and its members of educational classes. The conference fairly held its breath while Mrs. Dewey reported the year's figures of more than $25,000, and the new and clear expectation of putting up a $150,000 building during the year. The question extended over into the afternoon, so many were the reports to be made.

NEW OFFICERS.

The following State officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, Mrs. O. Shepherd Barnum of Los Angeles; vice-chairman, Mrs. O. Gunday of Palo Alto; secretary, Mrs. Smith of Los Angeles; press secretary, Miss Hazel Pedlar.

Of the popular young women of the State a former Occidental girl, then Miss Dorothea Lewis. After graduating from Occidental, a few years ago, she become student secretary of the New York and New Jersey, and a few months ago married Rev. Edmund B. Potter of Oakland. Former Occidental mates planned a little surprise for the recent bride today, sustaining a marriage bell made of bridal roses above her place at the table. As soon as she made her appearance in the dining-room, escorted by Miss Cunningham of the Occidental faculty, all the assembled girls broke out into a melodious wedding march. Mrs. Potter's eyes fell upon the bell, on which appeared in letters, "Married Six Months." Failing to comprehend what it was all about, Two interlaced hearts made of roses on the table before her completed the mystery.

The women of Oakland gave the address in the evening. He will go to Los Angeles next month to take part in the International Congress.

Any of them advanced by that committee to the order of third reading can be finally passed if not amended tomorrow, all having been in printed form on the members' desks for three days. It is believed that the leaders will attempt to pass some at least of the bills tomorrow afternoon.

The Assembly today passed a bill requiring all legislative agents employed to influence legislation to register and report the fees they received. The bill prohibits the employment of legislative agents on contingent fees.

Other bills suggested by the insurance investigating committee were also passed. One of the bills prohibits rebating by life insurance agents and another makes contradictory statements under oath presumptive evidence of perjury.

The bill prohibiting campaign contributions by corporations was put over until tomorrow so that the measure might be examined in the light of suggestions that it would operate in ways not contemplated by the committee.

BROKE ICE FOR 400 MILES.

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 4.—The advance guard of the mounted police expedition which left Dawson December 20 for Fort McPherson, on Mackenzie River, reached Dominion yesterday. The object of the trip was to establish an all-winter route between Dawson and McPherson. The second half of the expedition is expected at Dawson in ten days, with mail from Herschel. The party got through without mishap, although it experienced weather 70 deg. below zero. Better time was made than had been expected. They had to break the ice for 400 miles and encountered snow on both trips. The expedition took a new route, via Mayo, and passed over the Rocky Mountains to the northeast.

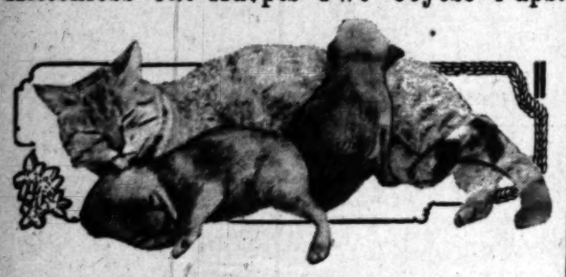
Kittenless Cat Adopts Two Coyote Pups.



The adoption by one animal of the young of others belonging to the same family is a common occurrence, but it remained for a large tabby cat to change the order of things by adopting two coyote pups in lieu of her deceased kittens.

This strange spectacle was on exhibition yesterday in a Second-street show window.

Romulus and Remus are the names bestowed upon the little coyotes, and they saw the light of day about a week ago, under most exciting circumstances, on the Empire ranch, in Kings county. They were dug from a den by Frank Parks, who is a noted wolf and coyote hunter. Parks owns a fine pack of wolf hounds, and they chased the mother coyote to her den. When the hunting party arrived they discovered three female coyotes with their families, aggregating fifteen pups. The den extended about forty feet underground, the roof of the cavity being four feet from the surface just over the bed. When the dogs entered a desperate fight ensued, and it was necessary to dig into the den and rescue them. This done, the mother coyotes were permitted to escape one at a time, the dogs being held until they gained a start of about fifty feet, when chase was given. In each instance the dogs overhauled and killed the quarry. An excavation was then made into the den and the pups taken away.

About this time the Parks family cat lost her kittens, so the experiment was tried of having her adopt the pups. This she did without hesitation, and is as fond of her strange children as if they were of her own species.

Mother Tab was nursing her family when The Times photographer made her a call yesterday afternoon, but readily consented to pose. Little Remus has an insatiable appetite, and can be seen looking for tiffin, while Romulus takes too much interest in his surroundings to think much of his stomach. Both pups are as lively as the domesticated pup, and play with any one who desires to pet them. The pups are now about three weeks old.

Mrs. Tab is very solicitous for the welfare of her family and never leaves them long at a time, and if removed from the cage cries until she is again allowed to fondle and caress them.

After being on exhibition at the store a few days, Mr. Parks will present the family to the Eastlake Park Zoo, and they will be allowed to grow up as adjuncts to this department.

PROSPERED UNDER POLICE'S NOSE.

BRITISH ARMY AGENT JORDAN ARRESTED AT LAST.

Man of Dashing Military Bearing Who Came to This Country to Buy Horses for Use in Boer War and Who Was Indicted for Forgery in Real Estate Business.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 4.—A scandal dating back to England's preparations for the Boer War is recalled today in the arraignment of George L. Jordan, who disappeared in this city several years ago while buying horses for the use of the British army in the Boer War.

Jordan was arrested last night, charged with forgery in the first degree, having been indicted in 1899 for the forgery of a promissory note for $20,000. He escaped arrest, and the police supposed he had left this country.

During the seven years of his disappearance Jordan has been living in New York City. He went into the real estate business and prospered, it is said. He disguised himself by growing a full beard, changing his name to that of Mark Denny, and living ostensibly as an American business man. The prisoner today admitted his identity as Jordan and was sent to the Tombs in default of very heavy bail.

Prior to the alleged forgery, Jordan was a regularly accredited agent of the British government. Of a dashing military bearing, and with good letters of identification from England, he was a guest of several of New York's best clubs. He is sixty years of age.

MAY NOT DIE IN PRISON.

COMMUTATION FOR EVANS?

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, April 4.—Application has been made to Gov. Pardee for a commutation of the sentence of Thomas Evans, sentenced to life imprisonment at San Quentin for killing Robert Holland in Nevada county several years ago. A strong petition has been presented in behalf of Evans, among the signers being Superior Judge Nilon, who presided at the trial. The State Board of Prison Directors have recommended a commutation of sentence also. Gov. Pardee has taken no action in the matter yet.

Jesse A. Bailey, Superintendent of Police of Richmond, Ind., arrived here this morning with requisitions upon Gov. Pardee for the return of John A. Locke and Harry G. Harris. Locke is wanted for grand larceny and Harris for carrying stolen goods into the State. Locke will be taken back, but owing to defects in the papers relating to Harris, the latter may escape.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Perjurer Rogers Goes to Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Larry Rogers, who recently perjured himself, telling the District Attorney of a "plot to assassinate Rev. C. H. Parkhurst," was today sentenced to seven years and six months in Sing Sing.

Robbed by Masked Highwayman.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Two desperate highwaymen, heavily armed and wearing white masks, held up and robbed James Duffy at the corner of Army and Kentucky streets early this morning. They secured his watch and several dollars in money and made their escape.

Murderer's Father Also Murderer.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) April 4.—James Wince, the young farmer who murdered his wife and three children near Whitely one year ago, was hanged today at Danville. It developed at the trial of the man that his father murdered his mother twenty years ago, and that his sister had committed suicide.

Auto Aids Sheriff in Capture.

SAN JOSE, April 4.—After searching for a month for Joseph Smith, a Hall's Valley rancher, for whom there is a larceny warrant out, Sheriff Ross yesterday afternoon heard that the man he wanted had just driven through the city in a light buckboard attached to a team of fast horses. Ross secured an automobile, overtook his man after a lively chase and arrested him.

SHIRT WAIST FOR A QUEEN.

"Edward VII" Finds Bright-Colored Garment and Presents It to His Loving Mate.

Shocking to relate, Edward VII swiped a shirt waist the other day and bore it off in triumph to Mrs. Edward VII, sometimes known as Queen Alexandra. It was no ordinary shirt waist, either, but one of bright hue, with bishop's sleeves and all that—a waist fit for a queen, if queens wear waists.

This news does not come by cable from England, but direct from the Ostrich Farm, where Edward VII, the wild Nubian ostrich, and his mate, are confined.

An unwary visitor left the shirt waist done up in a package on a bench within reach of the long neck of His Nubian Highness. Edward spied it from his corral and seized upon it. The sight of the gaudy waist pleased his eye and he waltzed mincingly with his prize over to the corner where Queen Alexandra sat on a royal dozen of eggs.

There was quite a little ceremony connected with the presentation of the garment to the lady ostrich, but when the attendants rushed up to rescue the waist it was a sorry sight. It won't be fit to wear for some time.

WILL ADVERTISE.

San Diego Realty Board to Send Delegation to Middle West to Exploint the City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The San Diego Realty Board will raise $7500 for the expenses of a committee who will journey to the Middle West and to the Atlantic seaboard, advertising San Diego city and county.

The advertising delegation will consist of fifteen men and will include two orators.

Samples of San Diego resources will be taken along. Several members of the party will pay their own expenses.

IMPOSTER EXPOSED.

Dirty Beggar Doing Deaf and Dumb Fake Is Shown Up, Gets Angry and Speaks.

The latest faker to use a begging stunt for "easy money" is a strapping big fellow who has adopted a deaf and dumb ruse. He also tries to play on sympathy by purporting to have a withered arm. The crook was exposed yesterday when he called at the Peres Chemical Labratory on North Main street.

He shuffled into the office during business hours, and having thrown his card on a desk, pointed to his mouth and ears in a way to imply muteness. Having made his play he held out his dirty palms for coin.

H. Schoemaker, who was in the office when the beggar called, believed the man to be an imposter, and said, "I have seen you before, and you are neither deaf nor dumb." At once the fake was exposed and the beggar, forgetting his make-believe infirmities hissed, "You are a d—— liar."

The imposter was promptly hustled out of the office and a call was sent to the Police Station. A good description of the beggar was given. The patrolmen will endeavor to apprehend the man and a warning is given, as it is expected the imposter will continue his work in the residence districts.

BRITISH OFFICERS ON TRIAL FOR HAZING LIEUT. KENNEDY.

Court of Inquiry at Aldershot Making Inquiry Into Treatment Dealt Poor Messmate Belonging to the Scots Guards—Mock Court-martial's Sentence Carried Out.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALDERSHOT, England, April 4.—Four lieutenants—Hamilton, Dalrymple-Hamilton, Joliffe and Harford—were placed on trial today before a court of inquiry which is making an investigation of the hazing of Second Lieutenant Clark Kennedy, who was severely maltreated by his fellow-officers last month, because, it is alleged, he was too poor to meet all the regimental subscriptions. The court is composed of four generals and two colonels, Lieut.-Gen. Sir Gerald Morgan presiding.

Lieut. Kennedy testified that after his return March 18, just after he had returned from sick leave, he was tried by a mock court-martial on the charge that the medical officer had found him in a filthy condition and that he had told his colonel a lie. Kennedy was then sentenced to be stripped and to take a bath. The sentence was carried out with force, and a mixture of motor oil and other ingredients was poured over him and jam was spread over his hair. Subsequently, Kennedy escaped, naked, to his room. His tormentors, however, proceeded to break the door open, whereupon Kennedy jumped out of a window and took refuge in a hotel.

Kennedy, who comes of a family of well-known soldiers, and the other lieutenants, belong to the First Battalion of the Scots Guards. He had formerly served in the Fourth Battalion of the Prince of Wales Own Yorkshire Regiment.

MINES AND MINING.

DEVELOPING IN JOHNNIE CAMPS.

MINING WORK AT MANY MINES AS RAILROAD NEARS.

Preparing to Ship Ore by Middle of Month Over New Road—Drifting on Deep Level in Johnnie Mine—Property Changes Reported from the Searchlight District.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

JOHNNIE MINING CAMP, April 1.—With the near approach of the Salt Lake Railroad, which will be completed to this point by April 15, this camp is taking on new life. The sound of blasting can be heard at all hours of the day, and work is progressing rapidly on numerous claims. The drift-tunnel on the 700-foot level of the Johnnie mine is being rushed. Mr. Schader, superintendent, informs me that he expects to strike the ore within a few days. This is the same body of ore struck on the 60-foot level, which assayed $18 per ton, the ledge being seven feet wide and enlarging as it goes down.

The Bailey group of claims, owned by Thomas Edwin, adjoining the Johnnie mine, are being opened up by two shafts, now down fifty feet each, showing a ledge eight feet wide, which assays $13 per ton. A tunnel is also being driven on this property, which is now sixty feet, having cut through a ledge five feet wide which assays $8 per ton. This tunnel is being driven to tap a large body of ore known to exist, which from assays made from open cuts on the surface should carry values of $60 or better.

The Golden Eagle group of claims, owned by the Bullfrog Johnnie Mining Company, of which U. M. Thomas of Berkeley is president, sufficient development work has been done to prove that it is a mine which will yield a good profit on the investment. The group assays from $25 to $80. The ledges are strong and well defined, and with the large bodies of ore proven to exist, it will be a winner.

The Chespa mine, owned by Ramsden and Bartlett of Tonopah, has a force of men at work drifting and sinking.

The Chespa and the Johnnie mines, formerly owned by Salt Lake men, and both have been producers to the extent of $200,000 each, this was done when supplies had to be hauled a great distance and the cost of mining was high.

IN SEARCHLIGHT DISTRICT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) April 2.—The Southern Nevada Mining and Milling company will resume milling operations in the near future, deeper development of its Blossom vein having successfully exposed a large body of ore. From the upper portions of the vein there has been extracted and milled ore which yielded upward of $20 per ton. The shoot was worked out, extensive prospecting near the surface failed to develop new ore in any quantity. As other mines in the district were developed to depth, without exception improved with it was determined to sink the main shaft in the hope that this would likewise prove rich at deep level. The result has apparently justified the undertaking. The mill is of 40 stamps, and well constructed. It will be again equipped with new and after a thorough overhaul will be started, after many months of idleness, on ore from the Blossom mines.

The New Era mill of ten stamps is running on ore recently exposed in a new stope from the south 175-foot level. The only idle mill in the district now, is that of the Duplex Mining company, owned by Count James Pourtales and John Brockman. It is proposed to install a new and larger mill at this property, which is being extensively developed, and is to be equipped with modern machinery in every department.

Mr. Brockman and Count James Pourtales, both of Los Angeles, have formed the Highbinder group at Von Amburgh, the sensationally rich ores of which caused a recent stampede to the new district south of here. It is believed that they will develop into a mine extensively. The terms of the deal have not been given out.

The Mountain group, at Eldorado, has been bought by Messrs. Gresh and Cupp of Los Angeles, and E. [illegible] for $20,000. It was owned by Cupp of Los Angeles, and E. [illegible] superintendent of the Black Mining Company. The property has been worked under bond by the owners for some weeks past, and has yielded extremely rich ore, which is being sacked for shipment.

In Searchlight-Parallel, the shaft is nearing the 500-foot level, and at this level is being driven north. The shaft is being timbered to the depth, and an electric plant of 30,000 gallons daily capacity will be immediately installed. The Quartette Company, bankers and others have acquired a heavy interest in this property.

The Quartette Mining Company has let a contract for a shaft to be sunk on the Bay State claim, which is the extension of the Golden Queen and Copper King claims, in the Quartette mine. It is expected the new shaft will expose

THE DEAF ARE ALWAYS LONESOME

Why Be Deaf When This Remarkable Invention of Mr. Geo. P. Way Can Surely Help You?

No one appreciates the lonesome, miserable existence of the deaf more than Mr. Geo. P. Way, the well-known inventor of the Way Ear Drum, who is now in this city.

Mr. Way, whose home office is in the Majestic building, Detroit, Mich., was deaf for over 25 years, and during all this time felt his lonesome position extremely. He was cut off almost entirely from enjoying the society of his fellowmen. He could not attend public meetings, lectures or concerts. He could not enjoy a social conversation with his friends. He was handicapped in business, and saw far less able men forging ahead of him, because of his unfortunate infirmity. He could not even talk to his own family freely and easily as he should like to have done.

No one but those who are afflicted with deafness themselves can appreciate what Mr. Way suffered.

Mr. Way will be in Los Angeles, at the Angelus, all this week, April 2 to 7 inclusive. All who are deaf should be sure to call on him, as it will cost nothing to learn whether he can help you or not. Appointments can be made by telephone if desired.

CAN'T HOPE TO HOP HERE.

HUNTINGTON BEACH TABERNACLE WILL BE FLEALESS.

Southern California Methodists Don't Want Sand-dune Hoppers Marring Their Meditations—Any Fleas Venturing Sacred Circle Will Be Given Free Bath.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 4.—It will be noted with interest by the average summer visitor to the beach that fleas are to be banished from the great tabernacle now building here in which the Methodists of Southern California will hold their summer assembly and camp meeting each year.

The floor of this auditorium will be covered with asphaltum. Its incline will be covenient for drainage and connection with water pipes will be made so that the entire floor may be flooded after each session of the assembly. This is designed not primarily as a quick and convenient way of "cleaning house," but to keep out the fleas and to dispatch to kingdom come any individual specimen of the pesky tribe which happens to find its way into the building. Work on the structure is progressing at a satisfactory rate. It is being covered with rubber roofing, and painters are applying the first coat to the building. Improvements are also being made upon the grounds surrounding the assembly hall, and the place will be a scene of beauty and fragrance, a delightful rest home for the Methodist hosts and other summer visitors to Huntington Beach.

JOE'S LUCK

Drew a Prize in Matrimonial Lottery.

"Before we were married my husband was a coffee drinker and subject to severe attacks of sick headache, which interfered with his duties as superintendent of a large factory," writes a young Massachusetts matron.

"I had made up my mind that coffee was at least partly to blame, and that I could cure him after marriage by the use of Postum Food Coffee.

"When I told my younger sister about it, she laughed and said, 'Just wait and see! After you are married you'll find that Joe will have his coffee, anyway.'

"I proceeded gradually, first eliminating by degrees the pastry and sweets from the daily menu, and as his meals were always daintily served and appetizing he began to have faith in his wife's ability as a cook.

"Meantime his headaches became less frequent, but did not cease altogether. When the time was ripe and I proposed to use Postum Food Coffee he consented upon the promise that he should have the old kind of coffee at his Sunday breakfast. He grew fond of the new food drink, however, and noted that after drinking the old coffee on Sundays he suffered from unsteady nerves and a dull, heavy feeling that he never had on the days when he drank Postum. The result was that at last he said, 'I would rather have the Postum Food Coffee Sunday morning, too, if you don't mind, my dear. The old kind makes me feel like a fool all day.' You may imagine how ready I was to fall in with this suggestion. The old kind of coffee has been banished from our table for more than two years now; Joe's headaches are only a memory and he always has steady nerves and a clear brain to meet the exacting demands of his business. On hot summer days he relishes a glass of clear, cold Postum with a squeeze of lemon, at noon, finding it most refreshing.

"In the winter I make up a pot of Postum Coffee in the evening, boiling it 15 minutes, and let it set on the back of the range till morning, when it is heated and ready to serve in a few minutes." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Classified Liners

Times "Liner" Advertisers—Important. Note Change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, the rate for Sunday "Liners" was raised to 1¼ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 70,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention. Rates one cent a word each insertion in the Daily; 1¼ cents per word in the Sunday edition; minimum charge, 25c.

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1¼ cents per word.

SOME VIEWS OF A FINANCIER

GEN. SHERMAN TALKS OF VARIOUS PROJECTS.

Profit to City in Owens River. Nevada's Mining Boom Offers Business to Those Who Go After It. Southwest Railroad Development Will Make This Supply Depot.

Gen. H. H. Sherman, who is one of the Water Commissioners of Los Angeles, was a member of the party that recently made a tour of inspection of Owens Valley. Gen. Sherman was satisfied to accept the reports of engineers and experts, and the observations of his colleagues in the River Board, in regard to the details of the Owens River project, and having gone over the route of the conduit by which water will be brought from the valley and seen that there are no great engineering difficulties to be overcome, he left the party at Lone Pine and went north by rail.

Upon his return to the city, Gen. Sherman discussed the financial side of the water project. He said: "We have the reports of government engineers and our own experts on the flow of water in Owens Valley, and we know that the city has obtained control of adequate supply. I might have looked at the river and the canals and seen water flowing in them, but such an action would have added nothing to the information already in our possession. All questions concerning the supply of water have been settled by actual observation, and are no longer debatable. The important question is: will it pay the city to bring water from Owens Valley?

PROFIT IN WATER PROJECT.

"Our engineers have told us where and how we can get water, how it can be conducted to the city and, what the project will cost. That it will be a profitable investment for Los Angeles, I have not the shadow of a doubt. Even if the city could bring down only the waters of creeks and springs which it owns absolutely, without touching the river at all, the present supply would be more than doubled, and that alone would be worth all that the work will cost. The necessity for more water is imperative. Los Angeles simply must get water or cease growing. Every property owner here realizes this fact. There is no room for argument on that point.

"We have considered the whole matter very carefully in the Water Commission, and I am convinced that the Owens River project will pay as a purely business enterprise, aside from the benefit derived by the public generally from the increase of water for domestic use. The income derived by the city from the sale of water to consumers and from utilization of power will more than pay interest on the investment."

OPPORTUNITIES NEGLECTED.

Gen. Sherman left Owens Valley to be sent over to Tonopah and other mining camps in Nevada. Asked if he had seen anything of interest to Los Angeles on that trip he replied: "Yes, I found San Francisco is hustling to get business there which might and should be shared by Los Angeles. The city is full of traveling men from San Francisco, and they are selling lumber and all sorts of supplies in large quantities, but Los Angeles merchants do not appear to be reaching for that business. There is going to be a big mining boom in Southern Nevada—and all through the mining and Los Angeles can be made the supply center of a big territory.

"Nevada is the greatest mining country I have seen. The mines are not those of assured permanency, and many of them, like the Butler, are big things. There is a great amount of freight traffic between Tonopah, and the railroad line built by the mining company has paid for itself in a year. Goldfield is a good camp also. A railroad is needed from Tonopah to Manhattan, and it would pay. Senator Clark is building a line from Las Vegas to Bullfrog, which will make Bullfrog more accessible from Los Angeles than from any other supply point, and the gap between Bullfrog and Tonopah may be covered soon by others. All the territory can be made tributary to this city, and Los Angeles should wake up and go after the business. At present there are five drummers from San Francisco to one from Los Angeles in the Nevada mining camps."

NEW TERRITORY OPENED.

"There is another piece of railroad building on which will help to make Los Angeles a center of mining activity, and that is the extension of the Southern Pacific's Sonoran line from Guaymas south to Mazatlan. Col. Stephens is now building that piece of road, one hundred miles long, for the Southern Pacific, and it will be one of the greatest mining districts in the world. It is the purpose of the Southern Pacific, I am informed, to straighten the route north from Guaymas and materially shorten the distance between that port and Nogales, thus avoiding the long detour easterly by way of Benson and Nogales. The bulk of the work in Sonora will benefit Los Angeles the nearest American city to the Gulf of California in Mexico.

RAILROAD DEVELOPMENT.

"I have no doubt the Southern Pacific will extend its line from Keeler in Owens Valley to Mojave, and that will open another good section into close touch with Los Angeles. The old Cerro Gordo mines near Keeler have been reopened and are employing about a hundred men, and there are other mines with promising prospects in the mountains around Owens Valley.

"There is a boom in railroad extension in all directions from Los Angeles, a great development of business is bound to follow. Los Angeles will get the trade of the Southwest territory by going after it. Los Angeles men see what is coming, and are preparing for it. All the roads want more cars and equipment to handle the immense and rapid increase in traffic, and they are getting busy to remedy the trouble. A million of money will be put into railroad improvement right here in the Southwest."

Mr. Sherman left the city yesterday afternoon on a trip to Arizona with Chief Randolph in the latter's private car.

DO MUCH BUILDING.

Southern Pacific Will Put Up Cars and Barns at Santa Monica.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA MONICA, April 4.—It is the authority that is usually well informed in connection with affairs of the railroad world, that the Southern Pacific, under consideration the matter of establishing on its Athletic tract here extensive repair and station shops, car barns, and such other buildings and yards will be required in the operation of steam, electric and gasoline motor cars as may center here. There is no longer any doubt of the absolute ownership of the Los Angeles electric line, this repair shops and barns are for the beach divisions and routes to the city. The road has built up the Coast will need the facilities. This new line will connect with the steam road at Port Los Angeles, while junction with the San Vicente division of the trolley line is being made by a line now being constructed into Santa Monica Cañon from Twenty-sixth street.

It is a far cry from New York, and a circuitous route for news of local railway news to travel, but New York railway and financial journals state that the object of the recent $12,000,000 bond issue of the Los Angeles-Pacific was for the purpose of extending the lines of the road up the beach from Santa Monica to Ventura.

PULL FOR MAIN LINE.

Construction and Bridge Crews Are Temporarily Taken Off Bullfrog Road.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

All men and materials have been mustered to the scene of the great washout near Caliente, to make repairs. Trains will not be able to run over the Salt Lake before April 20. The completion of the Clark branch to Beatty will be delayed until about June 15 by reason of men and materials being transferred to the main line.

Special Today: Plain black cotton hose, double soles and high spliced heel; sterling 25c grade, at three pairs for 50c.

Leather Bags $1.50

These bags on special sale today at $1.50 show in every detail their high character. In materials, in making, in strong frames, sewing, catches, handles, fittings and linings they're well worth their former prices—$1.75 to $3.00 each.

But we've comparatively few left, in envelope, Newport, Fifth Avenue and English club bag shapes—just the ones your fashionable friends are carrying—so out they hurry at $1.50 apiece.

Gold Belting $1.50 Yard.

These lines of belting embrace a number of styles and qualities. They're the odds and ends from the sorts selling so rapidly right now to women who know what is ultra-stylish. Gilt and silver combinations, diamond mesh braiding, moires, crepes de chine, fancy figured tinsel in Oriental designs, moire rainbows and plain non-crushable heavy beltings, formerly $1.75 to $3, repriced at $1.50 a yard.

French Hand Embd. Waist Fronts

Third Under Value.

A sample line of handsome, indescribably rich hand-embroidered waist fronts (with cuffs and bands to match) is ours to sell today at an average third or more under what you'd ordinarily gladly pay for like fine qualities. You've pick of some four or five dozen, very few alike, all beautifully done on pure shrunk linen, with true linen floss, so they won't wash yellow.

It's just as though you had choice from the very best Paris shops, for these fronts are the identical styles which French women are so largely wearing this summer.

Hardly necessary for us to say that the more elaborate ones will go earliest. Better be here as nearly eight as possible.

$1.50 to $4.75 for these elegant fronts. Plain linen to match in any quantity.

We've also a number of full waist patterns in batistes and Persian lawns, with embroidered fronts, collars and cuffs, which we can sell at half price, because we control the output of a leading factory.

Stylish Silks

You'll have to hunt a long time to find a better lining taffeta even at 85c, than this we offer for 75c a yard. At many stores it is considered inexpensive at 85c. 19-inch width, in all wanted colors.

Crepes de chine are exceedingly popular this season, their soft, clinging gracefulness appeals to women of refinement for evening gowns, etc. Here in 24-inch width, all shades, with black, white or ivory, $1 a yard, the equal of nearly any $1.25 quality.

One-Seam-O double width (45 inch) crepe de chine, obtainable here only, $1.50 a yard. In black, ivory and cream, with full color range.

COMES TO SHOW HE'S NOT DEAD.

VANDEVERT J. DODGE RAISED BY COURT'S TRUMPET.

Left for Corpse on Gettysburg Field, and Now on Verge of Being Declared on Other Side of the Silent River, He Resurrects Himself Down in Texas.

A dead man has come to life, and is headed for Los Angeles to make trouble. He wasn't just naturally dead, which is a very common and ordinary experience. He was officially dead, which is a much more distinguished way of accomplishing the inevitable. His name is Vandevert J. Dodge.

He has had some experience in being dead—in fact, he's quite an expert at it. He was a soldier in the Civil War. At the battle of Gettysburg he stopped a rebel bullet and was left on the field for dead. Then his early genius for avoiding the house of darkness first showed itself—he came to and walked away. But it was quite a distinction to be killed at Gettysburg, and he didn't propose that his name should go unheralded down the lists of time. So he enlisted again under another name.

In course of time he came West and prospered. Then he got him a wife, but that was where he made a mistake. His troubles preyed on him and he had funny thoughts.

One day he drove a pair of his fine horses down to Bonita Meadows to pasture. In the middle of a field well removed from society he had a long, lingering fit. When they found him next morning he was a candidate for the asylum, whither he presently went. His wife took charge of his bank account.

But the life at Patton palled on Dodge, and Christmas Eve, while all was peace on earth and the inmates were having a good time downstairs, he adjourned from there via the window and was seven degrees below the horizon on a cross-country sprint when the guards came to.

That was more than seven years ago. Now a man that isn't heard from in seven years can be officially declared dead.

He had some property besides the amounts that his wife got. It was real estate, and she didn't pay taxes on the lots. They were sold for taxes, and bought in by a real estate firm. Then the Salt Lake wanted a right of way, and brought condemnation suits against the owner of the lots. They won the condemnation, but were assessed $575 as damages. Then they wanted to know whom they had been suing, anyway—the man or the firm.

Everything got tangled up, and a suit against Dodge was started, the summons being secured by publication. But you can't summon a dead man, and somewhere about this time the court took a hand and got ready to declare the man dead.

At this Dodge resurrects himself from somewhere along the Texas border. He says he's dumbed if he's dead, and he's going to find out about it. What's more, he isn't crazy, and he can prove it. He didn't want to come back to home and family on account of the wife, but if he is going to be unjustly accused of being dead, why that's more than any man can stand. So Dodge is coming now to see about it.

AGITATION ON AT ANAHEIM AND FULLERTON.

According to Map Issued by the Pacific Electric People, La Habra, Placentia and Orange Are to Have an Electric Road, but Others Towns Expecting It Are Ignored.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

ANAHEIM, April 4.—According to a new blue print map issued by the Pacific Electric people, La Habra, Placentia and Orange are to have an electric road.

A business man in this section now has a copy of this map, but will not tell how he got it.

It shows that the next road to be built by this company in Orange county is from Santa Ana to Orange, Placentia and through La Habra Valley from east to west, on to Whittier, where it will connect with the Los Angeles line. No proposed road to either Fullerton or Anaheim is shown on the map.

J. G. Launer of La Habra says the people of East Whittier have been promised a road by Huntington if they will give him a free right of way, which the people of Whittier estimate will cost $35,000, and that Whittier will try to raise this sum. La Habra will be asked to contribute its portion.

Just Why Fullerton and Anaheim are left off the new road no one out this way can explain, as the Huntington people have told committees from both cities that he hoped to build to both places at some future time.

According to the new map, the road will run east from Whittier to a point north of Placentia, where it will turn south, going almost through the center of Placentia to Crowther's corner, and from that point on to Olive, Orange and Santa Ana.

The people of Anaheim and Fullerton who have seen the map are worked up over the proposed road, after the understanding they have had with the Huntington company.

"JANE DOE, DRUNK."

Well-dressed and Pretty Woman Is Locked Up After Creating Disturbance in Cafe.

A well-dressed and pretty young woman, accompanied by two men, caused a stir in the Palace Café last night. According to the police and management of the café, the woman was drunk when she entered the restaurant. When she demanded a drink it was refused.

This angered the members of the party and they abused the waiters in so loud and maudlin a manner that they were asked to leave the place. They refused. Then, the men, who appeared quite sober, attempted to get the woman to leave. She wouldn't budge and they left without her.

Finally the police were asked to remove the woman. She was arrested as a "drunk" but the policemen had trouble in getting her out of the café. A crowd assembled and the officers were threatened.

Carried bodily to the sidewalk, the woman sat down on the curb. She refused to get up, and cried and abused her captors until the arrival of the patrol wagon.

Then she wouldn't go into the wagon. The crowd interfered in her behalf, but to no avail. She finally was bundled into the wagon.

At the Central Police Station she declined to give her name, although the officers told her they would have her taken home as soon as she became sober. She accordingly was booked as "Jane Doe, drunk."

The crowd which had gathered outside the café followed the wagon to the station. It became so boistrous that the station doors were locked to bar out the mob.

The young woman claims to come of a good family in this city, but the policemen who took her to the station say she used language which would indicate that she had not been at home for some time.

FORMER BOOTBLACK INVENTS A WONDER INSTRUMENT.

New Industry Established in Los Angeles and First Machine Turned Out Yesterday—Capacity Twenty-six Per Day—Intricate and Delicate Mechanism and What It Does.

From bootblack to inventor of a great musical instrument has been the flight of Prof. C. S. Knight, superintendent of the Knight Saxoproulan Company of this city.

It is scarcely likely that in the wildest flights of his imagination, when he was living in cellar-holes in New York, young Knight saw himself in Los Angeles presiding over the destiny of an industry that promises to become a great industry, backed by abundant capital and installed in its own building. His inventions are the saxonette pianoplayer, the automatic orchestra, and a wonderful machine for producing perforated music.

Knight was born in Maine forty-two years ago, but despite all that he has gone through, looks a full ten years younger. At the age of 9 he found himself a bootblack in New York. From this calling he graduated to that of a newsboy, which brought him into contact with some of the great financiers of the city, and he later became a messenger in the office of Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Most boys would have felt content with their prospects for advancement under such conditions, but Knight was made up of a different grade of material and at the age of 14 he had gone to sea as a cabin boy. Long voyages gave opportunity for the development of his musical talent, and this attracted the attention of his acquaintances, and through one of them he was led to go to Germany and seek a place as an apprentice in the manufacture of musical instruments. He excelled at making organs, harmonicas, melodeons and many other kinds of instruments, both in Switzerland and Germany and when he returned to his native land he was a master of his trade.

From his very earliest experience he had dreams of inventing an instrument that would produce its tones after the manner of the human larynx, and this invention now claims to have accomplished in the automatic descriptive orchestra, which in its smaller sizes resembles a piano, but which will be built to represent the greatest orchestras of 500 musicians.

The chief characteristic of this great orchestral combination is that it is entirely automatic, manipulating its own expression and solo-stops without noise or hitch, or it may be played manually, as a pipe organ, or any instrument to be played separately. The instrument is entirely original and the one on which a demonstration was given today is claimed to be the first of its kind ever made.

The piano-player is designed to be used in your own piano and his genius has accomplished what nearly all musicians will tell you to be impossible, a safe divorce of mechanical effect and music rendered. To do this requires an expert operator, just as an expert musician is required to produce music from the keyboard. The piano-player is placed inside the case of any piano without any change in the piano appearance, except for two extra pedals, and it is by these that the control is given to the music to a large degree. It does not interfere in any way with the piano, which can be used in the usual way.

Knight seems really to be the most intricate and complicated of all, is the music that perforates the music to be used in the two instruments. It is a beautiful piece of mechanism, standing ten feet or more in height, constructed principally of mahogany, with nickel-plated tubing and miles of small rubber tubing. This is the duplicator, which produces ten sheets at one and the same time, while the master-cutter is a cabinet organ. A piece of music is played upon the keys of the master-cutter and the ten duplicates are the result.

J. Waters, cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, is president of the Saxoproulan Company; S. A. Brown, secretary; G. A. Timmings, general manager, and C. S. Knight, superintendent. They occupy a four-story building at No. 234 South Los Angeles street, equipped at a cost of about $50,000, with a capacity of twenty machines a day.

Here another great industry for Los Angeles, for everything is made right here from the raw material. Some of the machines in the planing mill or cabinet-and-in the machine shop are the inventions of Prof. Knight, and are created automatically for the absolute accurate reproduction of various parts of the delicate instruments.

Long voyages gave opportunity for the development of his musical talent, and this attracted the attention of his acquaintances, and through one of them he was induced to go to Germany and seek a position as an apprentice in the manufactory of musical instruments. He worked at making organs, harmonicas, accordeons and many other kinds of instruments, both in Switzerland and Germany, and when he returned to his native land he was a master of his craft.

From his very earliest experience he had dreams of inventing an instrument that would produce its tones after the manner of the human larynx, and this he claims to have accomplished in the automatic descriptive orchestra, which in its smaller sizes resembles a piano, but which will be built to represent the greatest orchestra of 500 musicians.

Inside the driveway used by the patrol wagons a crack about a quarter of an inch wide has opened, showing that the wall has separated from the asphalt paving of the driveway.

Contractor John Thomas, in charge of the excavation, has had trouble from the start. The rains soaked the ground and the sides of the hole caved in. He became so alarmed that he put an extra force of men at work yesterday afternoon constructing trestle braces. These braces, the contractor says, will hold everything in place unless something unforeseen happens.

WEST ATTRACTS FAMOUS BRUSH.

LOCKWOOD DE FOREST PAINTS CALIFORNIA SCENES.

Distinguished New York Artist Finds in Palm Springs Inspiration for Theme.—Traveler in Many Lands, He Draws Interesting Comparisons—Winters at Santa Barbara.

Lockwood de Forest of New York, one of America's most distinguished landscape painters, passed through Los Angeles yesterday, returning from a trip on the Colorado Desert to Santa Barbara, where, with his wife, daughter and younger son, he has been spending the winter.

Mr. de Forest has "discovered" Palm Springs, that oasis nook of the desert lying under the shouldering protection of San Jacinto, out of the track of the desert winds that so frequently come rushing up to the narrow San Gorgonio Pass, and shielded at the same time by the mountain barrier from the rain-laden winter clouds blown in from the ocean.

He is enthusiastic about this beauty spot of Southern California, with its cañons, and noble palms, its expanse of plain carpeted at the present time with four-score varieties of wild flowers, its sturdy mesquites, yellow-blossomed palo verde trees, diversified cacti and other wealth of vegetation, and, last, but not least, its nesting song birds that, attracted by the rich greenery of the Palm Springs settlement, salute each dawn with a chorussed carol, the exquisite charm of which cannot be conveyed by either the painter in oils or the painter in words.

This is the home of Wellwood Murray, a patriarchical Scot, who, during twenty years, has planted numerous varieties of semi-tropical trees, many of them brought from far corners of the earth.

To his study of California scenery, Mr. de Forest brings the experiences of a widely traveled man. In his early youth, encouraged to adopt the artist's profession by Frederic E. Church, one of New York's greatest art teachers, he studied in Rome. Returning at frequent intervals to his native land, he has toured several times Egypt, Palestine, Syria and Greece. In 1881 and 1882 he spent eighteen months in India, traversing that vast country from north to south, lingering especially in the valleys of Cashmere, and journeying to the borders of Thibet.

At the city of Ahmedabad he was struck with the decay of the native art of good-carving and he started a school to resuscitate it. He had over a hundred students brought under his stimulating influence, and their work he subsequently exhibited at the Royal Colonial Institute in London, and the Chicago Columbian Exposition, gaining gold medals in both instances. Sir Purdon Clarke, the director of the New York Metropolitan Museum, and the world's greatest authority on the industrial arts, has described these exhibits of wood-carving as the finest ever brought out of India.

It was this excursion into the realms of industrial art that brought Mr. de Forest into association with Louis E. Tiffany and Mrs. Wheeler in forming in the year 1878, the organization first known as the Associated Artists of New York, now the Tiffany Studios. He was elected a National Academician in 1898, and since 1902 has been treasurer of the academy. He has been a consistent exhibitor at the academy since 1871, and his pictures at Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis Expositions have made his work known all over America. Landscape painting is his special line, and to this he virtually restricts himself.

In conversation with a representative of The Times, Mr. de Forest freely gave his impressions of Southern California. He has found our scenery, with its vast sweep of mountain and plain, and with its often absolutely barren mountain sides so different in sentiment from the tree-clothed ranges of the East, fascinating and inspiring. Our coast scenery, he says, reminds him of Greece, and in the lights of our early mornings there are reminiscences of India.

He is enamored of the desert as its possibilities for the artist are infinite, and it opens up quite a new realm for studies in colors. The free life of the West, too, unhampered by conventionalities, says Mr. de Forest, is of the highest educational value to every lover of art.

"My one severe criticism of our country," remarked Mr. de Forest, "is that America does not support its own artists. The buyers of pictures go abroad, and return with truck of any sort. This kills our own school of art, for many of our artists must starve or dissipate their undoubted abilities by recourse to teaching, whereby to earn a livelihood.

It is so different in Great Britain. There what the people love they support, and so the profession of the artist is nurtured, and the soul of the painter is permitted to expand to its highest possibilities. Here he is condemned to public indifference and therefore to drudgery."

Mr. de Forest is a close personal friend of Rudyard Kipling. In India he met the famous story writer's father, John Lockwood Kipling, the head of the Art School at Lahore; and when the son first came to America it was to Mr. de Forest's home in New York. So on the occasion of Kipling's subsequent visits and on prolonged sojourn, the two men have been always in closest touch. So Mr. de Forest, in addition to his rich store of art experiences, has a fund of most interesting literary reminiscences from which to draw. But, as Kipling himself would say—"That is another story."

The artist proposes revisiting Palm Springs before turning his face for home. He will break the journey East by a stay of a few weeks in the Grand Cañon of Colorado. Next winter he hopes to return to Southern California.

A GOOD STIMULANT IN CASE OF FATIGUE

There are times when every one feels the need of a "bracer." Overwork, worry or excess reduce the system so that stimulation is necessary to avoid collapse.

The objection to most "bracers" is that the stimulation is only temporary at best—with reaction we are left in a worse state than at first.

People who are called upon for long continued and severe mental and physical exertion have found that Cudahy's Rex Extract of Beef furnishes what is probably the only stimulant known that leaves no bad after effects. It is particularly valuable for use when sudden and immediate increase in strength is necessary.

For the confused and exhausted condition of body and mind which is the result of excess or overtaxing the strength, Rex Extract is unequaled. Even the weakest stomach can retain it when all other stimulants are refused, and its invigorating and strengthening effects are immediately apparent.

Rex Extract of Beef should not be confused with old-fashioned beef tea or with other brands of extract now on the market. It is prepared by a process of simmering only the finest selected lean beef over a slow fire. Most beef extracts are boiled, which extracts the flavor only, destroying the food value of the beef. Rex Extract contains all the strength building, invigorating qualities of fine beef, but in a form that is readily assimilated. Forty-five pounds of beef are required to make one pound of Rex Extract. It is invaluable as a beverage, as a food for those with digestive disorders, for culinary purposes, in camp and traveling. Grocers and druggists sell Rex Extract. Refuse the many imitations now sold.

GIVES WORLD NEW MUSIC.

FORMER BOOTBLACK INVENTS A WONDER INSTRUMENT.

The Industry Established in Los Angeles and First Machine Turned Out Yesterday—Capacity Twenty-Five Per Day—Intricate and Delicate Mechanism and What It Does.

From bootblack to inventor of a musical instrument has been the life of Prof. C. S. Knight, superintendent of the Knight Saxopronian Company of this city.

It is scarcely likely that in the wild-cat dreams of his imagination, when he was living in cellar-holes in New York, Knight saw himself in Los Angeles presiding over the destiny of a business to become a great industry, backed by abundant capital and installed in its own building. His instruments are the saxonette pianoforte, the automatic orchestra, and the wonderful machine for producing perfect music.

Knight was born in Maine forty-two years ago, but despite all that he has gone through, looks a full ten years younger. At the age of 9 he found himself a bootblack in New York. From his calling he graduated to that of newsboy, which brought him into contact with some of the great financiers of the city, and he later became a messenger in the office of Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Few boys would have felt content with their prospects for advancement under such conditions, but Knight was made up of a different grade of material and at the age of 14 he had shipped as a cabin boy. Long voyages gave opportunity for the development of his musical talent, and this attracted the attention of his acquaintances and through one of them he was able to go to Germany and seek a position as an apprentice in the manufacture of musical instruments. He worked at making organs, harmonicas, accordeons and many other kinds of instruments, both in Switzerland and Germany, and when he returned to his native land he was a master of his craft.

It was in his very earliest experience he conceived the idea of inventing an instrument that would produce its tones after the manner of the human larynx, and this ambition to have accomplished in automatic descriptive orchestra, which is its smaller sizes resembles a piano but which will be built to represent the greatest orchestra of 500 musicians.

The chief characteristic of this great musical combination is that it is entirely automatic, manipulating its own keyboard and solo-stops without noise and that it may be played manually, by the foot organ, or any instrument may be played separately. The instrument is entirely original and the one upon which a demonstration was given yesterday is claimed to be the first of its kind ever made.

The piano-player is designed to be used with your own piano and his genius has accomplished what nearly all experts will tell you to be impossible, the divorce of mechanical effect from the music rendered. To do this requires an expert operator, just as an ordinary musician is required to produce music from the keyboard. This instrument is placed inside the case of the piano without any change in its appearance, except for two extra pedals, and it is by these that the expression is given to the music to a marked degree. It does not interfere in any way with the piano, which can be played in the usual way.

The saxonette is really to be the most interesting and complicated of all, is the device that perforates the music to be played by the two instruments. It is a delicate piece of mechanism, standing four or more in height, constructed principally of mahogany, with coiled tubing and miles of small wire within. This is the duplicator, which produces ten sheets at one and the same time, while the master-cutter perforates a cabinet organ. A piece of music is played upon the keys of the instrument and the ten duplicates are cut.

Mr. Myers, cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, is president of the Knight Company; S. A. Brown, secretary; G. A. Timmings, general manager, and C. S. Knight, superintendent. They occupy a four-story building at No. 214 South Los Angeles street, erected at a cost of about $50,000, with a capacity of twenty-five pianos a day.

There is another great industry for Los Angeles, for everything is made in the factory from the raw material. Some of the machines in the planing mill or for sawing, and in the machine shop are the inventions of Prof. Knight, and work automatically for the absolutely correct reproduction of various parts of the delicate instruments.

SHAKY FOR COURT.

Justice Austin Adjourns Session Because of Fear That Police Station Might Collapse.

The fact that Superintendent of Buildings Backus declares the Central Police Station building to be in a dangerous and unsafe condition, there is no immediate danger among occupants of the building that it collapse.

Investigation began for a new police station, there were ominous snappings and groanings. When two cracks appeared in the wall yesterday there was a general fleeing for a while.

Some of the cracks shows on the ceiling of Justice Austin's courtroom, and the other in his private office. The justice and others were first startled by the falling of small pieces of plaster from the ceiling and wall.

Justice Austin immediately adjourned court, and order the doors locked. While no cracks are discernible on the outside of the wall, the huge pile of brick is declared to be settling. Inside the driveway used by the patrol wagons a crack about a quarter of an inch wide has opened, showing that the wall has separated from the asphalt paving of the driveway.

Contractor John Thomas, in charge of the excavation, has had trouble from the start. The rains soaked the ground and the sides of the hole caved in. He became so alarmed that he put an extra force of men at work yesterday afternoon constructing trestle braces. These braces, the contractor says, will hold everything in place unless something unforeseen happens.

WEST ATTRACTS FAMOUS BRUSH.

LOCKWOOD DE FOREST PAINTS CALIFORNIA SCENES.

Distinguished New York Artist Finds in Palm Springs Inspiration for Theme — Traveler in Many Lands, He Draws Interesting Comparisons—Winters at Santa Barbara.

Lockwood de Forest of New York, one of America's most distinguished landscape painters, passed through Los Angeles yesterday, returning from a trip on the Colorado Desert to Santa Barbara, where, with his wife, daughter and younger son, he has been spending the winter.

Mr. de Forest has "discovered" Palm Springs, that oasis nook of the desert lying under the shouldering protection of San Jacinto, out of the track of the desert winds that so frequently come rushing up to the narrow San Gorgonio Pass, and shielded at the same time by the mountain barrier from the rain-laden winter clouds blown in from the ocean.

He is enthusiastic about this beauty spot of Southern California, with its cañons, and noble palms, its expanse of plain carpeted at the present time with four-score varieties of wild flowers, its sturdy mesquites, yellow-blossomed palo verde trees, diversified cacti and other wealth of vegetation, and, last, but not least, its nesting song birds that, attracted by the rich greenery of the Palm Springs settlement, salute each dawn with a chorus-ed carol, the exquisite charm of which cannot be conveyed by either the painter in oils or the painter in words.

This is the home of Wellwood Murray, a patriarchical Scot, who, during twenty years, has planted numerous varieties of semi-tropical trees, many of them brought from far corners of the earth.

To his study of California scenery, Mr. de Forest brings the experiences of a widely traveled man. In his early youth, encouraged to adopt the artist's profession by Frederic E. Church, one of New York's greatest art teachers, he studied in Rome. Returning at frequent intervals to his native land, he has toured several times Egypt, Palestine, Syria and Greece. In 1881 and 1882 he spent eighteen months in India, traversing that vast country from north to south, lingering especially in the valleys of Cashmere, and journeying to the borders of Thibet.

At the city of Ahmedabad he was struck with the decay of the native art of good-carving and he started a school to resuscitate it. He had over a hundred students brought under his stimulating influence, and their work he subsequently exhibited at the Royal Colonial Institute in London, and the Chicago Columbian Exposition, gaining gold medals in both instances. Sir Purdon Clarke, the director of the New York Metropolitan Museum, and the world's greatest authority on the industrial arts, has described these exhibits of wood-carving as the finest ever brought out of India.

It was this excursion into the realms of industrial art that brought Mr. de Forest into association with Louis E. Tiffany and Mrs. Wheeler in forming in the year 1878, the organization first known as the Associated Artists of New York, now the Tiffany Studios. He was elected a National Academician in 1898, and since 1903 has been treasurer of the academy. He has been a consistent exhibitor at the academy since 1871, and his pictures at Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis Expositions have made his work known all over America. Landscape painting is his special line, and to this he virtually restricts himself.

In conversation with a representative of The Times, Mr. de Forest freely gave his impressions of Southern California. He has found our scenery, with its vast sweep of mountain and plain, and with its often absolutely barren mountain sides so different in sentiment from the tree-clothed ranges of the East, fascinating and inspiring. Our coast scenery, he says, reminds him of Greece, and in the lights of our early mornings there are reminiscences of India.

He is enamored of the desert as its possibilities for the artist are infinite, and it opens up quite a new realm for studies in colors. The free life of the West, too, unhampered by conventionalities, says Mr. de Forest, is of the highest educational value to every lover of art.

"My one severe criticism of our country," remarked Mr. de Forest, "is that America does not support its own artists. The buyers of pictures go abroad, and return with truck of any sort. This kills our own school of art, for many of our artists must starve or dissipate their undoubted abilities by recourse to teaching, whereby to earn a livelihood.

It is so different in Great Britain. There what the people love they support, and so the profession of the artist is nurtured, and the soul of the painter is permitted to expand to its highest possibilities. Here he is condemned to public indifference and therefore to drudgery."

Mr. de Forest is a close personal friend of Rudyard Kipling. In India he met the famous story writer's father, John Lockwood Kipling, the head of the Art School at Lahore; and when the son first came to America it was to Mr. de Forest's home in New York. So on the occasion of Kipling's subsequent visits and on prolonged sojourn, the two men have been always in closest touch. So Mr. de Forest, in addition to his rich store of art experiences, has a fund of most interesting literary reminiscences from which to draw. But, as Kipling himself would say—"That is another story."

The artist proposes revisiting Palm Springs before turning his face for home. He will break the journey East by a stay of a few weeks in the Grand Cañon of Colorado. Next winter he hopes to return to Southern California.

A GOOD STIMULANT IN CASE OF FATIGUE

There are times when every one feels the need of a "bracer." Overwork, worry or excess reduce the system so that stimulation is necessary to avoid collapse.

The objection to most "bracers" is that the stimulation is only temporary at best—with reaction we are left in a worse state than at first.

People who are called upon for long continued and severe mental and physical exertion have found that Cudahy's Rex Extract of Beef furnishes what is probably the only stimulant known that leaves no bad after effects. It is particularly valuable for use when sudden and immediate increase in strength is necessary.

For the confused and exhausted condition of body and mind which is the result of excess or overtaxing the strength, Rex Extract is unequaled. Even the weakest stomach can retain it when all other stimulants are refused, and its invigorating and strengthening effects are immediately apparent.

Rex Extract of Beef should not be confused with old-fashioned beef tea or with other brands of extract now on the market. It is prepared by a process of simmering only the finest selected lean beef over a slow fire. Most beef extracts are boiled, which extracts the flavor only, destroying the food value of the beef. Rex Extract contains all the strength building, invigorating qualities of fine beef, but in a form that is readily assimilated. Forty-five pounds of beef are required to make one pound of Rex Extract. It is invaluable as a beverage, as a food for those with digestive disorders, for culinary purposes, in camp and traveling. Grocers and druggists sell Rex Extract. Refuse the many imitations now sold.

PLAYHOUSES AND PLAYERS.

Mason Operahouse.

After numerous misadventures and a vexatious delay of forty-eight hours, "Little Johnny Jones" has come to town at last, bringing with him his big aggregation of lively music, stunning costumes and pretty girls. Evidently the large and expectant audience that greeted "Johnny" at the Mason last night was not disappointed in him, for the musical play won hearty applause from start to finish.

There are many catchy songs scattered through "Little Johnny Jones," and they are sung with spirit and éclat, if not always with particularly fine voices or particularly well-placed ones. The figures in the dances are occasionally graceful, and sometimes unique, and always done with flawless precision.

The plot—well, neither the plot nor the play is the thing in "Little Johnny Jones." Yet for all that, a few of the actors do some excellent work in it, notably Tom Lewis in The Unknown, whose characterization is clean-cut and fine enough to grace the best comedy ever written. Bobby Barry also does some excellent work in the part of the irrepressible little jockey, Johnny Jones.

There are a few surprisingly good scenic effects in the play, the departure of the steamboat from the dock, and a view of it in mid-ocean by night, being both realistic and poetic at the same time.

FLESH, white, pink, brunette. Satin skin powder is made in 4 dainty tints, 25c.

FOR SALE—
Six beautiful lots in Highland Park; street improved; owner will sell two cheap; quick buyer gets a bargain.
EAGLE ROCK. EAGLE ROCK.
Beautiful Eagle Rock, the prettiest valley in Southern California. It far excels Hollywood, Glendale, Highland Park or Garvanza. All it needs is car lines. And that will be running within 30 days. Those who buy now will double their money in a few months, or buy a site for home in 20 minutes of First and Spring for almost nothing. Frontage in Hollywood is bringing $150 front foot; in Highland Park over $60. It will only be a short time before Eagle Rock will forge ahead of either of these. Now $10-$15 foot will buy the best. No better investment was ever presented to the public. Come out and see this valley, it will cost you nothing but a good ride and a sight that will do your eyes good. All we want is an opportunity to confer. We have handled every acre, foot and know it from A to Z. We can sell lots of all sizes or acreage from 1 to 50. Any who invest now reap from 50 to 100 per cent, in less than two years, and most of it in a few months. Call at our main office 721 Trust Bldg., cor. Second and Spring sts., where you will get free transportation and further particulars. Get off Avenue 52, Highland Park. Call at Bon Accord.

Ghirardelli's Cocoa is a food. Why?

Because the D. Ghirardelli Co. uses a new process that retains in the cocoa every property of the cocoa-bean.

In the cocoa-bean is more nitrogen—for mental force than in wheat flour; twenty times as much fatty matter—for reserve; and a considerable proportion of starch—for energy.

The delicious aroma and flavor in excites your appetite—the richness wins your appreciation. The color of the cocoa is darker than in other brands. That results from the retention of the cocoa-bean oil, the most important accomplishment of the new process.

Years Ago It Was The Custom For dentists to extract ALL teeth. Now this has changed, vice versa. Too many dentists are eager to fill teeth which are wholly unfit to be left in the mouth. It is a wise and skillful dentist who knows when a tooth should be saved, and when it should be given up to be replaced by other means.

Since teeth can be filled by the SCHIFFMAN METHOD without pain and with perfect safety, it is but common sense to have them attended to when only a small filling is required instead of waiting until only a shell is left and the expense more than doubled.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he removed the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain.
JUDSON R. RUSH, of Davis & Rush, Attorneys, 217 New High St.

It gives me great pleasure to state that Dr. Schiffman extracted an impacted wisdom tooth for me, which had been giving me great annoyance for years, and extracted absolutely without a particle of pain to me. It was easily worth 100 times the amount paid.
ROBERT MARSH, of Robert Marsh & Co., 202-203 H. W. Hellman Bldg.

Dr. Schiffman has extracted ten teeth for me, and I never felt the least annoyance, the operation being absolutely painless. He has made me a set of teeth that are highly satisfactory. They fit perfectly and feel fine.
I cheerfully recommend the doctor as a conscientious, efficient, painstaking dentist to any and all that require his services.
MRS. W. L. EWING, 1142 E. Thirty-eighth St.

Dr. Schiffman extracted eight teeth for me without a particle of pain, and afterwards made me a full upper flexible plate, which fits me perfectly.
I have given them a good test, as it has been a year and a half since they were made. I gladly recommend the doctor to all who are in need of dental services.
MRS. EMMA BIRKLE, 420 South Moline Avenue.

Dr. Schiffman fitted me with both upper and lower bridge work, which I have worn for over a year with perfect ease and satisfaction.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE OF THE REPUBLICANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Republicans of the Senate and House of Representatives met in joint caucus at the close of the session of the House, today, and selected members of the Republican Congress Committee. Senator Allison called the caucus to order. In doing so he directed attention to the fact that this was the first step in a campaign which would doubtless prove very interesting, and the importance of which was apparent. He named Speaker Cannon as presiding officer of the meeting and the Speaker was received with applause.

The Speaker briefly referred to the situation, indicating the campaign was already being made, and the result in November depended upon legislation now being enacted. He counseled carefulness, a strict attention to business, economy and justness in appropriations. The committee was then named. A meeting of the committee for organization will be called either the last of this week or the first of next.

LADS HELD FOR INDIO ROBBERY.

PROPERTY OF BEATEN VICTIM IS FOUND UPON THEM.

Prisoners Captured at Yuma for Attacking and Nearly Killing J. Herzekoff, the Los Angeles Merchant, on the Desert—Taken to Riverside.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two little boys are lying in the County Jail accused of beating a Los Angeles merchant, J. Herzekoff, almost to death with a piece of gas pipe. The crime was committed on the Indio desert last Saturday.

The boys are William Cunningham, aged 15, and James Kelly, between 17 and 20. Both have led hard lives among hobos.

The younger boy was arrested here about twelve days ago after he had escaped almost instant death in the ice box of a refrigerator car at Colton. One of his companions lies in the hospital with a crushed foot, owing to the crash of the ice block sent down the delivery chute.

Herzekoff is a man about 40 years of age, who is supposed to have been beaten almost to death by these two youngsters. He was robbed of a Swiss watch attached to a black ribbon fob and gold, locket, three $5 gold pieces and $4.50 in silver. The money was contained in a long yelow purse opening on top with a peculiar clasp, and the man carried with him an old brown leather grip.

Most of the articles have been recovered from the boys. They were arrested at Yuma and brought here where they are confined separately. Neither has made a complete confession, although both boys admit facts concerning their connection with the beating and robbing, which will likely convict them.

There is something pathetic about the boys, both of whom are big-eyed and honest looking, but the influences of their hard life with desperadoes is only too apparent. Cunningham was arrested here after the Colton accident, under the name of George Howard, and was released after being given a night's lodging. He claimed to be a resident of El Paso.

NEITHER "SCUM" NOR "CATTLE."

IMMIGRANTS ARE DEFENDED BY WOMEN IN TOLEDO COUNCIL.

Mrs. Florence E. Kelly Delivers a "Roast" of Mrs. I. C. Manchester, Who Used Opprobrious Terms in Her Report—Resolutions Adopted Providing for Bust of Miss Anthony.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO (O.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Cattle," "human refuse," "pestilential human rubbish." These terms, used synonymously and characterizing the great number of aliens in a report on the subject of immigration, delivered by Mrs. I. C. Manchester of Providence, R. I., were the cause of the most stirring scenes yet enacted on the floor of the convention hall of the Women's Council.

Just as Mrs. Manchester had finished reading her report, in which these terms appeared, Mrs. Florence E. Kelly arose, and, with cool sarcasm, asked whether the report was to be published.

DELIVERS A SCORCHING.

Discovering that it was likely to be, she in no uncertain manner gave Mrs. Manchester a scorching for speaking of the human beings who became citizens of the United States.

The council, almost as a body, declared that it would not "stand for" such names as "cattle," "scum of humanity" and the like being applied to the unfortunate people who come to America.

The discussion which followed the report was warm and spirited, and feeling ran high. After much sparring, the report was tabled.

BUST OF MISS ANTHONY.

The convention at its morning session adopted resolutions providing for the erection of a memorial to Susan B. Anthony in the Capitol at Washington. The memorial, which is to be a bronze bust, will cost $1000, and will be unveiled in the fall.

GOTHAM'S "WHITE SLAVES."

The afternoon session witnessed a somewhat sensational scene when Mrs. Elizabeth Granniss of New York delivered her report on the National Christian League. She remarked in no uncertain terms that New York City was, in proportion, the worst city in the country, because of the fact that there was a larger proportion of supposedly good men in high life keeping "white slaves" than elsewhere. She said that this condition obtained because the Legislature was so fixed that it would not pass a bill making living in adultery criminal.

The Ohio Legislature came in for its share of censure, for failure to provide satisfactory child labor laws.

SNOW IN SUNNY CALIFORNIA

"THE BEAUTIFUL" DESCENDS IN FLURRYING FLAKES.

"Peaks of Pine and Plains of Palm" Are Whitened by the Crystal Mantle of Old Boreas — Higher Mountains Yet White, but Elsewhere the Snow Was Short-lived.

Snow has been falling in the mountains, and the higher peaks wear white caps, while many of the canyons are filled with banks of it. On Big Lowe there was a light snowfall, and about a half an hour, but the ground was wet and the snow melted as it fell.

Late in the evening a little snow fell in Altadena, and North Pasadena, as well as San Bernardino, experienced a white flurry for a few moments, but the snow was mixed with rain and did not whiten the ground to any extent.

Tonight there is some snow on Mt. Mountain and the ravines considerably farther down the mountain sides contain a little, but the fall was light in most places and the ground did not remain covered very long after the cessation of the downfall. On Mt. Wilson there is still a little snow, but the trail has not been covered to any extent and a day of sunshine will take away what traces there are of the storm.

About 1 o'clock this morning the clouds cleared away and it was possible to distinguish the snow-capped tops of the upper mountain ranges outlined against the black sky.

Tonight there is a heavy cloud over Altadena and as cold weather is reported from that section there is no prospect of a heavy fall in the mountains during the night if the wind, which is blowing at a brisk rate, does not dispel the clouds.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC ELECTION.

NEW YORK, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Pacific Company, held at Louisville, George J. Gould, James H. Hyde, Otto H. Kahn, Winslow S. Pierce, James Speyer, Jacob H. Schiff and Charles H. Tweed were not reelected. The new directors chosen to take their places are: Henry W. Deforest, Roswell Evarts, Robert Goelet, R. S. Lovett, Ogden Mills and A. K. Wadsworth.

The retirement of Schiff and Tweed, members of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was unexpected, as the members of the firm recently announced their intention of retiring from all the railroad boards with which they have been connected. Gould recently left the Union Pacific board, and in view of his plans in building the Western Pacific it is understood that he would retire from the directorates of the Harriman lines.

Comment was made regarding the resignation of James Speyer and Charles H. Tweed. They declined to discuss the matter. It was ascertained from authoritative sources, however, that the members of Speyer & Co. have no intention of resigning from any of the directorates.

NOT SIGNIFICANT.

BOSTON (Mass.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A member of the firm of Speyer & Co. this afternoon said that the retirement of James Speyer and Charles H. Tweed of that firm from the Board of Directors of the Southern Pacific Company was without particular significance.

Copies of the articles of the Idaho Trunk Line Railroad, a Montana corporation, were also filed this morning. The road is to start at a point on the Columbia River near the mouth of the Deschutes River, and run along the Columbia, thence through central Oregon, a distance of 300 miles. LOVE LETTERS OF DOWIE OUT.

Epistles to Swiss Heiress Ardent and Striking.

"Yours Till Devil Freezes," He Wrote Ruth.

Apostle Must Keep Mouth Shut or Go to Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Love Letters of an Apostle" is the title given the latest volume added to Zion City's library of scandal. The fervid letters written by Dowie to Ruth Hofer, the pretty Swiss heiress, while she was staying at Elijah Lodge, were made public today. Overstone Dowie has forty more of the letters, to be produced as a striking feature of the great warfare promised by Dowie's arrival in his former realm. The only little lump of gold" was the name bestowed upon the girl by her lovely swain. THE letter, continued: "I want to hear again your expressions of faith, because they give me great hope in the womanhood of Zion. You have demonstrated to me that Christ is to rule in the spirits, souls and bodies of my people. Come to me often today and pray with me.

"Yours till the devil freezes,
"JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE."

The other letter reads: "Child of my heart: The devil is at work. He has stolen his way into my home. Fear not the harsh words of women possessed of evil thoughts. The Lord is with you to me. He spoke unto me in visions. The trials you have undergone were merely to test your faith. Be strong always and until the world eat up my body.

"JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE."

Ninety-four charges of obtaining money by false pretenses will be preferred against Dowie, according to latest plans. Investors in land and stock in Zion City have been canvassed and that number of persons who are willing to proceed against him were found. It is planned to have him arrested in Chicago, it is declared, immediately on his arrival from Mexico, next week, and before he has had an opportunity to go to Zion City, where, it is feared, he would create a disturbance.

Those who realise that Dowie will return to it like a roaring lion. He will be arrested before he leaves the train and intimates what his future status in Zion will be," said Deacon Piper. "He will find that unless he keeps his mouth shut and his voice out of Zion's affairs he will be jailed.

"There is no doubt that if the old man gets to shedding crocodile tears and asserting about the city, or gets the people gathered at Shiloh Temple, he will get a chance to weep and he will cause a dissension in effort to put Zion back upon its feet.

"Overseer Fielding Wilhite, named by Dowie as his representative, dispatched a telegram to the "apostle," advising him to delay his return to Zion until he was told, the feeling was against him.

VOLIVA AS RECEIVER.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 4.—It was decided today by Overseer Voliva of Zion City that in view of the announced return of Alexander Dowie from Mexico, who declared intention of making war against the action suspending him from office, the present overseer be appointed receiver of the property of Zion and of all the public property standing in the name of the church.

The courts will probably be asked to name Voliva as receiver within the next few days. It was also asserted that the officers of Zion City that if Dowie returns and commences legal action against the present officers of the church, or attempts to oust them, will cause his arrest and prosecution on the charge of misuse of funds.

Overseer Voliva, acting under the power of attorney he holds from Dowie, filed with the office of the County Recorder in this county an assignment to Alexander Granger of all the property and bequests that have been given to Dowie, and are still unpaid.

Word was today received by Granger from Alexander Granger, reading as follows: "You are hereby removed from your office as general financial manager, and all your powers. I warn you, should you undertake to exercise any authority as financial manager, it will be regarded as criminal."

Deacon Granger, after receiving the message, declared that he would pay no attention to it, but would continue to discharge his duties as financial manager of Zion City.

DEACON ON THE FENCE.

Whether Voliva and other officers of Zion City today called upon Deacon Piper, the newly-appointed representative of Dowie, who was named by Dowie as Voliva's successor in a message sent by Dowie from Mexico, whether he proposed to act with Voliva in behalf of Dowie. He refused positively to say whether or not he would endeavor to regain possession of Zion City and Zion Church for Dowie.

Piper, however, sent a message to Dowie as follows:

"Be advised that telegraphic powers of attorney are not effective. Titles to real and personal property passed today. Instruments conveying property executed by your attorney in fact, Granger. Am powerless to act or control. Recommend that you remain there and consider particular your full report from me before I return here. Feeling very strong against you here. Wire reply.

PROPERTY TRANSFERRED.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CINCINNATI, April 4.—Soon after word came from Zion City today of the death of W. D. Yerger of this city, there was filed a deed for all property of the Church of Zion located in the city of Cincinnati, transferring it to Alexander Granger, financial agent. The deed was signed by J. Alexander Dowie, by his attorney, Wilbur Voliva. The consideration named was $1, setting follows that taken in connection with the fact that Dowie is going to the absolute separation from the church of which he is the head.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Burglar's Short Haul.

A burglar entered the grocery store of Adams and Hellinghausen, No. 216 West Fifth street, Tuesday evening, and rifled the cash drawer, of stamps to the amount of $2, and a few cents in change.

Engine Hits Wagon.

A wagon driven by L. P. Paulson of No. 1200 East Fourteenth street was struck by a Southern Pacific switch engine yesterday at Fourth and Alameda streets. Paulson was thrown from the wagon but escaped with a sprained ankle. His wagon and team were only slightly damaged.

"Accidental Death," Says Jury.

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned by the Coroner's jury in the case of Ralph Byers, killed by a Santa Fé train Monday morning. The inquest was held yesterday, opening at 10 o'clock. It was 2 o'clock in the afternoon before all the evidence was in, and the jury remained out six hours before a verdict could be reached.

Detective Shake-up.

The expected shake-up in the Los Angeles detective force came yesterday, when nearly all the "teams" were broken up and the sleuths given different working partners. Patrolman Samuel McKenzie, who has been detailed to attend the patrol wagon, was put on as a probationary detective and will work with Detective McNamara for the present.

Greek Picnic in Kilts.

Greeks in the fetching kilts and panties of their ancestors will disport at Schuetzen Park Sunday in honor of Greek Independence Day. The picnic will be under the auspices of the Greek Benevolent Society. It is expected that about 200 will be there. There will be Greek races, tug of war, and Greek national dances, all in the national costume. After the programme there will be dancing in American style.

Christian Science Temple.

Christian Scientists have in contemplation the erection of a magnificent temple in the near future, though the matter has not yet gone far enough to have plans take definite shape. Some time ago they secured a fine site on Adams street, just east of Hoover, and it is here they propose building, and in an undefined way the expenditure has been placed at $100,000, which would produce a structure of fine character.

Abusive to His Family?

Mitchell Bruce was locked up in the City Jail at midnight last night, charged with having brutally assaulted his wife and daughter at their home, No. 650 North Grand avenue. Bruce returned home from his work, and finding his daughter reclining on a bed which he was about to occupy, is alleged to have immediately become abusive. The women were saved from possible serious injury by the intervention of neighbors. Bruce has been arrested before on a similar charge. His wife is expected to appear in court this morning and ask for a complaint against him, according to the police.

Servant Girl Confesses Stealing.

Minnie Millins, a servant girl, was arrested and placed in the City Jail last night, charged with several thefts, the majority of which she has acknowledged. The girl formerly lived in the home of Mrs. Jennie Golder, No. 577 Central avenue. While there she appropriated a gold watch and chain belonging to Mrs. Golder, and a violin from George Shegran, a roomer. The girl later went to the home of Mrs. J. McLean, No. 850 Wall street, and at the time of her departure from that place a little bank containing about $5 was missed. The stolen articles have all been recovered in pawn shops, where the girl placed them in her own name.

FROST FOR CROOKS.

Pinkerton Detectives Engaged to Spot Pickpockets and Others During Fiesta Week.

Pickpockets' forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity, during Fiesta and Shriner week: Cloudy and dark; frost; hot; hoist southwest storm signals; nothing doing.

Same warning for all other crooks.

It is to be a frightful climate along in May for the gents of the light fingers for the Pinkertons are coming to town, and every well-known crook in the country will be spotted the instant he alights here, and will be kept under surveillance during his stay. In fact, they will be jailed on suspicion.

Chairman M. H. Flint of the Shrine Committee signed a contract with the Pinkerton detective agency yesterday, by which many of the most widely-acquainted detectives in the country will be here. They know the faces of the cleverest pickpockets and other sure-thing men in the land, and the appearance of members of the gentry will be a signal for dragging them into the police net.

In addition to this, Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Fiesta Executive Committee has arranged with the local police and detectives for unusually vigilant work of the officers, especially where the crowds are greatest.

Captain of Detectives Flammer says he will take in every crook from this time forward, on suspicion, and his men will coöperate with the Pinkertons.

Damascus Temple of Rochester, N. Y., wired yesterday that its members would come in a special train. They will have quarters at the Hiaman, Seventh and Figueroa streets.

A novel feature of the train that will bring Ismalia Temple of Buffalo will be the De Forest wireless equipment, by means of which the Shriners will keep in touch with various wireless stations through the country.

TRAFFIC STILL DELAYED.

BAKERSFIELD, April 4.—The condition of traffic over the Tehachepi Mountains as a result of the landslide at Tunnel 17 Monday morning still remains unchanged. Large forces of men have been steadily at work on the blockade and until today were making no impression upon the great heap of débris that is blocking the track. The Southern Pacific is still transferring passengers. The wreck on the Santa Fé at Wasco has been cleared and traffic from the north is meeting with no setback aside from the slow track in the recently washed-out districts, which causes all trains to run from one to four hours late.

HUNTINGTON HITS THE MAP.

"Thus Far I Now Go," Says He, "And No Farther!"

But Talks of an Ideal Route to Santa Monica.

Los Angeles Railway Crew Is Headed for the Sea.

Is H. E. Huntington, the dominant owner of the Los Angeles Railway, planning an extension of that line to Santa Monica, and possibly Ocean Park and Venice, to parallel Harriman's Los Angeles-Pacific lines?

This is the question of the day which is agitating the minds of real estate men and railway interests.

The agitation has been the further stirred up in the past two weeks by certain half-veiled activities along the proposed route by way of the Sixth street franchise, as ten days ago outlined in The Times, and of men who are reported to be the agents of Mr. Huntington, who are buying connecting rights of way through and beyond Hollywood in an unbroken strip clear to Santa Monica. These rights of way are said to connect with the most northwesterly extremity of the rights already owned by Mr. Huntington outside the city limits eastward to the western extremity of Sixth street, along which street a third rail is now being laid from Alvarado street.

It is reported that such rights have been purchased from C. A. Canfield and associates. But on this Mr. Canfield is noncommittal. While admitting the possibility of a Huntington line extending through his property (formerly the Hammell & Denker ranch) he professes to know nothing of the plans of the immediately interested parties. Similar rights are said to have been already secured through the Wolfskill and other intervening tracts.

As for Mr. Huntington, he is, as ever, a sphynx. He admits that he owns rights of way northwestward from the city limits. He admits his lines are to build outside the city limits along this private right of way. He jabs his lead pencil into a blank and uncultivated portion of the map, spotless of subdivision marks and car lines. "To this point we are going to build," he says. But for the present he cannot be induced verbally to budge another step toward the ocean, and an entry into the tempting territory of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway.

Mr. Huntington's promise to Gen. Sherman not to invade his territory is said to have been so religiously kept by him in thought and action that it is with reluctance he contemplates this step, now that Sherman and Clark have sold out to Harriman and the promise is no longer binding.

Indeed, it is a most feasible short cut to the ocean, that straightaway run westward on Sixth street through the Cahuenga Valley. Mr. Huntington admits that. His cars could get out of the Sixth street depot, shoot out along the private right of way and unload their passengers beside the briny while the cars of his rivals would still be threading their interrupted way through crowded city streets, and stopping for innumerable grade crossings. But Mr. Huntington says he has given no thought to the building of such a line.

It is believed, however, that he has simply delegated the thinking out of the details to his agents and subordinates. Such a line, if built, it is confidently believed by those on the inside, will be constructed by the Los Angeles Railway Company, which Mr. Huntington controls himself.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that while the famous $110,000 Sixth street franchise is owned jointly by Harriman and Huntington in the Pacific Electric system, that Huntington was in a position in the Los Angeles Railway to dictate to Harriman in the Pacific Electric, an agreement to allow the Los Angeles Railway to make joint use of the extension of this franchise to the western city limits.

In accordance with this agreement, the Los Angeles Railway began this week the laying of a third rail along the Sixth street line toward Santa Monica.

It will be seen by this that the ground work has been cleverly laid for an unobstructed outlet for the Los Angeles Railway into the Cahuenga Valley just as far as Mr. Huntington sees fit to push it.

It is also clearly apparent that even should Mr. Huntington decide not to push this proposed line through to completion in the immediate future, his hand would be free to do so at any time that he might desire. The simple dictation of an order from him would set gangs of men working for the account of the Los Angeles Railway, whereas in the Pacific Electric it would be a question to thresh out with contending influences, perhaps bitterly opposed to further extensions, especially into territory already controlled exclusively by the Harriman influences.

"In the action of the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, in granting a franchise for a street railway outside the city limits to F. M. Chapman, of Covina, for $100, it is said the last link needed to give Mr. Huntington an unbroken right of way into Santa Monica from the end of his Sixth street holdings, was welded. It is admitted that Mr. Chapman acted as Mr. Huntington's agent in securing this franchise, as he had already acted in the same capacity in securing adjoining rights of way through private property.

In the meantime everyone interested in the development of the Huntington lines to the west of the city, and especially the real estate men, are guessing. For all the information they are likely to get direct from Mr. Huntington they are likely to remain there until he gets ready to act.

Certain real estate agents claim to have information that the new line to Santa Monica, after leaving Santa Monica avenue, west of the city, and taking certain private rights of way already secured, will pass through Hollywood toward the foothills near the Hollywood Hotel, and then go straight to Santa Monica over the Canfield and other lands, skirting the foothills all the way. But some of these agents are telling more than they know, very likely.

C. A. Canfield, over whose lands alleged agents of Mr. Huntington are said to be negotiating for right of way for new trolley line to Santa Monica.

A FEW NOTES.

J. McMillan entered upon his duties as superintendent of transportation of the Pacific Electric system yesterday by making a trip of inspection over the lines of the company with H. E. Huntington. In the consolidation of the offices of traffic manager, and the merger of the office of the general manager with that of the president and the superintendent of transportation, considerable office room has been saved the company on the seventh floor of the Huntington Building, and Chief Engineer George E. Pillsbury has been enabled to move several of his departments, which have been crowded to another floor back to their original offices.

C. H. Burnett, general freight and passenger agent of the Redondo Railway, has just issued a magnificent booklet entitled "In Flower Land," with a handsome painting of the H. E. Huntington carnation, by Paul de Longpré for a cover design. The purpose of the tastefully compiled and artistically illustrated little booklet is concisely set forth in the prefacing paragraph, which says: "This little book is not a floral compendium. It does not mention all the desirable plants and flowers that flourish in Southern California, nor how to grow and care for them all; but it does seek to convey a few interesting facts about a few of the most popular and more largely cultivated, together with information regarding their favored localities."

TERRIBLE CRUELTY.

Thrusting red-hot irons into the eyes of California wild canaries is the pleasing profession alleged to have been adopted by several Italian peddlers in this city.

Complaint against this terrible practice has closely followed the exposure of the practices of Pasadena Japanese, who are trapping songbirds for the market.

These pitiful blinded canaries are said to be on sale in this city; they are also shipped out for sale in other cities—particularly San Francisco.

The same plan has been tried with mocking birds, but not to any extent. Although canary birds are said to sing better blind, mocking birds without eyes stop singing altogether.

It is an old superstition that canaries sing better in the dark. Whether they really do is another matter.

The blinded ones put on sale here are mostly caught in the arroyo and in the river bed.

No formal complaint has been made to the authorities so far. A Los Angeles society woman has taken up the matter on her own responsibility, to find, if possible, who the peddlers are who do the actual blinding, and the S.P.C.A. will be asked to take hold.

OPENING VAST COAL SECTION.

Eight Hundred Thousand New Mexico Acres Sold.

Los Angeles Capital Has a Hold in Field.

Railroad Surveyed Through to This Coast.

Immense new coal fields comprising 800,000 acres in Colfax county, New Mexico, have just been bought by the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain and Pacific Railroad Company from the Dutch syndicate which owns the old Maxwell land grant of 1,750,000 acres in Colfax county for a price said to be $15,000,000.

Ex-Judge S. E. Booth, who spends his winters in California, is the mining agent for the Maxwell Land Grant Company, and he was in Los Angeles yesterday and spoke freely of the great country which has lain dormant for so long because of conflicting land titles. Mr. Booth stated that the railroad has already completed a survey through to the Pacific Coast from Des Moines, Iowa, and that the grading work had been done as far as Cimarron, once the stage station on the old Santa Fe trail, where Kit Carson, Tom Boggs and Luce B. Maxwell made their headquarters, which was the old county seat of Colfax county and the center of the great mining district which is now about to be opened. A number of well-known men in Los Angeles, including Bresee Bros., Judge B. N. Smith, Ex-Judge McNutt, W. H. Hagadorn, F. E. Brown and others are financially interested in this district.

RUSHING IN THE MINERS.

Cimarron, on the river of the same name, will soon have a big smelter, and probably two, also stamp mills and cyanide plants for the treatment of the free mining gold and sulphide ores found near there. It will also have great coal yards, and miners are now being rushed into the district, as many as 1000 being on the ground now. From Cimarron the railroad will cross the mountains by way of the Taos Valley, the site of one of the largest of the old Indian pueblos, thence to the Pacific Coast, probably to some point in or near San Francisco. The center of the coal mining district near Cimarron will be Raton, and there 600 new and modern coke ovens are being built by the Phelps-Dodge Company of New York.

The Continental Lumber Company will also get to work as soon as the deep snow clears from the mountains, and it was stated yesterday that it will before long have approximately 1000 men at work in the great forests which cover the mountains in that district. With the coming of the railroad the whole district, said W. M. Strother, the vice-president and manager of the Southwestern Mining and Improvement Company of this city, who has just returned from Cimarron and will return there the middle of this month, is awakening and the romance of this once great Spanish grant will be supplanted by the practical every-day rush of modern civilization.

Long before the Mexican War a grant of this wild country had been made to Don Bobian for services rendered. But later came the pioneers, the old Santa Fé trail was opened and passed through, men like Kit Carson and his associates wandered into the country, fought, worked and wandered off to new fields of adventure and death. But L. B. Maxwell stayed, and though it is not known just why, the fact remains that Don Bobian donated the entire grant to Maxwell after the Mexican War. But titles were insecure, the matter was taken before Congress, and it was only a few years ago that Congress confirmed the grant to Maxwell.

Meanwhile a syndicate of capitalists in Holland had bought out Maxwell, but found that on the property were a number of squatters, or anti-grant men, as they were called, men who in many cases had lived there for years and had built up homes for themselves. Some of these squatters accepted the situation and took title from the company, but others resisted and United States marshals had to be called into the district to give possession to the owners of the grant.

LOS ANGELES CAPITAL IN.

Maxwell meanwhile had located the Aztec mine and although the operations were crude took from it, according to the records kept, $3,000,000 in gold ore. The Maxwell Land Grant Company has now opened a tract thirty miles square in this mineral belt to prospectors and has announced through its board of trustees in New Mexico that it will give United States patents to lands and claims in the same manner as the government would, under certain rules, or will lease the claims.

It is under this resolution that Los Angeles capitalists have gone into the district and a number of good mines, it is stated, have already been located and will be worked with modern machinery and modern methods. One of these companies is the Southwestern Mining and Improvement Company of this city, the officers of which are E. H. Bresee, president; W. M. Strother, vice-president and manager; A. Rayner, secretary-treasurer, and P. W. and A. Bresee, F. C. Lamb and W. H. Hagadorn, directors. There are also other companies with big property interests in Colfax county whose officers are Los Angeles men. The Southwestern Company owns The Doctor group of three claims, lying between the old Aztec and Independence mines, and it is already partially developed and showing good ore.

DAM IN MOUNTAINS.

A scheme is now being considered to build a dam in the Palisade Mountains which is to turn a beautiful little valley into a still more beautiful lake the utility of which will be to irrigate about 50,000 acres of land in the grant and turn it into a land of orchards and farms. At present much of this land is being used for grazing purposes and thousands of cattle are fattening there.

But it is as a mining center, and particularly as a coal mining center, that this district promises to have a far-reaching effect upon the commerce of the West, and also upon the mining industry, especially as experts say that through the outlet of the railroad this fuel will be delivered to all parts of the mining country of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California. In the Cimarron district the copper deposits are tremendous and run from five to ten per cent., while the gold ore assays from $10 to $30 a ton, mostly sulphides.

Besides the mines there are a number of placer claims said to be exceedingly rich, and in the Cimarron River is a dredge which at present is working almost night and day in the river bottom, which has a good showing of gold. The Ute Creek and Placer Company, also formed of Los Angeles capital, has a number of rich placer claims there which it is proposed to develop with modern machinery. T. E. Brown, of the Bullard Block, is the leading spirit in this enterprise.

FIERY STREAK AFTER SLIDER

GARVANZA MIDNIGHT WALKER HAS BRIGHT SCARE.

Befuddled Footprints of Indignant Late Banquetter Blaze Forth from the Mud, and Now They're Hunting for Phosphorus Mine Upon Which He Stumbled in Rain.

Every still night, residents of South Pasadena and Garvanza go on a still hunt for a mysterious phosphorus mine.

It is located somewhere in the bed on the Arroyo Seco on San Pasqual street.

It was discovered at midnight by a man going home from a banquet through the rain, walking from the end of the Garvanza line to his happy home in South Pasadena.

He was slopping through the soggy wet, wondering why somebody kept whirling the trees around, and swearing vigorously.

When one of his feet slipped through the wet, he became deeply offended and tried to kick the misbehaving member. The result was a long, thrilling slide through the mud.

Picking himself up, he was scared half out of his senses to see his footprints blazing out at him through the night in a glow of fire. Collecting his various parts, he scrambled out for life and liberty like a scared coyote. To his insane terror, his gleaming footprints took after him and kept hot on his trail.

They followed him some distance down the bed of the Arroyo, and when he looked back from a safe distance, they were still blazing into the night.

When he got home and had time to think it over, he pulled some of the mud off his boots. At the touch of his hands the mud became blazing balls of light.

In the daytime he went back, but couldn't find the place. He went at night, digging his heels vigorously into the earth at every step, but no phosphorus responded to the magic touch. He decided that the thing must be done in the rain. Wherefore on wet nights the inhabitants proceed to wade forth.

It has been known for some time that somewhere in the Arroyo there are deposits of phosphorus. Its value is doubtful.

THIS IS ARBOR DAY.

City Officials and School Children Will Take Part in Ceremonies Attending Tree Planting.

Today is again named as Arbor Day and everything looks favorable for the consummation of the long-deferred plans of the projectors.

The exercises will be held in Elysian Park, beginning promptly at 2:30 p.m. The official carriages, containing the speakers, the Mayor and the City Council, will leave the City Hall at 1 o'clock and proceed to Central Park, where the parade will start. It will be headed by a platoon of police, the Whittier State School band, and several companies of militia.

The line of march will be up Broadway, through the tunnel and to Point Lookout in the park. At Fremont Gate carriages will be in waiting to convey a chorus of 100 school children, and the representatives of the Grand Army posts to Point Lookout and return.

Addresses will be delivered by Dr. W. A. Lamb, president of the Park Commission, and by Lawrence Holmes. A chorus of 100 school children from the grammar grades will sing under the direction of Miss Katharine Stone. Hundreds of trees will be planted by a number of organizations of the city.

FOR SELF-CONTROL.

Thirtieth-street School Pupils Organize Committee to Take Cares Off Teachers' Shoulders.

A number of young people of the Thirtieth-street school have organized a Self-Government Club, and the result has been very successful. The young people have entered into the scheme with verve, and a large share of the burden of control has been lifted from the shoulders of the teachers.

"You see we keep order in the lines, and if any girl or boy in the school does anything wrong, they come before us for trial and we punish them as we think fit," said an enthusiastic member yesterday. This club has proved so satisfactory to the superintendent and teachers that similar organizations will likely be formed in many of the public schools of the city. Members of the new club include Helen Buckley, Pinta Vanderleck, Ethel Clark, Velma Myer, Leona Reader, Myrtle Longstreet, Helen Bailey, Mabel Lynch, Peleda and Mirle Drechler, Jocelyn Loftus, Isabel Gilman and Lawrence Highsinger, Gus Noberg, Percy Lamb, Lawrence Lens, Lawrance Vanderleck, Albert Cosby, Fred Henderson, Jefferson Chandler, Earl Terry and Russell Miller. Members of the club are planning to give a picnic some time next week.

This is the first club of the kind in the city outside the High School.

WORKMEN GOING IN STYLE.

Los Angeles delegates to the Grand Lodge meeting of the A. O. U. W. are going there in style. Today their special train will leave for the grounds at Santa Cruz, but they are going by way of San Francisco, and expect to spend two or three days there. About one hundred delegates are going. They have five chair cars, and will make the daylight run. The train also includes baggage car, diner, and observation car. A band of twenty-two pieces will go. The Grand Lodge meeting will open next Tuesday, and continue until Saturday.

FRUIT GROWERS' ELECTION.

The annual meeting of the California Fruit Growers' Association was held yesterday afternoon in room 238, H. W. Heilman Building. Dr. C. P. V. Watson was elected president; J. W. Lawrence, first vice-president; H. E. Bassett, second vice-president; F. E. Peters, secretary. George Mallory of Pasadena was chosen manager, and Fred A. Tappe will be his assistant. The board of directors comprises Ira L. Lieghley of Detroit, H. W. Hansen, E. C. Leach and O. H. Elliott.

A SOUTHERN POSSIBILITY.

Organization Is Guessing as to Governor.

Pardee's Chances Are Daily Growing Less.

Belshaw Favorite of Local Independents.

Gov. Pardee's political fences south of Tehachepi are sadly in need of repair. Every breeze that blows from the north opens new gaps, and Phil Stanton, his handy man about the place, is sending sizzling messages, marked collect, calling for more lumber.

Discarding Pardee as hopeless, the local Republican organization is looking to Southern California for a candidate for governor. The unsettled condition of San Francisco politics has caused the Octopus to turn its attention to the South.

Boss Herrin has instructed his Los Angeles lieutenants to keep hands off until he names the southern men whom they are to get behind. The identity of Herrin's unknown it a matter of conjecture in the ranks of the faithful, but in the main they are satisfied. It is never an easy matter to whip a southern delegation in line for a machine man north of Tehachepi. But the scheme of the organization is said to be to put up a Southern man as a decoy only, get up enough enthusiasm to carry a large Southern California delegation to the State Convention and thus have a large bunch of votes to trade with.

In the north two candidates stand out from the rabble like sun flowers in a bed of carrots. These are State Senator Charles M. Belshaw and Congressman J. M. Gillett.

Belshaw is a disciple of the Roosevelt school of independent Republicans. Gillett tries at times to stand with the independents, but his shoulders are not yet entirely healed of the gall of the machine collar.

Anti-organization Republicans in Los Angeles county took with favor on Belshaw's candidacy. Foremost among his supporters are the Native Sons. Belshaw is one of the founders of that order and its past grand president. His record in the State Senate is one to which his supporters point with pride. In the last Legislature he was chairman of the investigating committee that secured the dismissal of the boodling senators.

Schmitz is the candidate of union-ridden San Francisco. The Fiddler is the bait with which wily Abe Ruef hopes to land the San Francisco delegation. In union circles about San Francisco Bay Schmitz's name is the only one mentioned.

Ruef is too nearly an adept at the game to imagine that Fiddler Schmitz will ever receive the nomination for governor from a Republican State Convention; but he desires to keep the eyes of the union dupes on Schmitz while he arranges his slate of gold-plated Ruef delegates. He expects to take these to the convention and barter them off like a Yiddish vender of second hand clothes.

In the extreme northern part of the State Pardee is the victim of his own dickering. Four years ago Pardee and his henchmen pounced upon Railroad Commissioner Edson as easy money. Edson wanted to be Governor and he was a liberal spender. Pardee men trailed him along, making him believe that he was the goods, only to throw him in the convention.

But Edson has not forgotten. Wiser now, he is a candidate again. He is ranging through the northern counties tearing great gaps in Pardee's fences and liberating delegations that Pardee thought secure. Edson is devoting his attention almost exclusively to the Pardee pastures, and again he is a liberal spender.

Rumor has it that Boss Herrin would like to give the nomination this year to Postmaster Fisk of San Francisco. Fisk was once speaker of the Assembly and he gave to the machine a good account of his stewardship. But San Francisco, once the home of Dan Burns, has gone trailing after false gods; and Fisk's candidacy in the South would carry with it an odor of gasoline that would not blend well with our orange groves and poppy fields.

Edward F. Colgan is reported to be a "receptive" candidate.

OTHER PRIZES.

This appears to be an off year for the Legislature. There will be no United States Senator to elect and there is little long grass in sight. Some of the legislators have not yet got rid of the nightmares occasioned by that investigation committee at the last session, and a number of them are not candidates for reëlection.

Corney Pendleton realizes that he is down and out and he has given up all hopes of succeeding himself in the Senate. H. G. S. McCartney thinks he has first call on Corney's place.

Corney now has 'opes of succeeding John Cline as collector of the port. He has the unanimous support of Boss Fennessey.

Assemblyman Fred Hauser expects the favor he won by voting for Frank E. Flint in the last Legislature to win for him the nomination of Justice of the Supreme Court. He is out this week looking after his fences and trying to cultivate the bosses. He has assumed the jaunty air and the smile that won't come off.

Assemblyman Wickersham, Hauser's running mate, is also looking for an advance. He wants to become Public Administrator.

HUNDRED-THOUSAND CORNER.

Fifth and Wall Lot Brings High Price. Double House and Site on Fifteenth Sold.

E. T. Hughes has sold to J. F. Sartori, T. E. Newland, W. M. Garland, M. J. Polaski and M. S. Hellman a lot 100x125 feet on the southwest corner of Fifth and Wall streets at the reported price of $100,000. The property is improved with a two-story brick building, worth approximately $20,000. That would leave $800 a foot as the value of the bare land.

R. W. Troeger has sold to David Levene a lot 60x120 feet, improved with a two-story, double house of fourteen room, Nos. 116 and 118 East Fifteenth street, for $8500.

Y.M.C.A. SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Subscriptions announced to the Young Men's Christian Association building fund yesterday are as follows: Charles M. Stimson, $10,000; C. M. Staub, $1000; A. Fusenot, $500; Membership Committee, $400 additional; W. H. Allen, $100. This brings the total subscriptions up to $149,250, leaving the minimum sum yet to be raised $250,750.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Yesterday the Board of Public Works visited the garbage incinerator, and discussed methods of bettering the service.

Garage men insist on a reduction of the license on their places, and have asked the City Council to arrange a conference so they may present their claims.

Many complaints are reaching the Health Department because of festering pools of stormwaters in various parts of the city. Property owners must pay for pumping out these pools, or fill lots.

Judge Gibbs yesterday refused probate to the "lost" will of the late Louis Anderson of Alhambra, and the widow will administer upon the estate.

Moses J. Holland has brought suit against Walter E. McAllister to recover an Ocean Park lot and money, which he alleges were obtained from him by fraudulent representation.

Four reckless automobilists came to grief in the Police Court yesterday, and two, found guilty of running down pedestrians, paid heavy fines.

Ygnacio Ramirez, alleged forger, was given his preliminary examination yesterday, and was bound over for trial in the Superior Court.

AT THE CITY HALL.

SEEKS BETTER GARBAGE PLAN.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS MAY CHANGE SERVICE.

System Suggested Whereby Householders Will Pay for Removal of Rubbish—Separate Gathering of Refuse Contemplated—New Incinerator Is Visited.

The Board of Public Works, accompanied by the Street Superintendent, visited the garbage incinerator, yesterday forenoon, and made a general inspection of the plant.

As a result of this inspection it is probable that there will be some radical changes in the methods of collecting garbage and refuse, and that arrangements will be made to handle the broken glass, tin cans, and all such rubbish, entirely separate from the table and kitchen refuse.

Superintendent Hanley is much in favor of this change. He claims that the present method of collecting all classes of garbage is a losing proposition for the city, greatly retarding the work, and that the two propositions could be handled separately to far better advantage. He would favor making the city responsible only for the collection of the actual table and kitchen refuse, such as can be consumed by the incinerator, and his idea is to divide the city into several districts for the collection of other rubbish, and to have a small assessment made on every family for a monthly collection, of the glass, cans, etc. which he would have hauled to a separate dump.

At the present time complaint is made about the mixture of non-combustible materials with the other garbage, and despite the care to sort the stuff at the garbage crematory, much of the hard material goes through, and often clogs the grates.

Hanley says provision has not been made in the incinerator ordinance for sufficient help to properly handle the work, and he has had to transfer some of the men from the regular street department. The City Council will be asked to make provision for more men at the incinerator. At present sixteen men are employed.

"SHOCKING STREET."

SO SAY PETITIONERS.

Property owners on Orange street have filed with the City Clerk for presentation to the Board of Public Works and the City Council a petition protesting against the present condition of Orange street between Loomis street and Union avenue. They declare that it is practically impassable, and that the parkway strip along this section of the street is at many points overgrown with trees and brush so as to obstruct passage of pedestrians. This is a "shocking condition of a much-traveled thoroughfare," declare the petitioners, and they ask immediate relief.

GARAGE MEN PROTEST.

WANT LICENSE FEE CUT.

Eighteen owners or managers of garages and automobile repair shops have petitioned the City Council to arrange for a conference so that they may show why they believe the license fee on their establishments should be lessened. They state that on February 3 they made protest against the payment of the exacted fee of $5 per month, imposed under the present ordinance, No. 12,350, New Series, and that the Finance Committee on investigation recommended a reduction of 50 per cent, but that this was rejected when it came to a vote in the Council session. The garage men believe that if given the opportunity they will be able to show the present license fee is out of proportion to the profits of the business and higher in proportion than other lines of business are called upon to pay.

MENACE TO HEALTH.

FESTERING STORM WATERS.

The recent rains have caused large pools of storm waters to stand in many parts of the city, and the health department is daily receiving complaints that the stench arising from the festering pools is becoming a menace to health.

At places where city streets reach down into the pools the street department has undertaken to pump out the foul water at city expense. In other locations property owners are asked to meet the expense of transporting the pumping machinery and to pay for the fuel consumed. If they fail to do this, they may be required to fill their lots.

MORE WIRE CUTTING.

CROSS STREETS CLEARED.

In accordance with instructions of the City Attorney, yesterday Street Superintendent Hanley's force of men continued their work of clearing the downtown district of overhead wires which have been maintained in violation of city ordinances. A corps of men in charge of Deputy Woodis cut the wires on the streets crossing Broadway from Temple to Seventh streets. Hanley says he will proceed on other streets as soon as he receives instructions from the City Attorney.

City Hall Shortstops.

City Clerk Lelande has gone to Santa Barbara for a two days' sojourn.

W. M. Melton yesterday filed with the City Clerk a petition asking permission to curb and sidewalk Elysian street from Reservoir street to Elysian Park Drive; and to sidewalk and lay cobblestone gutter on both sides of Montana street, between Elysian street and Elysian Park Drive. Melton owns the entire frontage on these sections of the streets he asks the privilege of improving.

Good progress is being made in the transfer of the city library to its quarters in the Laughlin Block. The fiction department and the juvenile sections are the only ones yet remaining in the City Hall. These will be transferred to the new quarters on Friday, and by the first of next week every department of the city library will be in operation in the new home.

IN FEDERAL COURTS.

SUIT OVER PHOTOGRAPH.

The Hotel Green Company, the Out West Magazine Company and Col. G. G. Green are to be sued by George W. Hance, all on account of a photograph. Hance filed in the United States Circuit Court yesterday a complaint in equity, asking for a permanent restraining order to prevent the manufacture and sale of a picture of Hotel Green, which he claims to have taken and copyrighted.

Hance picked out a fine place and made a beautiful picture of the hotel. He had it copyrighted on June 5 of last year, so he says in his complaint. It is understood the hotel got the right from Hance to sell 100 of the photographs, but the supply was not adequate for the tourists who wished to show their friends back East that the fourth window from the end on the third floor was where they stayed while in the land of flowers. So the hotel got more pictures by the simple expedient of making them.

Hance claims these pictures were in violation of his copyright, and asks that further manufacture of them be stopped. He expressly waives seizure or destruction of those already made.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION.

A petition was filed in the United States District Court yesterday praying that C. C. Patterson of Ocean Park be adjudged a bankrupt. The petitioners are the Waterhouse & Lester Company, the Lloyd-Scovel Iron Company, the Percival Iron Company and the Union Hardware and Metal Company, who have furnished materials for the blacksmith shop of which Patterson is proprietor. Their claims are respectively $831.88, $154.44, $76.19 and $357.04, the last of which is secured by a promissory note of date of March 21, 1906. The act of bankruptcy complained of is that Patterson on March 8 executed a mortgage on the contents of his shop for the sum of $2000 to L. M. Davenport Company. The cause is set for April 16.

APPELLATE COURT.

LOWE GETS JUDGMENT.

A suit which has been traveling around in one guise or another for many years finally came to rest yesterday afternoon, when the Court of Appeals decided in favor of T. S. C. Lowe in his suit against R. W. Osmun, executor of the estate of A. M. Osmun.

It was an action for conversion involving the affairs of the Pasadena Consolidated Gas Company and the Pasadena and Mt. Wilson Railway Company. Lowe was in difficulties in 1896 and pledged $20,000 face value of bonds of the former company and $10,000 of the latter, for a loan from Osmun of $10,901.66.

The gas company got into trouble with a heavy assessment that was said to be for the purpose of increasing the value of the stock, and some of the stock was sold for non-payment. During the mix-up Osmun sold Lowe's bonds to himself for $4748, which was the only bid.

The next day Lowe demanded the value of the bonds, less the indebtedness, but Osmun refused. Osmun died in 1899, and Lowe renewed his demand on the estate, stating his damage at $18,769.14. After a time Lowe got a decision for $2489.27, which was taken as the value of the bonds over the indebtedness. With interest, this sum became $3621.58, which the Court of Appeals has decided is due Lowe.

ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.

Ernest H. Wallace of New York, William F. Palmer of Indiana and Isaac Newton Huntsberger of Ohio have been admitted to practice by the Court of Appeals.

CHILDREN LOSE WILL CONTEST.

FAIL TO SECURE PROBATE OF LOST DOCUMENT.

Second Wife of Late Louis C. Anderson of Alhambra Is Appointed Administratrix in Spite of Efforts of Testator's Son and Daughter to Gain Point.

The difficulty of probating a will that has been lost was again exemplified yesterday in Judge Gibbs's court. Incidentally the triumph of a stepmother was shown.

Mrs. Lucretia Anderson is to have a much bigger picking out of the estate of her deceased husband, Louis C. Anderson of Alhambra, than her stepchildren desired. They believed their father left a will in which he made such bequests as would have made so big a hole in the estate that virtually nothing would be left for the widow.

Anderson died on February 28, at the age of 68. He lived at Alhambra with his wife, two of the children by the first wife having taken up their residence at Hollywood and the third having disappeared from the knowledge of his friends some years ago.

With the death of the old man the widow filed her petition to be appointed administratrix of the estate. A few days later Stanley S. Anderson, 23 years old, filed his petition that probate be granted on a will his father had made and of which he and his sister as well as others had been cognizant.

The filing of this petition was in the nature of a contest, and yesterday the matter was before the court for hearing. Stanley and Miss Ruth Anderson, a girl 15 years of age, and a number of other witnesses testified for the proponents to the will. In this document it was alleged that Anderson had devised $4000 to his son, Stanley, and the same amount to his daughter, Ruth. To the second son, Frank L. Anderson, he left $1.

This will, it was claimed, had been kept by Mr. Anderson among his papers, and at his death they all passed into the possession of the widow. There was some evidence to show that the widow had asked her husband to make provision for his children. But she contended that, inasmuch as the will had disappeared, it must have been destroyed by its maker for reasons of his own.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, it was to be assumed that Mr. Anderson changed his mind about the disposition of his property. And Judge Gibbs denied probate and appointed Mrs. Lucretia Anderson administratrix, with bond fixed at $30,000.

During his lifetime Anderson gave his wife $3000 and put a homestead on the Alhambra property, so that she takes possession now of the home. So far as known there remains only about $2000 in cash, and some miscellaneous effects.

PEASANT STRANDED.

INSANE HUSBAND COMMITTED.

A little tragedy in a nutshell was packed away yesterday when Judge Gibbs ordered the commitment of Giovanni Callandra to the State Hospital at Patton. The man is an Italian, about 40 years of age, and was taken into court with the muffs on his hands. His little eyes flashed vindictively as he tried to talk in English and succeeded only in making a pot-pourri of ill-sounding words.

About two years ago Callandra was sent to Patton and afterward released as cured. Then he returned to Italy and there married a young peasant girl whom he brought back with him to San Fernando, where the two have been living on a ranch. But the Italian had the taint of insanity in him, and recently treated his wife so abusively that outsiders had to interfere.

The wife was in court yesterday in her simple peasant dress, and shyly went forward to testify, through an interpreter.

After Callandra was committed he called to his sobbing wife as she started to leave. With a smile and in affectionate tones he called, but when the girl hurried back to his side the man's face changed, and he told her she could remember that he didn't love her any more and added some opprobrious terms.

The girl-wife turned and placed her head between her hands again as she silently passed out, and Callandra cheerfully and with smiles started on his way to his old place at Patton.

HEARD IN CAMERA.

JURY HAS A NASTY TASK.

The somewhat extraordinary scene was presented yesterday at the Court House of a case being tried before a jury behind closed doors. It was a libel suit brought by Antona Rolando against Teresa Rolando, to recover $5000 for certain demamatory language alleged used in the presence of a number of acquaintance of both parties at San Pedro last June.

The libelous matter charged is unprintable, and so shocked Judge Wilbur, that he ordered everybody out of the courtroom save those directly interested, and then asked the attorneys in the case to refrain from using the vulgar language any more than they could help. But it was not possible to gloss over with politeness the rottenness that developed and the jury will again plunge into the mass of nastiness this morning.

WANT MONEY BACK.

INVENTION NO GOOD.

Moses J. Holland and his wife, Lillie J. Holland, thought they saw a chance to make a pot of money. In November of last year, when Walter E. McAllister told them of William R. Leroy's invention of an air compressor. McAllister is alleged to have represented that a machine had been made at Washington, and that it was selling freely to railroad companies. It was stated that the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company had opened negotiations.

The Hollands bought a one-sixteenth share. A lot at Ocean Park was assigned to McAllister, upon which $235 had been paid; and $720 was paid in cash. Then the Hollands sat back, waiting for the golden shower to fall.

But there was nothing doing, and Holland started out to investigate. He found that an air compressor had been made under the Leroy patent at Washington, but that was in 1903, and the machine proved so worthless it had never been moved from Washington.

Now the Hollands have begun suit to recover their money and real estate, meantime tying the Ocean Park lot up by injunction.

WIDOW OBSESSED.

"HAUNTED," BUT NOT INSANE.

When Mrs. Norell Crosson told the story of her "hauntings" in Judge Gibbs's court yesterday one of the puzzles of the "new" psychology was presented. She claimed to have been obsessed by an earthbound spirit, and yet she talked in the most rational manner, explaining the modus operandi of the queer experience.

Mrs. Crosson was examined as to her mental condition and was discharged, Judge Gibbs advising her to stop thinking about spooks.

Mrs. Crosson said she was not yielding herself up to any such study. She said she was not a spiritualist and is a member of an orthodox church. She came here from Albuquerque, where her husband was a practicing physician. He died in Los Angeles last November. There is a fifteen-year-old son.

About a week ago, when Mrs. Crosson was bathing, she called to two ladies in the next room to aid her. They thought she spoke curiously. They telephoned for an officer and Mrs. Crosson was arrested.

"Ever since the death of my husband," said Mrs. Crosson, "I have had these curious experiences, and though I cannot see the spirit forms, yet I can hear the voices just as plainly as if the forms were beside me. Repeatedly I have communicated with my husband, and I am satisfied that it was he by the tones of his voice and by the knowledge of facts in my life known only to him.

"The reason I called for aid when in the bath was this: I realized that evening that I was obsessed, and I determined to throw off the condition. To do so more readily I stood in the bath and poured cold water over my body, and never did I for a moment lose consciousness or control of myself.

"During his lifetime my husband was on one occasion subjected to the same experience of being obsessed, and with the aid of a young man who is at Berkeley I relieved him.

GETS WHIPPED.

NOW ABEL WANTS DAMAGES.

Edward B. Abel was well whipped by Harry M. Martin, and he estimates the amount of satisfaction that Martin got at about $5000. At least he has brought suit for that amount of damages, and says that he was slashed across the hands and face with a rawhide in such a manner that one hand has been crippled.

As Abel says he is dependent on his hands for his living, and he is incapacitated from doing anything at the present time, being dependent on the charity of friends, he asks judgment for $5000 and his expenses.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

UNRULY BOY. Wilbur Wallace was taken to the Detention Home yesterday, after being arrested at Cahuenga on a charge of disturbing the peace. The boy was unruly in school, and was expelled. But he continued to loiter around the school grounds, whistling and otherwise disturbing pupils at their studies.

WRECKED BY "DOVEY." Elisabeth W. Day was granted a divorce from Walter E. Day, on the ground of his illegal association with a girl named Dovey Doe—the last name being fictitious, as Mrs. Day never learned who she was. The parties married at Springfield, Me., in February, 1904, and went to Pasadena the same year, later moving to this city.

PLAIN DESERTION. W. O. Randolph was divorced from Pearl B. Randolph, on the ground of desertion. The parties married at San Diego, July 4, 1895, and last November the wife packed her trunk and left for San Francisco. She never came back.

CLEARING-HOUSE. The National Clearing House has incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000, of which $300,000 has been subscribed. The directors are Samuel T. Mock, E. W. Parker and C. A. Dickinson, all of Los Angeles.

RAILROAD WINS. The suit of Eugene Bolliot against the Los Angeles Railway Company went to trial yesterday before Judge Ewing of Ventura, and resulted in judgment for the defendant. Bolliot was in charge of a street-sprinkling cart, which was wrecked on Pasadena avenue. Plaintiff's contributory negligence was alleged.

SPA COMPANY. The Spa Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, of which $2500 has been subscribed. The directors are M. L. Germain, W. C. Elderton and H. D. Vandeveer, all of this city.

CHANGE OF NAME. Yesterday the Occidental Club, through its officers, filed a petition that the name of the club be changed to the "Commercial" Club. The club incorporated in 1904 as a social organization, and now it is set out that it is desired that the club affiliate with the commercial clubs of other cities of the country, and in such event the present name would be misleading.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

CHAUFFEURS ARE HEAVILY FINED.

JUSTICES SCORE RECKLESS MOTORISTS.

Harry Bennison and O. E. Otto Are Found Guilty of Running Down E. E. Townsend and Father Timothe Tetreault—Two Other Scorchers Assessed.

Four reckless motorists came to grief in the Police Court yesterday and two of them will long remember the experience. Of late the police have received many complaints from persons who have been run down by these careless drivers of big motor cars and in nearly every case the guilty chauffeur turns on the high speed and is soon out of sight.

Two drivers were caught, however, one in the very act, and yesterday the police had their reckoning. Harry Bennison, chauffeur for J. W. Brundon, was convicted of running down E. E. Townsend on the corner of First and Broadway, Monday.

Townsend was with several friends when he was struck by the big automobile which Bennison was driving. They were attempting to cross the street when the car rushed down upon them. All succeeded in getting out of its path except Townsend, who was knocked down and rolled over on the pavement of the street by the wheels of the vehicle.

A number of persons witnessed the accident and testified in the Police Court yesterday that Bennison was driving the car at a very high rate of speed, one man declaring that the car seemed to be going 100 miles an hour, while a number of others placed the speed at thirty miles an hour. Justice Chambers scored Bennison and then imposed a fine of $100, which the chauffeur had some trouble in raising, but finally secured. The police say Bennison has been in trouble twice before.

O. E. Otto was found guilty of running down Father Timothe Tetreault at the corner of Main and Fifth streets February 15. Father Tetreault swore to the complaint and said that Otto ran over him and then dashed off down the street without stopping to ascertain what damage had been done. The priest was seriously injured and has not entirely recovered from the effect of his experience as yet.

Justice Rose found Otto guilty and then proceeded to give him a lecture on his actions, and assessed him $25.

V. L. Fleming, recently from Chicago, and R. L. Tously, two chauffeurs caught yesterday by Officers Berchtold and Mojonnier, the automobile squad, were found guilty by Justice Chambers of exceeding the speed limit for automobiles and fined $10 each, this being their first offense.

Ramirez Held for Trial.

Ygnacio Ramirez, charged with passing numerous forged checks for large sums of money in this city, had his preliminary examination yesterday in the Police Court before Justice Rose and was bound over for trial in the Superior Court, his bail being fixed at $1500. He is awaiting trial in jail.

Lottery Chink Fined.

Lew Wing was convicted on the charge of having lottery tickets in his possession yesterday before Justice Chambers and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 or to spend a like number of days in the City Jail. Wing paid the money.

Catspaw Customers.

Fac-simile of Box

The story of the monkey who used the cat's paw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire, finds new illustrations daily. When a dealer sells a customer a substitute for MENNEN'S BORATED TALCUM, he does so because the substitute pays him a bigger profit. He makes the customer his catspaw to rake in a few extra dollars.

It is not pleasant to be made a catspaw, especially when you pay for the opportunity of being injured. Is it not foolish to pay for the opportunity to use injurious imitations of MENNEN'S BORATED TALCUM, the standard powder of the world? Think it over.

Have you tried MENNEN'S VIOLET BORATED TALCUM TOILET POWDER? Ladies partial to violet perfume will find Mennen's Violet Powder fragrant with the odor of freshly plucked Parma violets.

He is a very decent, chuckle-headed chunky boy with a deficient nervous organism which enabled him to withstand pounding that would kill any ordinarily constituted person. Whatever perquisites that may be in having one's anatomy pumeled he is after.

Herrera is a pensive, sad-eyed, silent Mexican with the lithe, soft movements of a mountain cat and the same steel hardened quickness of movement.

TENNIS PLAY AT NORDHOFF.

LOCAL PLAYERS DEPART FOR SCENE OF ACTION.

High Schools and Colleges Going Strong—Pairing of Players Will Be Interesting Feature of Tournament. Warland and Sinsabaugh Will Clash in Open Doubles.

The various schools and colleges that will have representatives at the Ojai tennis tournament, which opens today at Nordhoff, have made their selections, and those from Los Angeles, accompanied by a large number of players from the Southern California Tennis Club, yesterday departed for the scene of action. Among those taking the 2:30 train were Misses Florence and May Sutton, Mrs. Doeg (née Violet Sutton;) Miss Dobbins, Gorham, Hammond, Braly, Sinsabaugh, Bell, Keeney, Warland, Thatcher.

Besides the above Henry Cawston will represent Harvard School, Gerald Young, Monrovia; Moraine Mackay, Pomona; Ferguson and Gandee, Hollywood High School; Gorham and Hammond represent Los Angeles High School, while Keeney is runner up for the same school.

In the mixed doubles Miss Florence Sutton and Thatcher will doubtless compete, Gorham will play with Mrs. Doeg and Sinsabaugh and Warland will doubtless be in the open doubles.

Grant Smith, winner of the Coronado tournament, and Percy Murdock, two of the crack northern players, will also be at the tournament.

Christopher Team to Tour.

P. J. Marcovich, the recently elected manager of the Christopher baseball team, is working hard with his colts, preparing them for an extended trip through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, and the team is rounding out in great shape. The team will be gone three months, during which time games will be arranged with the crack organizations of these States. Therman and Fox, the latter the crack Salt Lake twirler, will be the slabsters for the Christophers, and Crage will take the hot ones behind the home plate. The team is strong, and now ready to do business.

Tuesday evening the entire Christopher team was entertained at a banquet, which developed into a general jollification meeting. Bob Simmons was elected captain of the team.

Game Called Off.

The game of basketball that was arranged between Los Angeles Polytechnic High School and Long Beach for last night, was cancelled yesterday afternoon, and will not be played this week.

"POLYS" MAY WIN HONORS.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE AFTER BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Will Play Three More Games Before Reaching Finals and Will Then Go Against Champion Clubs from Other Southern Counties—Final Game First Week in May.

Within four weeks the amateur baseball season will practically be at an end and as the end approaches, the admirers of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School team are confident that this city will win the championship honor. At least they believe that this city has a swell chance to finish in front, inasmuch as the Polytechnic team has not lost one of the five games played so far this season, and this showing makes the local boys look good beside the other teams that will contest for first place.

The "Polys" clinched their right to represent Los Angeles county in the finals by defeating the Los Angeles High School team on Tuesday by a score of 8 to 7 in a very exciting game. In finishing the schedule they will play Alhambra on Saturday, the Harvard team on April 14 and Throop April 21. Then the winning High School teams of Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties will play match games April 28, and the two winning teams that day will meet May 5 to play for the High School championship of Southern California.

Compton won the championship last year, but is out of the running this year, owing to its defeat by the "Polys," who have also beaten Pasadena, Long Beach, Los Angeles and Whittier.

The "Polys" will play a practice game with a St. Vincent nine this afternoon on the St. Vincent grounds, beginning at 3 o'clock. The line-up will be Colbath, catcher; Elliott and Lafferty, pitchers; Strauss, first base; Heisman, second base; Lane, third base; Salyer, shortstop; Salisbury, left field; Frampton, center field; Watson, right field. This is the same line they had against Los Angeles High School on Tuesday.

Last Practice Game.

The Los Angeles league team will play its last practice game of the season this afternoon at Chutes Park against the St. Vincent team, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. In this game the fans will have a chance to see McClellan in action at third base, and it seems from present indications that he will be used there until Moriey can get some good man, if he does not succeed in making a deal with Portland for Jud Smith. Jud would like to be back among the Looloos once again and may be before May 1. He could play there very well and will not play with Portland.

HORSE SHOW ENTRIES CLOSE.

LIST EXCEEDS BY FAR THAT OF PASADENA.

Indications Are That the Exhibit Will Be a Hummer—Secretary Off for North to Ship in Horses—Date for Closing Entries in Pony Class Extended.

Entries for the Los Angeles horse show closed yesterday and the list bespeaks volumes for the success of the undertaking. In all there are 200 entries, and these include a far greater variety of events than has yet been scheduled for Southern California.

Pasadena had about one hundred and eighty entries for its second annual show, and the success of that venture is well known, so when one comes to consider the larger number of exhibitors, and the manner in which Secretary Ashbrook and his associates have divided these entries into many classes, including a half dozen specials, permitting of a more varied and complete classification, the magnitude of the coming show can be gleaned.

Secretary Ashbrook has thrown into the Los Angeles horse show his experience of many years in large eastern cities, where he laid the foundation for the brilliant events now transpiring, and in this first show he will reckon with the future in making it notable in many ways, and a forerunner of what may be expected after one or more years have elapsed and this city takes its place in the ranks of horse show centers.

By charging only one fee to each entrant, and a fee of $2 for a groom or stable boy, those participating feel more at liberty to enter any and all events wherein there is a faint chance of winning a ribbon, thus adding materially to many events that would have possibly one or two horses entered in the class.

The pony events for children, which will be absolutely free, promises to be a strong feature of the show. There are many of the little fellows in the city, and when these are brought in, each under the rein of its owner, it will cause a ripple. The date for closing entries for this class has been extended to next Monday, and any boy or girl between the ages of 6 and 16 can enter his or her pony free. They can enter by calling Secretary Ashbrook's office, No. 311 Laughlin building, before Monday evening.

John L. Cravens, who captured the lion's share of the prizes at the Pasadena show, will not be represented at the Los Angeles show, and although these handsome horses and equippages will be missed, Secretary Ashbrook has succeeded in interesting a large number of owners of spick and span outfits, and there will be the spice of variety displayed everywhere.

Secretary Ashbrook is now north, arranging for the shipment of the entries from that section.

The plans for the transformation of Fiesta Park into a horse-show grounds are now awaiting the builders, and in due time the huge canvas that is to cover the tanbark ring and shelter the glossy-coated animals will be raised, and the grandstand will be decorated in the colors of the association. The boxes will be so constructed that horses can be brought close up to the audience for inspection.

Society will have the advantage of a night show, and a dazzling display of jewels will doubtless add brilliancy to the event. The ring and grandstand will be lighted by myriads of electric lights, making it as light as day.

The show will be held three nights and Saturday afternoon, beginning the 18th inst. Saturday afternoon will be devoted mostly to the pony show.

"POLYS" HAVE HOPES.

Will Enter Strong Team in Saturday's Field Meet and Expect Good Share of Prizes.

With the "track meet season" drawing to a close, the Polytechnic High School intends to make the best showing possible in the big field day at U. S.C. on Saturday, and will enter seven of its strongest men. These will be A. Coover in the 100-yard and the broad jump; W. Streaton in the 220 and 440-yard runs and the relay race; George McDonald in the 440 and 880-yard runs and the relay; Carl Wirsching in the pole vault and the 1000-yard relay; Roy Palmer and H. McCreedie in the pole vault, and E. Selph in the high jump and relay.

PLANNING AUTO RACES.

Oldfield Will Find Plenty to Do When He Comes to the Pacific Coast in May.

Barney Oldfield will race in several cities of the Coast when he reaches California in May, and already races are being arranged in San Francisco and other northern points.

Biddy Bishop, who is now interested in automobile racing, writes that he will be prepared to put "Cupid" Smith against Oldfield and any other racer who cares to enter against the youngster. Smith expects to secure a good racing machine in the near future, and will immediately go to San Francisco for a series of races being arranged there.

WILL MEET LUNDIE.

Mauro Herrera Wants to Hook Up With Nelson's Sparring Partner as Preliminary.

If Bob Lundie comes to Los Angeles to train Nelson for his coming battle an effort will be made to secure a match between him and Mauro Herrera as a preliminary one of the three battles scheduled for May. Mauro is out with a defy to Lundie, and is willing to sign with him at once.

O'BRIEN TO MEET BERGER.

IN SAN FRANCISCO IN MAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUFFALO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack O'Brien, who toppled over Bob Fitzsimmons and who wants to swap wallops with James J. Jeffries, is not going to remain idle very long.

This afternoon O'Brien wired the management of the Yosemite Athletic Club in San Francisco, accepting an offer of $8000 to meet Sam Berger during the latter part of May. O'Brien says that Berger is regarded as a coming champion by the fistic adherents on the Coast, and he believes a match with the Californian will draw a big house. They will fight at catch weights.

O'Brien will start for San Francisco within three weeks and hopes to fight Tommy Ryan there July 4. The date and a big purse have been offered.

Rhodes Backs Down.

CHICAGO, April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dick Fitzpatrick, a local welterweight, has agreed to take Willy Rhoades's place against Joe Thomas in a fight at Colma April 20, and will leave for the Coast at once. Rhoades was originally matched with Thomas for the same date, but after his manager, Hart, received railroad transportation he refused to go, because the club had forwarded no articles. His demand for $750, win or lose or draw, was not accepted, and negotiations were opened with Fitzpatrick.

Newmyer Is Released.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) April 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pitcher Newmyer was notified of his release this morning by Manager Clark of the Pittsburgh team. Newmyer's arm has not been in shape since he came here and the Pirates have too many twirlers. Newmyer may go to Oakland, Cal.

Fencing at Whittier.

Fencing will soon be introduced in the Whittier Athletic Association, and Prof. Alberti of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, will assist the association in getting started with the foils, giving lessons once a week, later installing a competent instructor at the Whittier High School.

Evidently, the Misner-Yerkes persons are bound to butt in, even if they have to have themselves robbed to do so.

The situation in the coal fields is regarded by the miners as merely a "suspension." The consumers regard it as a hold-up.

In deciding not to allow the politicians to operate the street railways, Chicago may be said to have enjoyed a lucid interval.

The Associated Press states that "China's attitude is due to Japan's support." Does the Associated Press consider an item of that kind to be news?

An effort is to be made in Los Angeles to revise the liquor laws. What is more necessary, however, is that some steps be taken to revise the liquor.

Members of the United States Senate are putting questions to one another. They enjoy that sort of thing more than having questions put to them by the country.

From a cursory glance at the situation it seems quite possible that the internal turmoil in France may have more or less to do with the outward peace of Venezuela.

A dispatch states that "Joliet is in danger." We are not surprised to hear it considering the fact that much of the whisky used in the United States is made in Joliet.

Automobiles are to be cheaper this year. Yet the news is not sufficiently encouraging to have any noticeable effect on the spirits of the man who is working at a salary of $13 a week.

The question often arises whether if a good man drank bad liquor, and a bad man drank good liquor, the Police Court justice would make any difference in the fines the next morning.

The robber who broke open Mr. Misner's trunk got a great deal of valuable jewelry in an easy way. But, as far as that's concerned, Mr. Misner got the jewelry in an easy way himself.

There is now some danger of hostilities breaking out between Russia and China. If the Chinese were to turn in and whip Russia, it would surely prove to be the proverbial "last straw."

The shout of "Long live the King" has been raised again in France. But the "boiler" is not sufficiently strong to warrant the Bourbons and the Bonapartes in fighting duels to determine which of them shall have the job.

In corroboration of Mr. Carnegie, another rich man now comes to the fore to say that "millionaires are slaves." But the same old crowd on the outside still stands ready to put the shackles on any time the opportunity presents itself.

It seems that the victors in the Russian elections are Constitutional Democrats. They must be different from the Democrats in this country, who stubbornly refuse to recognize the Constitution, let alone attaching the name of it to the party.

The Indian Settlement Bill is up for discussion in Congress. If the bill contemplates a settlement with the Indians, the sooner it is either dropped or defeated the better. There isn't money enough in the country to make that kind of a settlement.

The returns from the Russian election are not yet complete. Our esteemed contemporary, the Gorodstvo, however, admits that the Democrats have gained a victory. This being the case, the pill will be a bitter one for our other esteemed contemporary, the Osvobojdemie, to swallow. We have great pleasure in awaiting the later comments of the able publications on the result.

NO VICTORY FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP FADDISTS.

The result of the municipal election in Chicago on Tuesday presents some peculiar features, putting the municipal ownership boomers in a hole. At this distance, one can not understand the reasons for submitting the public ownership of the street railways under three separate propositions.

The first was, "Shall the city issue railway certificates amounting to $75,000,000 for the purchase, ownership and maintenance of street railroads?" [Carried.]

Second, "Shall the city operate the street railways?" [Lost.]

Third, "Shall the city proceed to secure municipal ownership of the street railways?" [Lost.]

The three propositions, all summed up, embrace but one object. Why issue bonds for the purchase of the railroads unless the city is going to buy them? Why buy the railways unless the city is going to operate them? Why issue bonds for the purchase of them, and why seek power to operate them unless the city intends to "proceed without delay" to secure the municipal ownership and operation of the street railways?

It was well, however, to insist on a three-fifths vote for the adoption of such a radical departure, giving property some assurance against ignorance, recklessness and irresponsibility; and it may be that the application of this three-fifths provision to the particular question of municipal "operation" was a clever device on the part of the conservatives opposed to municipal "ownership," in framing the appeal to the people.

Whatever the purpose of splitting this one programme into three branches may have been, the result is a very complicated situation. On the question of the city operating the street railways, the vote fell far short of sufficient to carry the proposition. The proposition to issue bonds for the purchase of the street railways carried. On the question of proceeding to secure municipal ownership, the 2/3 vote carried. The question arises, why shall the city issue so large an amount of bonds, and raise this sum of money, and proceed to buy the railroads, unless the city is going to operate them? Should the will of the majority of the Chicago people, on the two points which received a majority vote, be carried out, who then shall operate the roads if the city which shall own them is not to operate them?

Perhaps the complicated and muddled result is partly due to the inability of Chicago's new and somewhat ignorant population to grasp clearly just what they were voting for. The voting of $75,000,000 out of the pocket of the taxpayers appealed directly to the socialistic, not to say anarchistic tendencies of this mass of newly imported, somewhat ignorant, and very largely law-defying population from Southern Europe. Some of them may have voted against the city operating the roads which their own vote made it possible for the city to buy and vice versa—which was probably due to their inability to reason out just what they were voting for.

The most important point in this connection is the effect which this confusion will have upon the sale of the bonds voted. It would seem improbable that financiers would undertake the purchase of so large an amount of bonds to be spent on such a confused, complicated, ill-defined, and doubtful proposition. If the city is not to operate these railroads, how are they to be operated? If the city cannot provide for the operating of them, what will become of the property, and what security will there be for the payment of the bonds? It is doubtful if Chicago could sell a bond issue with such a shadow on it for 50 cents on a dollar. It is difficult to see a triumph for municipal ownership in this situation. Mayor Dunne stands small chance of ever buying the trolley lines or operating them. That $75,000,000 will not soon be forthcoming from investors, and what can he do without it?

A CHANGE OF HEART.

"Shall there be children's laughter in their halls forever and forever?"
Those people who have flats to rent, and refuse to rent them to families having children—shall they not, themselves, be "shut out from Love, and on his threshold lie, howling in outer darkness?" In some manner these questions seem to have been brought home to those flint-hearted landlords in Chicago who have refused, for a long time past, to rent their flats and houses to families blessed with children. At least, the soulless ones are reputed to have suffered a radical change of heart, and to be tearing down their signs reading "No Children," replacing them with notices of the anti-race-suicide club. "Rental agents who handle a total of nearly twelve thousand buildings," says a dispatch from the Windy City, "were of almost unanimous opinion today that the end of child ostracism from flat buildings is in sight in Chicago."

It is to be hoped so. For the sake of humanity and of common decency, it is much to be desired that this unreasonable prejudice against children may be eradicated in Chicago, and in every other city beneath the sun where it exists. It cannot be denied, perhaps, that a man owning an apartment house, or any kind of building, has a legal right to refuse to rent it to families having children, if he so elects. But how inconceivably solemn, dreary, unhomelike and in every way undesirable is a flat, an apartment house, or any other house designed for human habitation, without the laughter, the romping, the shrill, sweet voices, (filled with the very essence of vitality,) and the free, unrestrained happiness of children.

Look out for the man, or the woman (for there are a few such, more's the pity,) who does not love children. The breast of such a person, though it may be fair in outward seeming, has a woeful lack of the milk of human kindness. Or, perhaps, the milk of human kindness has become soured and septic in his or her bosom. In either case, it is well enough to avoid the society of people of this kind. It is not likely to prove a benefit to anybody.

We are uninformed as to the exact influence which has brought about this radical change of heart in Chicago landlords. It must have been a potent influence, for the prejudice which it had to overcome was deep-rooted. Perhaps it was the all-pervading influence of dollars—dollars. As likely as not the apartment houses where children were not admitted were so dismal, so dreary, so monotonous, that it became impossible to keep them tenanted. If so, well and good. It was a realisation of poetic justice. It was a retribution richly deserved by the pinch-fisted landlords who would fain stifle the silvery voice of childhood, or mar a pallid the tinted face of girlhood.

At all events, it seems that the children are at last to come to their own in the apartment houses of Chicago. Heaven will surely smile upon them in their new era of freedom, and will add happiness even to the abundance of their overflowing joys.

"They are exiles from home and from heaven;
They are angels of God in disguise.
His sunlight still sleeps in their tresses,
His glory still beams in their eyes."

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

It is hard to keep pace with the progress of the world in any line of industrial or intellectual activity. Since civilization was in its cradle there has never been an age to match the present in this evolution with its thousands of ramifications.

Let us glance at four products taken from beneath the surface of the earth. Looking at a period of fifty years, and confining our views to our own country, the development in iron mining and manufacture has been prodigious. Going back to the middle of the last century, the consumption of iron in the United States amounted to only two pounds per capita of the population. At the present time, the consumption amounts to something over 20,000,000 long tons of pig iron, or about 540 pounds per capita. A half century ago the uses to which iron were put were very few. At the present time the products of iron are numbered by the thousands. Out of iron wire, at the present time, the industrial journals show that over 20,000 articles for human use are manufactured. This development in the consumption of iron has been greatest in the last fifteen or twenty years, and, at the rate of progress being made now, in ten years more the figures for the present year will look small. Compare our use of iron, 540 pounds per capita, with that of Germany, 380 pounds; of the United Kingdom, 470 pounds; of Russia, 39 pounds; of Italy, only 2 pounds; of Canada, 109 pounds; and of Spain, 41 pounds. For Japan, for a nation which has sprung so suddenly into progress, the record is good, 13 pounds per capita.

Another interesting development in mineral production is that of coal. A quarter of a century ago the United States was producing 76,157,945 tons of coal, and last year the production had risen to 351,196,953 tons. For a great many years the cry has been, in the industrial world, that the coal supply would be exhausted in a period so comparatively short as to cause a certain amount of misgiving and anxiety as to what would take the place of this power-producer if it became exhausted. But the latest scientific information upon this subject shows that Germany has a supply of coal estimated at 280,000,000,000 tons, a supply sufficient, at the present rate of consumption, to last a thousand years. Great Britain has an estimated supply of 193,000,000,000 tons which would last only about one-third as long as the supply of Germany, the consumption in the British Isles being so much larger than in the Teutonic Empire. Germany's neighbors have supplies as follows:

Belgium, 23,000,000,000 tons; France, 15,000,000,000 tons; Austria, 17,000,000,000, and Russia, 40,000,000,000. North America, it is claimed, has a supply of 681,000,000,000 tons; and a single province of China, Shansi, is said to have 1,200,000,000,000 tons of coal. Of course, there is a good deal of guess work about these figures, especially when they apply to China, accurate information about that country being very hard, if not impossible, to obtain.

If the coal supply were to give out, it is easy now for us to see a substitute in electricity. The streams flowing from so many points on the surface of all countries of the globe toward the sea would furnish power enough, cheaper to produce, cheaper to handle, and in many other ways superior to steam, to take the place of coal as a power-producer. As the production of coal becomes dearer, because of the necessity of going to low levels in the mines for supplies, the use of electricity will increase rapidly.

A mineral, whose use is an exceedingly interesting study at the present day, is copper. The United States is the great storehouse of the world for copper ore, so far as is known at the present time. We are exporting at the present time, from 15,000 to 20,000 tons of copper per month. The exports of this metal from the country last year ran considerably over 300,000 long tons, and in 1904 the exports of the metal fell a little short of 250,000 long tons. Last year the month of April touched high water mark in this export business. The figures were 24,121 tons. The figures for May and June were but little less than those for April. The whole world is taking our copper at the present time, thousands of tons going to China. The great demand for copper has come with the development of electricity as a factor in modern life. It is used for power in so many ways, and for lighting so many cities that the demand for copper wire to carry the fluid from the point of production to the point of application has been prodigious. Apace with the extension of telegraph wire has grown up the network of telephone wires. A few years ago copper was a drug upon the market at a few cents a pound. At the present time, the price runs close to 20 cents a pound, and there are experts in the copper market who are willing to wager that before the end of the present year the price will go to 25 cents per pound.

We come now to the most valuable mineral, gold. The London Statist says that in the year 1904 the world production of this precious metal amounted to £70,000,000. This is equal to about $350,000,000. The figures for 1905 are not yet available but there was not less than an increase of £5,000,000, or $20,000,000 over the previous year. For the current year, the production will probably reach, if not pass, £80,000,000. It is estimated by the experts that in a very few years the production of this most precious metal will run to $500,000,000.

Gold is to all the industries of the world what coal has been to motive power. It is the great stimulus to all expansion. The more of the precious metal is poured into the channels of commerce, trade, and industry, the faster the pulses will beat in all of them. As gold has become the standard by which values are measured in all great civilized nations of the world, excepting China, the only important nation on earth now not on a gold standard, and as this metal is the medium of exchange in all business transactions among men, the more plentiful it is, the wider, deeper, and swifter will be all the currents of commerce, trade, and industry everywhere throughout the civilized world. This being the only measure of value between other commodities, and the only medium of exchange, the more abundant it becomes, and the less the expense measured in human labor and time for its production, the higher will rise the prices of all other production of human labor, speaking in broad and general terms. Of course with this element of value must be taken into consideration the comparative supply and demand for each of the commodities whose value is measured by gold and for whose exchange from one ownership to another gold is used as the liquidating medium. Gold is like every other product of human labor, and like every other commodity that is used in barter and exchange between man and man. Its relative value depends upon the supply and demand.

The influence of this increased supply of gold, which has steadily overrun the demand for the use of the metal, is perhaps best seen in the increase in values of real estate. This enhancement is perhaps the most marked in the United States, and more in the great West of our country than in the East. If nothing happens to check this increased production of gold, there is every reason to expect that the value of real estate will increase more and more.

A WHIMSICAL THEORY.

Charles S. Fairchild, former Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, put forth a novel idea in an informal address before the College Commerce Club of Berkeley on Monday. He declared, in effect, that the concentration of power in the hands of a limited number of financiers is due primarily, and almost wholly, to the uses of electricity and steam, and that the only practical method which he could suggest to stop this concentration of power would be to abandon the use of steam and electricity.

Mr. Fairchild was a member of Cleveland's first Cabinet, and is a banker in New York at the present time. His opinions are therefore entitled to some consideration, as those of a man of affairs. There is undoubted truth in his assertion that "the so-called concentration of power in the industrial and financial world today is due almost entirely to the improvements in transportation methods," and that "the foundation of those methods is the use of electricity and steam." Take electricity and steam out of the activities of modern life, and our civilization, with all its good and its evil characteristics, would virtually be brought to a standstill. It is true that these great and potent agencies have been largely instrumental in aiding and building up modern methods of concentration, but they have not by any means been the sole factors in this work. We should doubtless have had trusts and combines of various kinds at this period of the world's history if the steam engine and the dynamo, the telegraph and the telephone, had never been invented. The processes of concentration would necessarily have been somewhat slower, but that is no reason for supposing that they would not have been just as sure.

The rage for concentration, or combination, is an outward manifestation of the inward spirit of the age. Steam and electricity have stimulated this spirit into unwonted activity. The normal progress of years has been represented by days, but the modes and qualities of development have been essentially the same as they would have been without the stimulus.

Of course, any suggestion that we should quit the use of steam and electricity is absurd, impracticable and impossible. Whether for good or for evil, these powerful forces of civilization have "come to stay," as the saying goes. And if we weigh them in the balance, we shall speedily discover that the good which they have wrought overbalances the evil to an extent beyond all computation. These agencies contain within themselves "the power and potency" of illimitable beneficence. If we put them to bad uses, if we fail to extract from them the largest possible benefits, it will be our own fault. We may not be able to see clearly now where and how the human race is to receive all these benefits. Those which we have already received are beyond enumeration. "And we are ancients of the earth, and in the morning of the times."

The evils of concentrated power will pass away with the phase of world-development of which they are a product. Who can doubt that "through the ages one increasing purpose runs?" Who dare question that this increasing purpose is the advancement and the betterment of the human race? To deny these things is blasphemy, to doubt them is to challenge the wisdom of the Infinite.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

Meteorologists are interested in securing observations at high altitudes by means of kites, and lately at the aeronautical observatory at Lindenburg, Prussia, a record flight was made, a kite being sent up to an altitude of 21,100 feet. This was accomplished by sending up six kites attached to each other by the use of a length of wire line approximating 6,000 feet in length. The instruments carried by the kite recorded a minimum temperature of 13 degs. Fahrenheit, as compared with 41 degs. Fahrenheit at the earth's surface. At the maximum altitude the wind blew at a rate of fifty-six miles an hour, compared with eighteen miles an hour at the surface. The maximum altitude exceeds by nearly 1100 feet the previous record made in the British Isles by flying a kite from a Danish gunboat.

What is probably the highest city in the world has recently been completed on the Victoria Nyanza, Uganda, at an altitude of 5000 feet above sea level. The dock has been constructed to accommodate the Uganda fleet plying on the lake in connection with the Uganda railway, which the terminus is at Kisumu, Port Florence, as it is now officially called. It measures 250 feet long by 45 feet wide and 14 feet deep, is excavated out of the solid rock by native labor, and occupied nine months in construction.

An ingenious inventor has produced a mesmeric machine which he claims to be of considerable service to those who are unable to sleep. The instrument is composed of irregularly shaped and curiously shaped "paddles" attached to a slowly revolving wheel. It is sufficient to look at this machine when the instrument is in motion quickly to be "mesmerized," a term which in this instance means supposed to be made drowsy and sent to sleep.—[Cullings.

Visitor: How deep do you think this pool is?

Native: Can't say exactly how deep he be; but I do mind putting a pole vivteen foot long, and he be just your voot deeper. I can't tell that fur sure.—[Punch.

BOY FALLS TO FIERY DEATH.

Plunges With Rubbish Into Garbage Furnace.

Charred Body Is Raked Out from Hot Ashes.

Shocking End to Wagon Ride With His Uncle.

Frank Silvas, a Mexican lad aged [illegible] years, who lived with his uncle, Marcus Cota, at No. 1735 East Twenty-fifth street, was burned alive yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the city garbage incinerator on McPherson street.

Shocking as was the death of young Silvas, there is reason to believe he was instantly killed, as the men working on the floor near the hoppers did not hear a scream, and the body was not discovered until the boy had been some time in the seething furnace.

Strangely enough, no one saw Silvas fall, and none of the day crew at the incinerator knows just how the accident happened.

The boy tumbled into the hopper through the door, and it is thought the intense heat rendered him senseless even before the flames touched him.

While helping his uncle, Cota, a driver employed by ex-Mayor Snyder, the boy is supposed to have plunged into the fiery furnace.

Cota's wagon had driven just beyond the first hopper, and the driver was about to dump his load of garbage, when he was last seen picking pieces of timber from the load. The garbage dumped, Cota looked around for his helper, and failing to find him, at once gave the alarm.

[illegible] H. Hornbuckle, a negro, and Joe [illegible], were working on the floor at the time of the accident, raking the refuse into the fires below. The driver told Hornbuckle what had happened, but his story was not believed.

It was thought the lad must have tumbled outside for a moment. Consternation of trouble, Cota went below to find Allen, the engineer.

"If he's in there, he's dead by this time," said Allen.

Nevertheless, Cota rushed once more to the second floor and persuaded the negro to rake aside the last load of garbage dumped upon the seething mass.

The ghastly discovery was made, but efforts to reach the body by means of an iron hook from above were unavailing and the horribly-burned lad settled slowly to the bars of the grate and was drawn through the furnace door below.

Engineer Allen says he has been troubled lately by a crowd of boys who insist on entering the dumping ground in order to rake over the garbage in the hope of finding something of value. He is not surprised that the fatal accident happened. He says he has warned the boys to keep away from the death trap, but the parents of the dead boy reside in San Diego. The lad was staying with his uncle for a few months, and was attending school. A sister, Estelle Silvas, left here a few days ago for her home in the Bay City.

The tearfully-burned body was taken by the Coroner and was then given to the Pierce Bros. undertaking parlors, where an inquest will be held this afternoon.

For courtesies extended and assistance rendered in the work, a vote of thanks was tendered to the Salt Lake Railway, the Los Angeles Railway Company, the Pacific Electric Railway Company, the Los Angeles-Pacific Company, the Board of Trade of Pasadena, the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and Hotel Redmond. The committee also came in for commendation on its excellent work.

SAN PEDRO'S NEEDS.

Efforts to secure the establishment of a marine hospital and a quarantine station at San Pedro have been made lately, and the Harbor Committee has taken the matter in hand. Statistics furnished by Lieut. Miner show that there are 1079 miles of coast without a marine hospital of any importance save that of San Francisco. Private enterprise offer the only accommodations for sailors, and they have to treat an average of twelve patients. The entire coast has nine large establishments of public character to do the work.

The committee suggested that the present reservation be made the site of a marine hospital, and that a quarantine station be established in a cove secured behind the breakwater. Resolutions covering the suggestions were adopted and ordered sent to the Secretary of the Treasury, and the attention of our representatives in Congress will be called to the matter.

MORE CONVENTIONS.

The Knights of Columbus are coming to California for their convention, and the question was decided at the meeting to be held in New Haven on May 26. On the motion of T. A. Graham, assistant general agent of the Southern Pacific, the president was instructed to extend an invitation to them to come to Los Angeles.

The National Educational Association will meet in San Francisco in July, and the president was requested to appoint a committee to arrange for entertainment for the meeting and some inducement to have the meeting visit this city.

MEN

We Are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Varicocele

The permanent cure of VARICOCELE can only be obtained by operation. In this statement we stake our professional reputation, as proof of this fact, let us quote from the most eminent authorities.

"Regardless of causes, we have to deal with the fact that the walls of the veins give way, relaxing and bulging out into little pouches and thus producing, when full of blood, knotty appearances. Any local application cannot but fail to give the sufferer relief. Such as electricity and all electrical appliances, which causes more blood to be drawn to the parts and causes greater dilation and enlargement of the veins. We would advise any and all sufferers from Varicocele to shun the use of electricity and be sure that such methods are never practiced on them by any one. There never was a case of Varicocele cured, or even benefited, by the use of electrical appliances or electricity in any form.

"We can trace dozens of cases of Varicocele brought on by the use of electricity for nervous troubles. The electricity caused a cringing or contraction of the veins while being applied, but when the force has been removed the dilation of the veins is worse than before, owing to the amount of blood drawn to the parts by the electric current, which tends to weaken the walls of the veins, and anything that tends to weaken the walls of the vessels dilates them, and produces these knotty veins to burst by strain. Hence it is needless and dangerous it is to apply electricity for the cure of Varicocele. No fact is better known than that electricity is the direct cause of the destruction of sexual force and power, owing to the reaction which follows the stimulation of the parts involved. There is always reaction after stimulation.

"Prof. Vonderhoff, of the German Academy of Medicine, shows that nine cases out of ten under treatment for Varicocele were made worse by the use of electricity.

We wish to impress upon you the absolute truth of our method of curing Varicocele. Numbers of cases in this city have been permanently cured by us. We are at liberty to refer to them. You can talk personally with them and ascertain the facts. Remember what we say—NOTHING BUT AN OPERATION WILL CURE VARICOCELE. We perform the operation and guarantee you an absolute cure. LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Receipts of all kinds of produce were light yesterday on account of the washouts and landslides, and dealers were kept busy filling orders. There was a firmness noted in most of the staple goods, and the tone of the market was rather toward firmer prices than otherwise.

Butter was in sharp demand, and with light receipts of fresh valley goods, the supply was soon exhausted, and dealers had to draw on storage to fill their orders for the day. Cheese, especially local stock, was in good demand. There is nothing new to report, save that the market is in good condition. Prices for ranch eggs were again advanced yesterday, dealers reporting continued light receipts from the producing districts on account of the washouts. A steady consuming demand was noted in all quarters, and fresh local ranch offerings were quoted 2½ cents at points; southern casement likewise moved up a point and sold at 19 cents. Under call on exchange 75 cases of eastern graded storage eggs were sold, the first that have been offered on the floor for some time past. Twenty cases of local ranch eggs were also sold during the morning session.

There was a spirited trade in apples yesterday, and existing conditions strongly favored selling interests. Medium-sized navels continue to rule in favor in the citrus-fruit line. Strawberries were in moderate supply; Mexican notas and Gardenas selling at 10@15; Tropicos, 12@18.

Peas were firmer yesterday at 4@6; asparagus, 8@9½; rhubarb, 2½@3; cabbage was scarce and firmer at 1.00@1.25; lettuce was firm at 2½@3.00.

Barracuda and halibut were equal to trade requirements.

Poultry continued in light receipt and firm at prevailing quotations.

The receipts of produce as reported at yesterday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 780 cases; butter, 2400 pounds; cheese, local, 2000 pounds; potatoes, none; onions, none; beans, none; sweet potatoes, none.

BANKS AND MONEY.

The First National Bank has declared a quarterly dividend at the rate of 12 per cent. on the par value of the stock. Every share of stock draws a dividend of $3 for the fortunate possessor. The German American Savings Bank has declared a dividend at the same rate. These are said to be the highest dividends paid on any bank stock in the city. The stock of the First National Bank was put upon the market a few months ago after the big consolidation had been effected, at $200 a share. It is now quoted in the open market at 436 bid, 450 asked. The German American stock has gone up rapidly, since its consolidation with the Union Bank of Savings, in about the same ratio, being now quoted at 343 bid, 350 asked.

In the New York market yesterday the money stringency was further emphasized, call money going as high as 19 per cent. This is almost as bad as in the worst days of stringency during the fall months. It seems to effect only the speculative stock market, and that it effects very seriously.

We Are on the Ground in Manhattan and Goldfield

Pioneers in the greatest gold-producing section of the United States. Our business has been the promotion of mining companies of merit. In this we have been eminently successful. We have made fortunes for a large clientele of patrons scattered through many States and Territories. In our long list of mining ventures we have not recorded a single failure. Stock in companies we have promoted have doubled, tripled and quadrupled in value. Last week

CHAS. M. SCHWAB PURCHASED THE BULLFROG AMETHYST.

We sold this stock to the public at 15 cents a share less than four months ago. It is now selling at

$1.25 PER SHARE

This is but one of many companies promoted by us that have made phenomenal records on the stock boards and rewarded the first purchasers with handsome returns.

THE SECRET OF OUR SUCCESS

has, from the day we made the first offering of treasury stock to the public, to the present time, been an intimate acquaintance with the mines of the district, and care and conservatism exercised in the selection of properties. Mr. L. L. Patrick was one of the first locators in Goldfield, and promoted the great Combination mine, which is paying $400,000 annually in dividends. Sol Camp, consulting engineer for great January mine and other leading companies, is at the head of our corps of engineers.

$200,000.00 Sale of Finest Imported Oriental Rugs

This was the amount appraised at the New York Customs House on a big lot of rugs imported in bond and on which a prominent banking house advanced money to the importer. Later the importer, not being able to meet his obligations, the rugs were sold by the banker to recover the amount due him, and the entire lot at auction brought $65,000—or an actual loss of two-thirds the appraised value. Our New York buyer attended the sale and purchased a goodly number of the very best of these rugs, and we now place them on sale in Los Angeles at a much less price than the importer's cost or than similar rugs can be purchased elsewhere at the so-called auction sales or of any exclusive carpet house. If you have an eye for beauty or a desire for royal richness in your home furnishings, you will admit that these handsome Oriental rugs are very cheap.
